

HASZARD'S GAZETTE, JANUARY 6.

stroyed the Russian works opposite the west front, slaying a thousand men." "The marvellous resistance of Silistria still continued at the date of our despatch; though, of course, a garrison of eight thousand men cannot be expected to withstand for ever an army of 60,000." "Silistria still holds out." "It is rumoured that Omer Pacha, on the—, was advancing, at the head of 70,000 men, from Schumla, to the relief of Silistria. The rumour wants confirmation. The Allied troops were still busy encamping round Varna." "The telegraphic report about the advance of Omer Pacha, at the head of 70,000 men, turns out to be a canard of the Viennese Stock Exchange. It is doubtful whether Omer Pacha could bring quite that number into the field at present. He remains quietly entrenched at Schumla, where he is supposed to have only about 55,000 troops of all arms. The besieging force scattered around Silistria in the necessarily dispersed array of an investing army, numbers now at least 60,000 men, who are very much harassed by the repeated and desperate sallies of the garrison." "The reported surrender of Silistria is not true. The place still keeps the Turkish ensign flying, though the valiant garrison is nearly exhausted. It is a pity something could not be done to succour them. Theirs is a waste of heroism." A curious story is told about an interview, under flags of truce, demanded by the Russians. The Muscovite Commander wished to spare, he said, the needless effusion of blood, by merely informing Musse Pacha of a fact, viz., the Czar had sent conclusive directions that Silistria "must be taken"; therefore it might best be given up at once; to which Musse, stroking his beard, replied that he also had a fact to communicate, viz., that Abdul-Mejid Khan had honoured Musse, Musse, originally (and he was not aware that the mind of his sacred Highness had changed) with conclusive instructions to defend the place, nor would he surrender it if he had but a thousand men, and all Russia was at its gates, with the Czar in person." Thereupon, a sort of Masonic sign is said to have been made by the hand of the Russian Commander, which sign implied an enormous sum in gold "imperials." Musse's eye twinkled. "Let us now separate the Payment." The red under white flag is over."

The
(To be continued.)

CLEANINGS FROM LATE PAPERS.

THE ALLIED FORCES IN THE CRIMEA AND BLACK SEA.

A correspondent of the London Daily News gives an estimate of the allied forces in the Crimea, which makes it numerically great as well as strong. The allied forces in the first instance were 27,000 British, 30,000 French, and 10,000 Turks; total 67,000. Since then there have been sent out by a variety of vessels 44,615 soldiers, showing about the middle of last month a grand total of 111,415.

But it is necessary to deduct the loss since the 14th of September in sick, killed, and wounded, which may be estimated as follows, viz.—

At the battle of Alma, killed and wounded, say 4000; at Novikov, 2500; Oct. 800; Inkermann, 1000; Nov. 3500; in the trenches, 1000; thus began, 1000—3000; carried off by cholera disabled by sickness since the 14th Sept., say 8000; total 17,300. And there will remain an effective force of British, French, Turks, &c., on about the 15th inst., of 94,115.

But since the 15th inst., there have been despatched to the Crimea by land and water forces amounting to 17,260 men—the latter, at a rough guess, that the allied army, an or two thousand strong around Sebastopol and Balaklava. Add to this the strength of the allied forces, and you will have little short of a combined force of 150,000 men; besides, further French reinforcements to the amount of 35,000 men will soon be on their way, and will be added to those of the Doubs. He does not appear, however, to have taken into his estimate the heavy losses which must have been sustained in the recent storm.

Oponed to them, we are told, are the remainder of the Russians who fought at Alma, 30,000; Liprandi's corps 30,000; Luder's 25,000; Dennerberg's corps, 20,000; the 3d division, etc., taken up to the Crimea; the 4th, 5th November, 20,000; total, 120,000. And there will be 60,000 men; besides, further French reinforcements to the amount of 35,000 men will soon be on their way, and will be added to those of the Doubs. He does not appear, however, to have taken into his estimate the heavy losses which must have been sustained in the recent storm.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

Mr. Stratford comes and sends frequently to us news of the forces here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the wives or families at home are in need.

The gentlemen who are sent by the Times to inspect the forces are also here, and anxious to see the progress of the war. Miss Nightingale only takes care of the men, so Mr. Osborne has some funds, and generally adds one or two pounds to Mr. Stafford's letter, where the