cipality of a large amount that the ctual population would entitle them to A comparison of the census population of 1901 with that reported for the same year by the assessors of Leeds and Grenville, shows that 4,864 or about 13% of the population, is not entered on the assessment rolls. We are very much in favor of efficient public schools and increased Government aid. Local municipalities will never receive the amount to which they are properly entitled unless their assessors are careful to make complete population returns. The loss to townships from this couse alone has n some instances exceeded the assessor's salary.

Sent to Penitentiary

Brockville, Feb 2 -Several weeks ago James Harper assaulted one Mc Kinley, biting him badly. To day be came before Judge McDonald and was sentenced to seven years in the King-ton Penitentiary The Judge in passing sentence said he would also have ordered the lash were it not for the fact that Harper had been a brave soldier in South Africa.

The Khedive's knowledge of lar guages is extensive. During the course of an "Audience Day" it frequently happens that he discusse questions of State with the British and United States diplomatic agents in excellent English, with the representative of France in faultless French, and with the German in the choicest language the German in the choicest language of the Austrian Court. Later he conducts affairs with the Sultan's representative in Turkish, and may conclude the day by presiding over a council of his Ministry, when all sorts of intricate details of policy are arranged in Arabic, the native tongue of Egypt, and one of the most difficult of languages. Romans and Railways

The ancient Romans made the stan-dard gauge of England's present rail-ways. The width of the wheel base of ways. The width of the wheel base of the most up-to date dining car is what it is because it was originally that of the chariots which rolled along the Koman roads in Britain.

A recent speaker upon the subject at Newcastle has put the matter beyond theory. He said that, many year ago, he had known an old gen lowen who in his youth, had been associated with Ste-

his youth, had been associated with Ste phenson This cl him that he had asked the great englnim that he had asked the great engined why he had adopted its still existing gauge, and Stephenson had explained that he found it was the width between the ruts in the roads along the Roman wall, and that he thought hat if a world power like Rome had found that gauge the most effective he could that gauge the most effective, he could not do better than adopt it also.
