The Evening Chit-Chat

By MARY CAMERON

When horses are, trying to start a team, I was told years ago by my physics teacher, they are exerting all the time a pressure equal to the resistance they have to overcome. It is the sudden quick jerk, plus the pressure, that starts the load.

I thought of that the other morning as I lay in bed dreading to get up. All the time I lay there, I was exerting a mental pressure all but sufficient to overcome the resistance of my laziness. All I lacked was the quick jerk.

Now it seems to me that's always the way when we put off some duty. We really mentally do it all the time we are putting it off, and thus waste a lot of energy before we give the quick jerk and finally accomplish the task.

Isn't that one of the reasons why people who work systematically, accomplish so much with so little effort—that is, because each duty has its routine place and therefore none of them are done mentally before they are done actually, with the consequent waste of mental energy?

How about it?

A young girl wrote me the other day to ask how to treat pimples and black heads.

For her sake, and for the sake of all the women who write me that sort of question, I take this opportunity to make it plain that I am not running a beauty column, that I do not claim any especial knowledge on the subject, and that I can't as a rule, answer that kind of question.

At the same time it just happens that I recently heard a very good doctor

...telling a young woman how to treat a lot of blind pimples that had broken out on her face, and I am glad to pass along the advice as it seemed to help her.

"Pimples are very often caused by dirt," he said. "You think you keep your face perfectly clean, but you don't. That's not an insight. Very few people do. If you live or work in a dirty grimy city no ordinary soap-and-water washing will keep your face clean. So when pimples break out, take a nail brush and soap and scrub your face long and hard. Then bathe it in alcohol and then anoint it with boracic acid ointment.

If the pimples come to a head prick with a needle sterilized in some antiseptic, touch with a drop of hydrogen peroxide, and then rub on the ointment."

Of all the bad habits for anyone who wants to be popular, I think a failure to pay courteous attention to what people say to you is the worst.

And also the most common.

How many people you know who will ask you a question, and then as you are answering it, will turn towards you with a glassy stare that shows they do not hear a word you say.

And how many people, while they would not actually interrupt you in the middle of a speech, will break out speaking the minute you say your last word, so explosively that you know they haven't been listening at all, but just waiting for you to finish so that they might have their turn.

Yes, real listening certainly is a fine art and a rare one.

It certainly ought to be an opening for the plain girl who needs an auxiliary to her charms.

And if she avails herself of it, a very sturdy auxiliary I think she will find it.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitive modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

Fads and Fashions.

Chiffon tunics have round bands of lace embroidered in gold at the bottom.

The gown in one piece which fastens up front or back is in excellent style.

Ribbons are playing a prominent part in the trimming of some of the hats.

Many all-black costumes are relieved by bright-colored satin heels on the shoes.

On all gowns there is a lack of fullness at the hem, and the train is eliminated.

Among the trinkets for one's chate-laine are tiny lip rouge cases in silver and also in gold.

Slenderness in effect is the dominant note of all of the winter styles in coats and suits.

For evening wraps ermine, mole, pony, caracul, Hudson seal, etc., are the chosen furs.

Large bows are a favorite for extremely large hats and are often made of taffeta or satin.

Fabric handbags are seen in fancy silks over metal frames, with chain or silk cord handles.

Handwork, especially on heavy silks, is a characteristic touch of some of the velvet gowns.

The short jacket has the present call and is likely to continue in favor for some time to come.

Nutritive Hypophosphites.

When a person feels "blue"—"all fired out"—"doesn't feel like doing anything"—cannot concentrate his mind on his work—feels weak mentally and physically—doubts his powers—complains of poor appetite and sleeplessness—suffers from headaches—then his nervous system is run-down and demands a good up-building tonic.

Nervous exhaustion is a modern disease, caused by too close attention to business, overwork, worry, devotion to trying family cares, overstudy, etc.

Nutritive Hypophosphites forms the best nerve and brain food known, and have restored thousands of sufferers to health. Large bottle, $1.00.

being largely used in dress accessories with tailor-made dresses.

Some of the newest overdresses of chiffon have scalloped edges instead of the simple hem or selvedge.

Mourning chains of gun-metal or black enamel are to be had plain or set with either moonstones or pearls.

Cross-grain leather bags are stitched by machine to give a striped effect, the stitching being done in a contrasting color.

The accessories and closings for the fur coats are fancy frogs, buttons of braid, cords, loops, tassels and other ornaments.

Paris seems to have gone utterly mad over everything Indian, a craze which originated with the famous Apache dance.

Pretty jabots and ruffles in white net, displaying a stamped pattern, are noticeable for their peculiar blending of white, gray and black tints.

Colored leather bags, about eight inches wide, are most fashionable—a moderate size somewhere between the very small and the enormous bags.

Many of the new tailored suits for winter show below the sailor collar, which is so popular, a false collar of stitching or more usually of braiding.

Satin scarfs are as popular as when they first appeared a month or so ago, but now it is velvet that is being used, and it is certainly rich and most becoming.

