VERY WELL PUT.
The following is from "Industrial Canada":

"More important than the tariff changes which it makes, is the clear definition of policy contained in the budget of the Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance. The old flag of 'reasonable protection,' under which the national ship has weathered storm and stress since 1878, is still flying nailed to the masthead, and will stay there. Confidence is restored. So long as this policy is in effect, manufacturers can secure capital, develop their industries, give opportunity to workmen, sustain the home market and swell Canada's trade."
 "After Mr. White's speech the country gave a sigh of relief. On this continent during the last few years, the tendency has been to lower protective tariffs. The United States reduced its tariff from an average ad valorem rate of about 41 per cent. on all dutiable goods to the Canadian rate of about 26 per cent."
 "But, in spite of the fact that, for the first time the average of the tariffs of the respective countries are about equal, and also that, even with equal tariffs the United States, as the stronger and older nation, has still an immense commercial advantage over us, there were people in Canada who advocated reducing our tariff in generous recognition of the self-interested act of the United States. No sooner was our ancient handicap against Canadian shipment into the United States reduced than they wanted another put on."

FARMERS BANK VICTIMS.
 In the Dominion House yesterday a first reading was given of the bill introduced by Hon. Mr. White to reimburse the depositors in the defunct Farmers Bank.

In moving the resolution Hon. Mr. White stated that the Government founded its proposals on the report made by Sir William R. Meredith, in regard to the failure of the bank. That report, he submitted, established that the certificate of the treasury board, without which the bank could not have opened its doors, had been obtained by "false and fraudulent representation." The report of the commissioner made it clear that the treasury board had been guilty of negligence in not investigating the charges of irregularities in connection with the deposit of $250,000 of fully paid-up stock.

An enquiry would have shown that General Manager Travers had perjured himself, and the bank would never have opened its doors, at least with Mr. Travers as manager. In either case the bank would not have failed.
 Mr. White read a statement of the liabilities and assets of the Farmers Bank on May 1 last. This showed total liabilities of $1,550,849 and total assets of $385,364. Among the assets was included the option price of the Keeley Mine for $150,000. It was expected that this option would be taken up within a short time. The statement, commented the Minister, made it clear that there would be no money for the depositors, and in addition there would be fairly heavy expenses of liquidation.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux asked why depositors who had lost by the failure of the Banque Ville Marie, and the Banque St. Jean should not receive similar treatment.
 To this Hon. Mr. White replied that all bank suspensions had tragic consequences, which unfortunately had to be suffered, but the difference in the case of the Farmers Bank was that the treasury board at the time of the Laurier Government was negligent in allowing the institution to be launched.

THE BRITISH AND MEXICO.
 Sir Edward Grey maintains his attitude of friendly reserve toward the United States in regard to Mexico, and in doing so undoubtedly reflects the sentiment of the great body of intelligent Englishmen, remarks the New York Times. There is no question that the people as well as the government of Great Britain believe that our government is animated by worthy motives in its course toward Mexico and is doing its best to preserve peace and to secure the ultimate establishment of law and order in that distracted land. They have no wish to hamper the efforts of our government, and they will not do so unless there shall arise some unfortunate situation involving the rights of British subjects to a degree not yet realized.
 At the same time there is to be noted in the British press quite without reference to party the expression of the feeling—in some cases, of a deliberate and reasoned opinion—that

Conservative Association of the South Riding of Brant

A meeting of the Conservatives of the South Riding of Brant will be held at Conservative headquarters, corner of Dalhousie and King Streets, in the City of Brantford, in the County of Brant, on Thursday, May 21st, 1914, at 8 p.m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Provincial Legislature of the Province of Ontario.
 All Conservatives invited. Only those will be entitled to vote who are duly elected delegates.
W. M. CHARLTON, President.
GOD SAVE THE KING

the only possible final outcome of the situation is the active intervention of the United States, the occupation of Mexico, and its reorganization on the lines of order and safety. Generally this is regarded as the logical conclusion from the wish of our government to be left alone in dealing with Mexico. Our assumption of the right is held as carrying with it the duty of dealing with Mexico and of doing so in a way that will adequately provide for the protection of the rights and interests of other countries. Our government has not acknowledged the correctness of this assumption, and there is no sign that it will do so in the near future. But the fact that this view prevails in a friendly country of the importance of England is one that cannot wholly be ignored. We have no doubt that it is the mind of the president and his advisers.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Spring refuses to do just that.

An investigation has shown the paradoxical situation that Toronto's sinking funds are in good shape.

