The Manitoba Legislature will meet on Friday. It is expected that the school agreement will be promptly indorsed.

It is remarkable that "Rock of ages, cleft for me," translated into one of the Polynesian dialects, is made: "All the old stones split in two, let me get under a corner of one."

The Guelph Mercury summarizes the medical evidence recently given in these columns in reply to the question, "Do people eat too much?" and wisely concludes: "It is an interesting subject, but most of us, we guess, will jog along with three meals a day, including ecceteras—that is, if we can get them."

Says the Stratford Beacon: During the London election the practice was resorted to of packing votes in cigar boxes. At least cigar boxes were sold for $20 each which contained nothing else but the seller's vote. Our Conservative friends will enumerate this among the list of the industries which were inaugurated, and which thrived under their regime.

A London cable gives statistics showing that the annual consumption of intoxicants now averages $50 a head in Ireland, $4 in England, and $5 in Scotland. This will surprise a number of people. The English and Irish drink more beer than the Scotch, who take the more expensive triple of whisky.

The population of Germany, as shown in the last census, is found to be 52,779,901. While the German population steadily grows, that of France is practically at a standstill. This is where the French are at disadvantage when the question of forcibly taking back Alsace-Lorraine comes to be considered.

An interesting story has been detected on this continent, to the effect that from the commencement of the present year the citizens of Glasgow would be free from all taxes or rates in consequence of the profits derivable from what some people term "municipal monopolies," or, in other words, the civic administration of various departments of the public service, such as street tramways, gas, water, electric lighting, and the undertakings which are under the charge of the corporation. The Lord Provost of Glasgow, however, officially denies the statement. He asserts that while the municipal undertakings above mentioned have been eminently successful, there is no probability of this city being exempt from taxation. Time alone will tell just how much money Glasgow will save by control of her municipal privileges.

The latest order requiring theatres on the Queen's officers runs thus: "A report having been received in the department to the effect that it is getting the fashion in some regiments for young officers to shave the upper lip, the Secretary of State for War requests that you will be so good as to take such steps as you may think necessary to insure the provisions of the Queen's regulations being adhered to." Bare-faced men are not tolerated in the British army on any account.

Why will you allow a cough to incapacitate you through the winter? Run the risk of falling a consumptive's prey when, by the timely use of Bickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing, and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc., etc.

Tuesday Afternoon.

The following is the conclusion of yesterday afternoon's testimony at the London election trial: TELL-TALE TELEGRAMS. Frank McVein, John Evans, J. McMartin and Richard Ivey were called, but only the latter answered. Before his examination, Mr. Osier put in a telegram from Tooth, London, to Graydon, Detroit, which read: "Do not touch White on any account." (Signed) R. M. C. T.

Another telegram from Tooth to Wigmore read: "Montreal parcel goes by express this evening."

Another, to J. H. B. Toote, Sandwich, from R. M. C. Toote, London, read: "Come down at once; business of importance."

Another, to N. P. Graydon, Detroit, from R. M. C. Toote, London: "I refuse to pay Pepper." The other words of the message Mr. Toote would not admit.

Another, to Harold Richardson, Detroit, from R. M. C. Toote: "Send Harvey down at once."

RICHARD IVEY. Richard Ivey, sworn, said he lived on Queen street, this city, and voted at the last election. He went to the Conservative Club attic the afternoon before the election, to have a lunch. He got something to eat and drink.

J. L. Cooper was there; he had charge of the door. Cooper spoke to him at 5 o'clock. In consequence of this conversation, witness went down.

TO SEE MR. GRAY. President of the club, and told him that Cooper wanted to be relieved and go to supper. Gray wanted witness to take Cooper's place, and said he would make it all right. Witness obeyed Gray's instructions, and remained in charge of the door until 2 1/2 next morning.

Q.—Did you see Johnston? A.—Yes.

Q.—Why did you stop him from going to the window? A.—Yes.

Q.—Why? A.—Because he was attracting a crowd on the street.

Q.—How many were in there? A.—About 20 or 25.

Q.—What was Dr. Mitchell called for? A.—To attend to Johnston.

Q.—Did you see anyone take Pat Howard's money? A.—Yes, Frank Wright.

Q.—To Mr. Hellmuth witness denied that he had told Wm. Wheeler he would give evidence for whichever side would give him more money.

