KASLO NEWS NOTES

Narrow Gauge Road Badly Blocked by Snowslides.

COLE BROTHERS INJURED

They Were Caught by a Slide Near the Montezuma—Many Mining Transfers Taking Place—Gossip of the City and District.

KASLO, April 7.—[Special.]—Kaslo's mail and transportation arrangements have been considerably disordered during the present week. Slides along the line of the Kaslo and Slocan railway have completely demoralized traffic on that important thoroughfare. The train due to arrive on Saturday afternoon did not reach Kaslo until a late hour on Tuesday night, and then both mails and passengers had to be transferred. There is a large slide on Payne mountain, and besides two or three small bridges which were completely swept away, the large bridge about half a mile above McGuigan has been seriously damaged. The main parts of two or three bents have been carried from the sills and the roadway is suspended in the air. Energetic efforts have been made to clear away the more serious obstructions, but constant slides fill the gaps quite as fast as they are made by the various gangs of shovelers. The trouble is almost entirely between McGuigan and Sandon, as the rest of the line may be passed over with comparative ease.

An outgoing train left on Wednesday morning, but it was not expected that it would get entirely through, but transfers would be made as before. Several narrow escapes are mentioned, all said to have been happily made by the train hands in the endeavor to get through. Last Saturday's train, after remaining all day on the track, attempted late in the evening to back into Sandon, and had just passed over a small bridge when it was swept away down the mountain. The train was thus caught on the track between two portions that had been carried away. The smaller damages were, however, promptly repaired. It is also said that one slide which came down on Saturday would have destroyed one end of the town if its force had not been broken by the railway cuttings.

From the south, too, the arrival of mails and passengers has been somewhat erratic. Saturday's mail did not arrive until Sunday afternoon, and it was late on Tuesday evening before the passengers by Monday's train from Spokane reached their destination. In consequence of these interruptions the city has been dull during the week.

Hickey's Narrow Escape.

One slide which crossed the Alamo tramway was attended with fatal results, three men having been killed in one of the snow sheds. It appears that four men were standing on the tramway, engaged in conversation, when Superintendent Hickey saw the slide descending. He warned his companions, and all started for the snow shed. All reached it, but Mr. Hickey continued to run. The others, thinking themselves safe, stopped to look at the slide, which in its descent struck the shed, crushing it and with it the unfortunate men who had sought shelter under it. One of them named Phillips had only been married a few weeks. His bereaved widow is at Sandon.

Two brothers, Lewis Cole and Charles Cole, were seriously injured on Saturday last, by being caught in a snowslide on the south fork of Kaslo creek, about three miles from the mouth, and not far from the Montezuma. It appears they had staked a claim, and were returning to the trail on the east side when caught. They were carried down for some distance, and the younger man was pinioned by the snow. The elder, though himself very severely injured and profusely bleeding, crawled to his brother and managed to scratch him loose with his hands. Together they made their way painfully to Hanson's at the Forks, and Dr. Hartin was summoned. Though much shaken up and badly bruised it is not thought that either is fatally injured. A blow received by Charles on the temple may, however, prove troublesome. At latest reports they were improving and out of immediate danger.

Municipal Matters.

On Tuesday the members of the city council made an inspection of the present condition of Kaslo river as it flows through the city, and will consider some means for confining it to its channel during the freshet season. Unless some protective work is constructed, a great amount of damage is threatened. Already much damage has been done, and some good lots have been practically carried out into the lake.

The council has also upon its hands a serious question concerning street lines. The original stakes have been destroyed, and no permanent monuments were at any time placed, for reference. It has been difficult, therefore, to determine just where the street lines are, and it is claimed that some of the Front street buildings encroach upon the street. The erection of new buildings and the necessity of accurately ascertaining the lot boundaries have brought the trouble to a head, and naturally the council is looked to for a solution of the difficulty. At an informal meeting of the aldermen on Tuesday last, the mayor was empowered to engage an engineer to report upon the best way of establishing street lines to meet existing difficulties. Mr. E. W. Cummings was making an instrumental survey of Front street on Wednesday, and his report will be awaited with interest by those immediately concerned. It will be unfortunate if the new buildings are constructed with uneven and jagged frontage for lack of concerted action.

