POINT.-By a letter from Oak Point to a gentleman in this city we learn of the disappearance of a young man on Christmas Eve under circumstances very sad in their nature. The extract is as follows:—"A gloom has been thrown over our neighbourhood by the mysterious disappearance of one of our finest young men. The young people assembled at the church on Christmas Eve to put up the usual decorations. The skating was good and the ice considered safe. Shortly after dark they set out for home. Some young men who lived up the river, and among the rest Charles, son of George Flewelling, skated down the river a few miles in company with some girls of the party, Charles going with two of the girls half a mile further down than the rest, to their own landing. He declined going to the house with them, said he must go home, and bade them good night.' This was the last seen of him.
He is, no doubt, drowned. No enquiry was made for him until the following afternoon.-The night was light, and other skaters were on the ice. The mystery is increased by the almost impossibility of his getting through the shore, and the night being so fine and still that a short could be heard, especially by others on the ice, for a long distence. There is not the slightest clue to his fate. The bottom of the river has been carefully searched in several places, but in vain. Sad as it would be if his body were found, the uncertainty seems to make it still more saddening.—St. John Telegraph. CRUSHED TO DEATH IN THE WOODS .-- An old man named Patrick Walsh, employed as a cook in a lumber camp, at Eel River, Restigouche County, N. B., while engaged cutting down a tree for camp wood, on the 4th inst., it fell on him, smashing his head and breaking his arm. There was no one present when the accident occurred, but when discovered life was extinct, and it is supposed he was killed instantly. He was about fifty-five or sixty years of age, and is said to have a wife and family somewhere in the province.

It is stated too, that though her exports this fall were larger than last fall, her farmers never before held over such a large quantity of the productions of the soil for spring shipment. The exports of butter, eggs, fish and pork and lard, amounted during last year, respectively, to the sums: -$21,000, $51,000, $171,500, and $182,-This is in the article of butter for the last ten years-an increase of over 800 per cent; in eggs, 500 per cent; and in pork, 530 per cent. Twenty years ago the Island exported only 62 barrels of pork; to day it is one of her principal exports.
