

CHATS WITH YOUNG MEN

THE TWO PICTURES

Come paint me a picture, painter, It's one that is good and true...

And then paint another, painter, And paint it just as I am...

—R. E. W.

MAY THE NUMBER INCREASE!

A Catholic school boy is now Governor of New York, and he is one of the best beloved citizens of the State.

WORDS OF ENCOURAGEMENT If we like a thing why don't we say so? We often have the impulse...

"A GOOD FRONT"

A famous self-made man once declared that if he were out of a job and had only $20, he'd spend the $20 for a new suit of clothes because he knew how important it was to make a favorable first impression.

Both bits of advice are valuable and both are necessary. But the old sage who advised that the inner man be built up first was the wiser of the two.

And, to those who see, it makes a man look hungrier and more pitiful than he who wears a shiny coat and dines on a crust of bread.—Catholic Columbian.

GOOD CHEER vs. WORRY

Have you ever seen a more pleasing picture than a cheerful countenance? Like a calm, confident being, a cheerful person radiates light wherever he is found.

"A merry heart goes all the day, A sad heart tires in a mile."

Those who worry are constantly under a strain. Worry leaves its marks on the face of the victim, and is ever seeking to dispel any trace of happiness to be found.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

THE POWER OF A SMILE

There's a wondrous lot of power In an honest, wholesome smile; It often starts a blessing...

When you see a face that's saddened By the cruelty of strife, Into which have come the wrinkles...

—B. W. BULLOUGH

VALUE OF POLITENESS

A president of the Chemical bank, New York City, was once asked, "What conduced to your success from the start?"

It is easy for boys to think that it makes little difference whether they are polite or not. But in his opinion, as the experience and testimony of this bank president shows, they are mistaken.

READING ALOUD

Among the cherished memories of a certain charming old lady is that of a teacher of her childhood, whose theory of life was reduced to a simple principle: "Learn to read well, young ladies—to enunciate distinctly, to modulate the voice pleasingly, to interpret the words of the author with sympathy and understanding; learn to read well, and all other virtues will follow."

Many a grey-haired man or woman who never heard of "round tables," and never discovered that authors had early or late styles, yet knows his Scott or Thackeray or Shakespeare as few young people of today ever knew them.

LITTLE THINGS At times we say we are inclined to be dissatisfied to be set at such little things. Well, suppose we are! If only God sets us at these little things then, because he does it, the little things are great.

CAPITAL AND LABOR

The world's eminent statesmen are seriously considering the pressing problems of peace. International disputes, which long held the foreground are gradually being crowded back by the urgency of the social and economic questions that affect our existence.

Conservatives in organized labor and in the ranks of employers are thoroughly dissatisfied with the present industrial situation and are willing to try any reasonable scheme that will eliminate strife.

The artificial barrier that the employer has raised between himself and his workers must come down. It has bred ignorance in the Catholic and discontent in the worker. Co-operation is the watchword of the hour.

Is in O'Hart's Irish Pedigrees

The insistence of the bishops' programme upon labor's participation in industrial management is called by many non-Catholic writers a revolutionary doctrine. It is nothing of the sort.

The recommendation of the Bishops are meeting with approval in most unexpected quarters. A writer in the Nation says: "The bishops have taken a courageous step, possibly one that some day will be designated as the most serviceable that Catholicism has ventured in America."

THE CARE OF THE HORSE

WALTER MOORE, a well known writer, says: "It is a common thing for farmers to work their horses in the hayfield from morning to night, watering them only at noon."

THE COLLAR

The collar should be just large enough to permit a man's hand to pass inside the collar between the lower end of the collar and the neck or breast of the horse. If the collar is too loose it will cause friction, if too tight it will choke the horse, and cause sore withers.

Under the direction of a Christian mother who never studied the art of rearing children a child imbibes sublimar notions of God and purer ideas of virtue than all the experts could teach her in a score of years.