Valuation by Wards.

Alderman Buchanan's bylaw, introduced at the last meeting of the city council, provides as has already been stated, for three wards, ward 1 to consist of that portion of the city east of the centre of Fourth street, ward 2 to lie between the centres of Fourth and Sixth streets, and Ward 3 to embrace the remainder of the city. On the basis of the assessed value as shown on the assessment roll which has been recently completed, the amount of assessed property in the different wards would be approximately as follows: Ward 1, $173,054; ward 2, $208,811; ward 3, 117,635. Total, $499,500.

If the dividing line of the blocks be confined to unbroken lines extending north and south throughout the extent of the city, the proposed division is about as equitable as could be made, in spite of the seeming disparity of values. Ward 3 would consist largely of unimproved property, much of which is likely to be utilized for residential purposes in the near future. The inequality would thus in time largely disappear.

If, however, it were deemed advisable at once to equalize assessed values more nearly between the three wards, it might be accomplished by leaving ward 1 as proposed, making the boundaries of ward 2, the centres of Fourth and Sixth streets, and the centre of C avenue between these streets and leave the remainder of the city to compose ward 3. The result as shown on the assessment roll would be approximately as follows: Ward 1, $173,054; ward 2, $175,315; ward 3, $151,131; total, $499,500.

A Meeting Which Failed.

The meeting of citizens summoned by distributed dodger, late last Friday afternoon, did not materialize to any extent. Your correspondent attended in due course to make note of the proceedings, but when he entered the hall, the newly waxed floor, and entertaing strains of an entrancing waltz, with which two lonely musicians were wiling away the tedious moments while guests tarried, suggested thoughts of the the first of April. He fancied for the moment that he had been successfully fooled, but soon recalled the fact that he had safely passed the dangerous period. He waited therefore and was patient. Presently he was reassured, for the mayor appeared upon the scene to keep him company in his wearying watch.

The summoning hand-bill had suggested the "Crow's Nest Pass railway" as the subject for the evening's deliberations, but this perhaps was merely an expedient to arrest the public eye and attract attention. His worship, moreover, had been privately informed by the father of the projected gathering that it was really intended to consider certain resolutions which had been concocted and passed in our sister city on the banks of the Thompson. These resolutions, guileless and unselfish of course, called upon Mr. Laurier and his government to disallow the act of the local legislature extending the time within which the British Columbia Southern company might begin work and retain its subsidy.

It was fully half an hour beyond the usual time for opening similar gatherings, and there were just three persons in the hall, besides the expectant musicians who were diligently attuning their instruments for the oncoming dance. Shortly afterwards the reputed and reputable father of the proposed performance appeared upon the waxed floor, statutes in hand and notes foregathered. He was unduly troubled. He had sent his copy of the Kamloops resolutions to the local newspaper for publication, and not only had they failed to appear in its columns, but still more unfortunately the manuscript itself had been mislaid or lost. He knew their purport, however, and the substance could be restated. But there was no sufficient audience to be stirred and convinced by an eloquent presentation of the unworthiness of the British Columbia Southern, and the newly discovered sinfulness of the Turner government in affording it encouragement.

Lucky Jim and Jackson Group.

The Lucky Jim group is now owned by Braden brothers, of Helena, Mont., and Mr. Matthews. Not much is said of it on the outside and it is somehow seldom mentioned amongst the operated mines of the Slocan, yet development has been steadily prosecuted ever since it came into the possession of the present proprietors who have already expended fully $25,000 in machinery and development work. They have now exposed and blocked out ready for extraction, a big body of ore quite as extensive as any property in the division. It is proposed in the early spring to put in a tramway of about 1,500 feet to the Kaslo & Slocan railway at a cost of about $4,000. A concentrator will also be built in the neighborhood of Bear lake to cost, when completep and ready for work, not far from $22,000. E. J. Matthews has charge of the mine locally and deserves success even if he cannot command it. The promise of an abundant return is said to be excellent.

