Well, multiply ten by one hundred, and there you are! There were urchins big and little, black and white; lads with rosy cheeks and clear eyes and strong limbs; lads shrunken and wasted and yellow, and old before their time. But as regarded voices they were brothers.

> Mr. Willis Hall stepped on the stage and raised his hand, and instantly there was a silence that could be felt.

"Boys," he said, "you're going to have an object lesson today. The Henourable Mr. Dean was a newsboy himself once. What he did you can do-every dear little rascal of you."

At that the band struck up and a pale man, carrying a silk hat and a walking-stick, appeared from some mysterious place and stood by Mr. Hall.

Announcement.

March 12, 1919

For the information of our many patrons, in both town and country, we deem it necessary to announce that the Coal Business, successfully car ried on in the past by the Itae Mr. Charles Lyons, will be continued by the Estate, under the old firm name of C. Lyons & Co.

By maintaining a high standard of service and by courteous and honest treatment of the public, this firm has, for aperiod of more than a quarter of a century, enjoyed a large and ever-increasing pa. tronage; and in announcing our intention of "earrying on," we desire, most earnestly, to give expression to our appreciation thereof. We are deeply grateful to the firm's many patrons for their constant manifestation of confidence in it in the past, and we assure them that if they favor us with a similar evidence of their good-will in future there shall be no economy of effort on our part to make our intercourse both pleasant and profitable to them.

As we possess almost unlimited facilities for supplying the coal trade, and as we are desirous of extending our already large business, we respectfully invite the patronage of new customers; and if we succeeed in thus increasing our present connection, we guarantee that we shall be indefatigable in our endeavor to justify the confidence of our new friends. We again thank our patrons for their past generous patronage, and respecifully solicit a renewal of their esteemed custom. C. LYONS & CO