Some of the skirts now shown are here and there strapped and banded, but the acute "hobble" style, when shown at all, is offered with an air of deprecation.

Real Economy.

On Lord Dufferin's estate, near Belfast, there once stood a historic ruin, a castle which had been a stronghold of the O'Neils. One day Lord Dufferin visited it with his steward, Dan Mulligan, and drew a line with his stick round it, telling Mulligan that he was to build a protecting wall on that line. And then he went to India, feeling secure as to the preservation of the great historic building.

When he returned to Ireland he hastened to visit the castle. It was gone. He rubbed his eyes and looked again. Yes, gone it certainly was, leaving not a trace behind it. He sent for Dan and inquired:

"Where's the castle?"

"The castle, my lord? That old thing? Sure, I pulled it down to build the wall wid."

Seized Helpless Boy.

Held Him as a Shield, While Man Pumped Bullets at Him.

New York, Oct. 12.—A police dragnet, has been thrown out to-day to capture the man known by the name of "Picties," who last night seized a helpless 12-year-old boy, son of Chas. Fisher, and held the lad's body as a shield, while another man pumped bullets at him. The screaming boy fell with a bullet in his brain, while Harry Greenwald, known as "Big Clark," a prize fighter, who fired the shot, blew his brains out when pursued by a crowd.

Reciprocity in Natural Products.

Ottawa, October 14.—Though evidence is not lacking that the proposals for reciprocity negotiations with the United States are arousing a more or less concerted opposition, it is freely stated in Government circles that such negotiations will be proceeded with very shortly.

Probably but for Mr. Feilding's indisposition the Government's proposition would have gone forward ere this.

His intimation to Secretary Knox of his readiness to proceed is expected to be sent almost any time now.

This would look as though Canada were taking the initiative, but there is a denial that such is the case. It is stated that it was Mr. Knox who in June last wrote suggesting further conferences, which could not be gone on with at the time.

So far as can be ascertained the Government is disposed to look upon the impending negotiations as implementing, an undertaking of some months ago.

The view is further expressed that with the possible exception of agricultural machinery, the commodities to be considered will be natural products exclusively rather than manufactures.

Kidneys Act Fine And Backache Goes.

Whether old or young, no man or woman can make a mistake by taking a good kidney medicine any time.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder or feel a dull, constant ache in the back, sides or loins, or the urine is full of sediment or thick, cloudy and offensive, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin taking Pape's Diuretic, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure.

The time to cure kidney trouble is while it is only trouble—before it settles into Dropsy, Gravel, Bright's Disease or Diabetes.

Pape's Diuretic acts directly upon the kidneys, bladder and urinary system; heals, cleanses, vitalizes and regulates these organs, ducts and glands and completes the cure usually within a few days.

Lame back, painful stitches, rheumatism, Prostatic trouble, nervous headache, dizziness, irritability, sleeplessness, inflamed or puffy eyelids, bilious stomach or weak, worn-out tired feeling and other symptoms caused by sluggish, inactive kidneys disappear. Uncontrollable, smarting, frequent urination (especially at night) and all bladder misery ends.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will vouch for the responsibility of Pape, Thompson & Pape of Cincinnati, Ohio, who prepare Pape's Diuretic—50 cent treatment—sold by every druggist in the world.

Making a Cheek

Man's Arm Sewn to His Face.

With the skin of his right arm sewn to his face and the whole arm and head firmly enclosed in a heavy plaster cast, a patient at Guy's Hospital is now undergoing one of the most remarkable cures ever attempted at that institution.

As a result of a slowly developing growth on the right cheek most of the upper jaw and overlying tissues had to be removed six years ago. After the operation a hollow, large enough to hold an hen's egg and devoid of skin remained. The present operation is an attempt to cause a portion of the growing skin-tissues of the arm to take root over the denuded area so as to provide a new cheek.

At the operation, which was performed ten days ago, an area of skin two inches square was lifted from over the right biceps, so that three edges were free, the fourth side being left attached to the arm. The patient's arm was then raised and bent over the head, so that the bend of his elbow touched his forehead. The free end of the flap was then drawn over the sunken part of the cheek and stitched to the side of the nose and mouth. The whole arm and head were then firmly bandaged, and a strong plaster cast was applied.

DETERMINED PATIENT.

"The skin flap had to be left attached to the arm," one of the surgeons explained yesterday, "so that it could have some blood supply until new vessels have formed at the point where the flap is sewn to the nose.

In ten days' time that is three weeks after the operation, we shall cut away the square of skin from its remaining attachment on the arm and sew it over the remainder of the gap. We can then remove the patient's plaster cast and free him from his uncomfortable position."

As a rule these operations fail because the patient is unable to withstand the pain of his cramped position and tears the arm away before the flap has properly taken root.

"I had awful cramps continually the first four or five days," the patient stated, "but they are not so bad now. I have stood it for ten days already, so I think I can hold out to the finish."—Daily Mail.

The National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada Limited, have just received a letter from the West Coast of Africa which reached its proper destination although addressed in an extremely vague manner.