Robert Jackson and George Alexander have, by separate deeds dated March 23, 1897, transferred all their interests in the Jackson group of mines, consisting of the Northern Belle, Kootenay Star, Ophir and Dublin Queen to the Jackson Mines, limited liability. D. W. Moore has also transferred to the same company the Moore fractional claim, which was found to exist when the original group was surveyed.

Mining Notes.

Some Chinamen have again commenced placer mining on Kaslo creek just outside of the city limits. They have worked in the same vicinity on previous occasions, but it has never been accurately ascertained how much they took out as they are reticent as to their earnings.

The Charleston mine, of which J. E. Mitchell is the manager, will ship another carload of high grade ore during the present week. The mine is in the Whitewater basin, not far from the famous Whitewater, and is said to be very promising as the result of development work.

By deed bearing date the thirteenth of March C. A. Freeman conveyed to F. W. Rolt and Henry Croft, of Rossland, in trust, a one-half interest in the mineral claim Uncle Mike, and the whole of the Silver Tip, Valparaiso, Crescoe and 49. The consideration which he received is $6,000.

A. L. Davenport has sold to R. E. Brown, of Spokane, for $2,000, a five-eighths interest in the claim Emerald Hill, adjoining the Silver Tip on Blue Ridge, 13 miles from Kaslo. The claims in this vicinity are receiving considerable attention this spring and are said to be valuable.

Isaac Lewis and M. P. Bogle have conveyed to Charles Benton, of Pilot Bay, the mineral claims Morning and Jessie K, situated on White Grouse mountain, near Goat river. In return Benton has paid a small amount in cash and agrees to pay the balance of $1,000 within 30 days. He also undertakes to form a company under the laws of Washington to take over the claims, and within 50 days to give the vendors and others mentioned 200,000 shares of the capital stock of the company.

George A. Simmons has conveyed to William Braden, of Helena, Montana, all his interest in the mineral claim Eureka, located on the east side of Crawford, about 16 miles from Crawford bay. It is reported that there are many promising properties in the same locality.

New locations, in considerable numbers have already been recorded at the office of the mining recorder in this city. Thus far, however, they are principally relocations of ground abandoned, or run out. It is presumed that the locators knew pretty well where to place their discovery stakes.

Personals and Brevities.

The firemen's entertainment, for which diligent preparation has been made, will be given on Monday next. It promises to be a grand affair, and the fireboys hope to realize a handsome sum as the result of their efforts.

The advancing spring and mild weather have relegated hockey sticks to the storeroom, and now the balltossers have the field. On Sunday they had a preliminary practice game with some of the new talent which will play with the Kaslo nine during the present season. George Borcher, who pitched last year for a Milwaukee team, has opened a cigar and fruit store in the city and will remain during the year.

The lacrosse players have also made their appearance on the streets, sticks in hand. Whether there are enough to form a team for practice remains to be developed.

The steamer International came up from Nelson on Sunday, bringing Saturday night's mail, which failed to connect with the Kokanee. The International's injured piston has been replaced, and she resumed her regular service on Monday morning.

Postmaster Green is having plans prepared for a neat residence which he proposes to erect on B avenue, near that occupied by the mayor.

Ensign Milner and Captain Grant held the first open air meeting of the Salvation army in Kaslo on Friday evening last. It attracted a considerable crowd of orderly and attentive listeners. The subsequent meeting in Livingstone's hall was also well attended. Ensign Milner is an earnest and persuasive speaker while the enthusiasm of Captain Grant gave zest and force to the proceedings. Representatives of the army will establish a post in the city.

R. A. E. Mueller has completed his buildings with the necessary fittings and made his first brew. Its quality is said to be excellent, though still too fresh and new to place upon the market.

Walker Marshall formerly a resident of Kaslo, and of the well-known mining firm of G. J. Atkins & Co., returned to the city on Friday, after an absence of considerably more than a year.