Windsor City Council elected a successor to the recently deceased medical health officer before he was buried. Indecisive.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader against Home Rule, is about to marry the daughter of a Home Ruler. Wonder which will be that in the new relationship?

How closely the members of the British royal family are interwoven by marriage is shown in the case of Prince Alexander of Teck. As a brother of Queen Mary he is, of course, the King's brother-in-law, but he is second cousin, once removed, to his Majesty, who himself stands in that relation to his own consort. Princess Alexander is not only Queen Mary's sister-in-law, but she is also her second cousin once removed, and she is the King's first cousin as well as his sister-in-law by marriage. The King has already created his wife's eldest brother, the Duke of Teck, a "Highness," instead of a "Serene Highness," which is the courtesy title borne by the other members of the Teck family. And it is probable that the same favor will be shown to Prince Alexander. Moreover, it is likely that he will be made a peer of the realm—probably a Duke, as the number of Dukes at present is below its normal strength. Princess Alexander is, of course, a "Royal Highness."

THE BYSTANDER.
 I stand by my window alone, and look at the people go by, pursuing the shimmering hose, which is so elusive and shy. Pursuing the beckoning plunk, and no one can make them believe that roubles and kopecks are junk, vain baubles got up to deceive. Their faces are haggard and sad, from weariness often they reel, pursuing the succulent scud, pursuing the wandering wheel. And many are there in the throng who have all the money they need, and still they go racing along, inspired by the demon of greed. "To put some more bucks in the chest," they sigh as they toil, "would be grand," the beauty and blessing of rest is something they don't understand. We struggle and strain all our years, and wear out our bodies and brains, and when we are stretched on our biers, what profit we then by our pains? The lawyers come down with a whoop, and rake in our bundle of script, and plaster a lien on the coop before our poor orphans can yip. I stand at my window again, and see the poor folks as they trail, pursuing the yammering yen, pursuing the conquering kale; and sorrow is filling my breast, regret that the people won't know the infinite blessing of rest, that solace for heartache and woe.

Birthdays of Note

TUESDAY, MAY TWELFTH

The Hon. Sir William Glenholme Falconbridge, chief justice of the King's Bench Division of the Supreme Court of Judicature of Ontario, was born sixty-eight years ago to-day at Drummondville, Ont. He is a jurist of eminent ability and a scholar of repute, being particularly well up in the classics. Apropos both of his kindly disposition and his literary accomplishments a good story is told by a young Toronto woman journalist. This young lady was sent in an emergency to report a case then being heard by Sir Glenholme at Osgoode Hall. She did her best to take in the argument but soon became so entirely bewildered that she could not make head nor tail of the business. When the court adjourned she bravely accosted the chief justice and explained her difficulty. Sir Glenholme then and there sat down and wrote out a popular explanation of the case which he handed to the reporter. It was duly printed in the afternoon edition and the supposed author was highly complimented by the editor on her achievement. She had to admit, however, that the report had been penned by the judge himself.

Also born today—
 Hon. Wilfrid Meredith, puisne judge of the Supreme Court of Quebec, born at St. Esprit, P.Q., 1860.

The little fellow had been struck by an automobile while crossing the street in front of his home. He was so badly injured that he died almost as soon as his father turned him over to the physicians at the General Hospital.

Shall Wholesale Murder Continue in Mexico?
A THRILLING STORY OF REVOLUTION AND WAR

By FREDERICK STARR, of the University of Chicago

MEXICO AND THE UNITED STATES: Tells not only what is known of the earliest inhabitants of the country, but it also gives a careful, most absorbing account of the course of government, and the conditions and modes of life of the people since the invasion and conquest of the Spaniards. It traces the development of railroads, commerce and progress, and the vital part which foreign capitalists and adventurers have played. It portrays the cruel rule of the Spanish viceroys, the terrors of slavery and peonage, and the oppression of the working people. It describes the winning of freedom in Mexico, the Texan revolution, the war with the United States, the French invasion, the empire of Maximilian, the rise of Diaz and the development of the peculiar complicated conditions that have resulted in the present situation.
 It is in the revelation of Mexico's intolerable political and economic conditions that the book possesses one of its chief values. The story of the evils which exist in Mexico has never been adequately told. All previous attempts have been suppressed by powerful influences. Now, however, in this volume is given a complete description of the conditions which exist—a description which will arouse a nation and compel reformation.

To be fully informed on this very vital question one must read this book. Over 400 large octavo pages. Fine super paper. Over 100 great photographs, maps and portraits. Artistically bound in fine book cloth. $3.50 EDITION