ALEX. HARVEY. Alex. Harvey produced the lease of the Conservative Club premises, which witness owned. The lease was for six years from Aug. 1, 1895. He presumed the club had put in the partition at the top of the first stairs leading to the second story.

To Mr. Hellmuth, witness said there was a joint right of way to the attic between himself and the club.

EDWARD WHITE. Edward White, sworn, said he was a voter in London at the last election, but did not vote. He was in Detroit at the time, and learned some one was looking after the London vote. Witness went to the Crawford House, Windsor, and saw Mr. Graydon in the morning. Witness asked Graydon if he had a vote, and Graydon asked him if he wanted to go to London. Witness said he did not care much. Graydon said, "It will cost you nothing to go." Witness said, "There's no pleasure in riding; is there anything else in it?" Graydon said, "There will be when you get there; I have a ticket here for you to go down." Witness asked how much there would be in it when he got to London. Graydon said, "A ten-spot—$10." Witness said, "I would like half of it now." Graydon said he couldn't do it, and told witness to go to the Russell House, Detroit. Witness saw Graydon the same night on a ferry-boat, and they walked up Woodward avenue, and parted on the corner of the Russell House. Witness and Graydon talked of the election, and witness said he thought he could get down without a ticket, and asked Graydon to to give you $10 to go to London. If you will sign the polling booth and say you can't read or write, and tell some one to mark your ballot." Graydon said he was afraid of witness, and wanted to make sure he would vote for Beattie.

Witness continuing, said he asked Graydon for $5 then, but Graydon refused. Witness said he would not go down on those conditions. WH-ness said he had met witness at Graydon next day, but he did not go.

To Mr. Hellmuth, witness said he had heard of the Detroit commission to take evidence. Witness admitted that at that time he was in the House of Correction at Detroit for 30 days for stealing. The 30 days were not up yet, but his brother had paid the fine of $25. He did not know who gave the money to his brother. A man came with Cooper and subpoenaed him in jail, giving him $10.

The evidence was interrupted here by a dog barking, and High Constable Schram sternly rebuked the audience for laughing.

Witness continuing, said Cooper told him he would get him out of jail, to attend the commission. Witness had been in jail six or seven times. He remembered going to jail in May, 1886. Mr. Hellmuth produced witness' police record, extending over several years. White denied that he had shipped to Detroit with a Mrs. McGowan. He had received nothing from Mr. Graydon. Once he was discharged from the Grand Trunk.

To Mr. Osier, witness said he had never been sentenced without the option of a fine. He thought he was the only London voter in Detroit named White.

"DON'T TOUCH WHITE." Mr. Osier—So you are the man about whom Toote telegraphed to Graydon, "Don't touch White on any account." (Laughter.)

FRANK McVEIN. Frank McVein (sworn) said he knew Ald. Carrothers, and heard him speak at the election before a Little Castellans Born With a Golden Spoon In His Mouth. An Avalanche of Precious Gifts Pouring in Upon the Household.

Paris, Jan. 19.—The young son of the Count and Countess de Castellane, and scion of the Franco-American alliance of nobility and wealth, may be said to be born with a golden spoon in his mouth. From the time his expected arrival was first heralded, he has been more talked of than anyone else in Paris' American colony, and for weeks an avalanche of priceless gifts has poured into the Castellane household. The richest and most tasteful of these have come from the mother's American relatives.

The lavette itself was bought with the Gould mine, and is the gift of Miss Helen Gould.

George Gould presented to his noble nephew a solid gold porringer, antique, wondrously engraved and crusted with gems.

A silver basin and cover are the gifts of the Edwin Goulds, while Mrs. Kingdon has sent a silver bath tub. These and many more rare gifts are sent from America to the shrine of the newest Castellane.

The Marquis of Castellane, the baby's paternal grandfather, has donated a gold, sapphire-ined, drinking mug, which has been in the family for centuries. The marquis gives a box of priceless old family lace.

Three young lives were destroyed by gas in a tenement house at Roxbury, Mass., Sunday night. The dead are: Mary N. Reynolds, 7 years old; Margaret H. Reynolds, 4 years old; Annie Connelly, 16 years old. John D. Reynolds, the father, discovered the dead children shortly after he arose in the morning. Carelessness or ignorance in the use of the fixtures was the supposed cause of the deaths.