John Thomas Bethune, of Victoria, has purchased from Alexander Craig of Kaslo, the mineral claims Bunker Hill and Theresa M. A nominal consideration only is mentioned.

A. L. Belyea, a Victoria barrister, somewhat interested in Kaslo real estate, will, it is said, remove to this city, and practice his profession in connection with his partner, Mr. Murphy, who has been here for some time.

Cameron brothers have begun the construction of an addition to the building on the corner of A avenue and Fourth streets, now occupied by the Union club. A. W. Ross and J. B. McArthur will have offices on the ground floor.

ODDS ON HOUSTON.

Nelson's Campaign Getting Warm—Crow's Nest Survey.

NELSON, April 5.—[Special.—Delayed in Transmission.]—Considerable excitement prevails in the opposing camps of the municipal candidates. Each candidate for the mayoralty has a full aldermanic ticket behind him and both sides have chosen very worthy and representative men. The Houston aldermanic slate bears the names of W. F. Teetzel, Jas. A. Gilker, Charles Hillyer, John J. Malone, Alex. Dow and Frank Fletcher. The choice of the Turner people for aldermen are: Dr. Arthur, F. G. Farley, E. C. Traves, F. J. Russell, A. C. Buchanan and C. W. West. Canvassing on both sides is being vigorously prosecuted. The betting is in favor of Houston.

D. O. Lewis, who has been out with the C. P. R. surveying party under E. C. Perry, has returned to the city after an absence of three months. He reports the probable route for the Crow's Nest Pass road is now surveyed from Goat river to Balfour through a very rough stretch of country in which it will be an expensive undertaking to build a railway. Unless it is decided to build a vast amount of trestle work, upwards of twenty tunnels will have to be run along this portion of the road.

Eighteen of our citizens were today summoned before Judge Forin on a charge of maintaining a nuisance by not complying with the sanitary regulations. It is the intention of the authorities to compel recognition of the law regarding closets and rubbish in order to prevent a recurrence of the many cases of sickness that signalized the arrival of warm weather last year.

From Chronic Catarrh—But Instantaneous Relief Follows the First Application of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. Don't Neglect the Simplest Cold in the Head, It May Develop into this Disgusting Malady Almost Before You Can Realize It.

Rev. Dr. Bochror, of Buffalo, says: "My wife and I were both troubled with distressing catarrh, but we have enjoyed freedom from this aggravating malady since the day we first used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. Its action was instantaneous, giving the most grateful relief within ten minutes after the first application. We consider it a godsend to humanity, and believe that no case can be so chronic or deeply seated that it will not immediately relieve and permanently cure."

THREE MEN WERE KILLED

Sansfield, Phillips, and Bibbie Victims of the Idaho Slide.

Heard the Avalanche Coming and Took Refuge in a Snowshed Which Was Carried Away.

NEW DENVER, April 5.—[Special.]—Snowslides are becoming more numerous daily. One took away the ore house and cabins of the Neepawa, on Ten Mile last Friday, and on Sunday between four and five o'clock three men lost their lives in the Idaho basin, and the snowshed and a large portion of the Slocan Tramway company's tram was swept away as though it were built of pasteboard.

The men who lost their lives were Alex Sansfield, Charles H. Phillips and Clark Bibbie, all employed by the Slocan Tramway company, operating near Three Forks on Carpenter creek. The men heard the snowslide coming and sought shelter in the snowshed. The shed was struck with such force as to be completely demolished, and the men were swept with the debris to the basin below.

The bodies were recovered after a long search and a great amount of digging. One of the men held in his arms the dead body of his dog. All were young men. Phillips had been married but two weeks. An inquest was held today by Dr. Brouse, and the bodies will be brought to New Denver for burial tomorrow.

Snowslides have made it too dangerous to work several properties up Ten Mile that heretofore have been working and the men employed there have mostly been withdrawn and put to work in less dangerous localities.

Slocan News Notes.

Work on the Bondholder progresses slowly. The tunnel is in 300 feet, has crosscut one lead and is within 25 feet of the main ledge. It is expected to strike the shaft within three weeks.

The tunnel on the Dalhousie has been put in about 400 feet, another 100-foot contract having just completed. The lead has not been struck and the property is in about the same condition apparently as a month ago.

Work on the Mary Durham, lately bonded in the interest of American parties, will be started in a week or so, weather permitting, and will be pushed to make a showing for a stocking scheme.

Many old prospectors are itching to get into the hills. The snow hangs on distressingly long. Many have already started out and the record office is kept busy posting new locations. Development work is being pushed on many properties close by and everything is apparently being done to put the properties in shape to be moved at good figures.

Travel this way is heavy, but thus far no inconvenience has been experienced here for the want of accommodations. However, if travel increases in the next month or two like it has in the past few weeks, the hotels will not be able to provide for all. The wise man will bring his blankets.

Travel Slocan City way is all the lake boats can attend to. Until further progress is made in the line of building, and work on the Slocan extension of the C. P. R. is under way, it is absolute folly for men of small means, depending on their day's labor, to come to the lake for work. In another month's time work can be found by all; until then laborers had better stay away.

A. E. Crawford, an old and well-known mining man of the northwest, is here looking after properties for Spokane people. Mr. Crawford is talking smelter and concentrator to the mining contingent. He has put in many plants in his time, among them the Noble Five.

A representative of a Scotch syndicate is expected here next week to look after the Exchange group, with a view to renewing work thereon.

Progress is greatly retarded in the building movement. The addition to the Grand Central is about ready for opening. Also the new hotel to be opened by the Augrimon brothers. The great trouble is owing to the lack of facilities for getting dry lumber from the coast.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Orphan Boy Swindle.

VANCOUVER, March 24.

EDITOR MINER—Sir: Patience is no longer a virtue in regards to the statement made by the Editor of the "Rossland MINER" I would say that this man H. W. C. Jackson, Editor and Manager of that famous paper has in his issue of the 16th of March 1897 a small article intitled "Swindle of the Public":—that the Orphan Boy Company is responsible for the stock issued by F. C. Whitney. Now let me ask that "Leading Light" if he holds any shares in that Company, and if so how did he get them? and on what date were they issued and also how much did that gentleman pay for same, and if he knows if there was any Orphan Boy Company on that date, but seeing that this would-be "Leader of B.C." knowns nothing whatever about that Company I shall try and enlighten him on that subject. Now he claims that the Company must make good all monies received from such shares—Was only $140 according to Whitney's own story, and the 40,000 they were F. C. Whitney's own shares and was taken out of this allotment and the Company had nothing to do with them and Company never received one cent of money. Now it will not take a very smart man to figure out what this Jackson paid for said 4,000 shares that he holdes and besides he was not satisfied in getting them for one cent per share, but he put in a bill for $20.00 for a small ad in paper for one month. Now let me ask any sane man if he could expect to get sound stock at the price of one cent per share in and Company in B. C. Now this ad. in the Rossland MINER did more harm than good, as I believe that this leading paper known as the Rossland MINER has a circulation of about 1800 in B. C. and perhaps not that, and further more he goes on and asks for an investigation of this so-called swindle. Now I may say I am only too ready to meet that gentleman anywhere on the Coast either in Vancouver or Victoria where the public can have a chance to decide on the merits of this accusation made by the Rossland MINER and then all will be cleared up and then this Jackson will find that he knows nothing whatever about the O. B. Co. and moreover that people have not been swindled as he says, but on the other hand I may say that there has not been enough shares sold to pay for the supplies that it took to carry on the working of the said claim, as the Treasury has 175,000 shares left nevertheless it is a mine today and it is my money that has made it one, but since such men as Jackson is in Orphan Boy Company, now I must have my money at once as I have stood this thing long enough, and it will be well for B. C. when all such men as Whitney and some of Rossland's Lights are either buried, under the sod or putting in their time in New Westminster and furthermore I may state that all those people that held forged certificates were asked to send them in to Head Office for inspection some months ago and there was not one came in and for the benefit of said Editor I may say that there was no Orphan Boy Company until after the 16th day of October 1896 and all shares held in Rossland were issued on the 12th and 15th day of October with the exception of a few, and as soon as said Orphan Boy Co. was in possession of proof of F. C Whitney's doings that we at once commenced to investigate things and if the people of Rossland want to investigate there will be some other investigations made as well, and I am only too ready for this kind of show-down, and then perhaps we may lose some of our surplus population that we will be well rid of and furthermore I can give this Rossland MINER man to understand that I nor Mr. Wedkind never signed those certificates issued at Rossland on Oct. 12th, and 15th and 19th and that F. C. Whitney forged my name to all and issued them before there was any Orphan Boy except those on 19th and without any order from that body of trustees and before there had been a meeting of said directors, and no one knew anything of his doings and it was 3 or 4 month afterwards before any thing was found out, as being wrong.

Yours respectfully,
A. W. HASKINS,
President and Manager O. B. Co.

Strike On the Mannamead.

A strike is reported on the Mannamead on the north fork of the Salmon river. There is a crosscut tunnel in 60 feet and it is said to have opened up a six-foot ledge showing four feet of quartz ore which averaged $26.40 in gold, five and a half ounces in silver and one and a half per cent. in copper. This is the biggest strike yet on the north fork if the details prove to be correct.

"It affords me great pleasure to commend Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I was sorely afflicted with heart trouble, accompanied with dizziness, palpitation, and smothering sensations. For over four years I was treated by best physicians, and used all remedies known to man. I determined to try Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. The first dose gave me great relief inside of 30 minutes. I used two bottles and feel to-day I have been completely cured."

Limited Liability.

CAPITAL STOCK $250,000.

Par Value $1.00 Each.

GEORGE A. POUNDER, President and Gen. Manager.

JOHN A. POUNDER, Secretary and Treasurer.

JOHN A. POUNDER, Superintendent.

The capitalization of this company is, perhaps, the smallest met with in the history of the Rossland mines, being only 250,000 shares of $1.00 each. The Treasury Stock is $50,000, and the Directors have decided to limit the first and present issue to 20,000, and this number will be sold at the low price of 25 cents. When they have been sold, it is further decided to raise the price for the balance of the treasury stock to 50 cents. The Ottawa is not a mere prospect. With the excellent showing from the money already spent upon the property, the Ottawa may be said to have passed the period of uncertainty. The tunnel is now in 85 feet.

Remember the small capitalization, and also remember that five per cent. dividends upon $1,000,000 means a 20 per cent. dividend upon a small capitalization of $250,000.

Finally, the Ottawa, from its excellent location and experienced management, promises to exceed the greatest expectations of its Directors.

Three Full Claims in the Great Slocan District.

The character of the ore is very much the same as that found on Springer and Lemon Creeks on the opposite side of Slocan Lake, carrying very fair gold values along with high silver and lead values.

Assays from the Eureka run as follows:

1st. assay	gives	value of	gold,	silver and lead of	$26.56

A grand average for the 7 assays of $58.28 per ton, about $8 to $10 of which is gold value.

Points for Intending Investors.

1. Stock bought at from 5 to 15 cents has made more fortunes in mining than any other method of investment, and dividends paid on so small invested capital yield an immense percentage of profits.

2. Slocan properties are rapidly becoming favorites on account of their high-grade pay streaks coming to the very surface and thus soon paying the cost of mining, smelting and developing.

3. Slocan ores are easily worked.

4. The Slocan has now over 50 producing mines, the stock in most of which a few months ago could be bought at from 10 to 20 cents but is now at par.

5. The Winnipeg and Eureka has a ledge about 40 feet wide and has a pay-streak of about two feet.

6. Cost of mining will always be low as it is a splendid tunnel proposition.

7. Across one of the claims runs a stream the year around providing an abundance of water for a large concentrator.

The Treasury Shares are now offered at the extremely low price of Ten Cents per Share and now is the Time to Buy.
