TRAVERS PUT OUT OF PLAY FOR TITLE

Hilton, of England, Wins by Three Up and Two to Play.

INSLEE'S TURN NEXT

But It Is Recognized That It Is Up to Evans to Stop Invader.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 14.—At the close of the fourth day of play in the amateur golf championship, the American defense against British golfing supremacy, as represented by Harold H. Hilton, of the Royal Liverpool Club, rests on Chas. W. Inslee, of the Wykeham Club, of New Rochelle, N. Y., and the winner of tomorrow's contest, between Frederick Herreshoff, player from the Elkwood Club, of Manchester, Vt., and Charles Evans, Junior, of the Edgewater club, Chicago. Hilton will play Inslee tomorrow.

Jerome D. Travers, twice a national champion, made a gallant effort in the third round today to stop the British champion, but went down on the 24th green by a score of 3 up and 2 to play. More than 5,000 golf enthusiasts thronged the 6,200 yards of the Apawamis course twice to see what was probably the greatest golfing struggle ever waged in this country.

PACKEY AND AD BREAK TRAINING

Both Greatly Disappointed at Outcome, May Meet in New York.

GOTHAM MEN WANT IT

McFarland Declares That Five Weeks of Hardest Work of Life Are Ahead.

Milwaukee, Sept. 14.—Lightweight champion Ad Wolgast broke training camp today and departed for his home at Cadillac, Mich. Tom Jones, his manager, departed for Chicago, accompanied by Danny Morgan, who looks after Knockout Brown's interests. It is reported that Jones and Morgan are negotiating to match the boys before a New York club. Judge McFarland, who tonight wired the Milwaukee Sentinel offering a $5,000 purse for a contest between Wolgast and McFarland, said: "Other clubs are said to be endeavoring to secure the Wolgast-McFarland bout, which was called off in Milwaukee, Chicago, Sept. 14. Packey and Ad were greatly disappointed today, when he learned that the bout with Ad would not be held here. He said: 'I suppose I will have to begin all over again, even if Wolgast will meet me. I hardly think it possible, however, that Wolgast will sign up again with me. I would like to take the fight to New York. We could get a $15,000 crowd there.'"

WOLGAST AGREES TO MEET BROWN

However, the Promoter Who Stages Mill Must Come Across With 15,000 Plunks.

Milwaukee, Sept. 14.—Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion of the world, agreed this afternoon to meet Knockout Brown, of New York, again after the signing off of the Wolgast-McFarland bout that was scheduled to take place at the Auditorium tomorrow night. All Ad wants is a guarantee of $5,000 to meet K. O. again or the best offer over this sum. He is obtainable. This leaves the match open to all clubs in the east.

THE BIBLE IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

General Synod Thursday Morning Devoted Much Time to the Subject.

MATTER WAS LAID OVER

Resolution Was Thrown Out So That Matter May Be More Effectively Dealt With by Provincial Synods.

At the General Synod yesterday morning considerable discussion arose over a message from the Upper House expressing regret at the absence of religious instruction in the public schools, and recommending that the clergy and others should avail themselves of all present facilities for the remedying of the present condition, and to co-operate wherever possible with the other religious bodies in order to secure Biblical instruction and the teaching of Christian principles in the schools of the various provinces.

Mr. L. H. Baldwin declared it would be absolutely useless to pass such a resolution. "It means absolutely nothing," he said, "and we are constantly weakening our position by sending out resolutions which are absolutely unworkable. The question is one for the provincial synods to take up."

Chancellor Weir moved on to the recommendation that the matter might be more effectively dealt with by the provincial synods. This motion carried.

Archdeacon Beer introduced a resolution in favor of reciprocity in beneficiary funds in all dioceses throughout Canada. It was referred to the committee on beneficiary funds.

The message from the Upper House in regard to the securing of a competent stenographer and a press committee to furnish reports to the newspapers was discussed at length.

Archdeacon Fordin complained that important deliberations of the synod had been passed over by the local press.

Rev. Dr. Sage pointed out that at this synod meeting the newspapers were largely crowded with political and exhibition news. It would require a staff of stenographers and typewriters to prepare full reports of the synod's sessions.

Chancellor Conbeare thought the expense would be too great. Rev. C. W. Vernon favored the appointment of an official reporter. The house voted non-concurrence in the message.

A significant motion was carried to appoint a committee to furnish reports to the press. Later a deputa-tion from the Upper House waited on the Lower House in regard to the appointment of a press committee and stenographer. Bishop Richardson, of Fredericton, stated the aim was twofold—to secure a wide publicity, and also to insure accuracy. Bishop Du Pender also urged the matter.

Judge McDonald objected to a Toronto paper having two pages of sporting news and only a small part of a column for the American Synod. The house at length agreed to employ a stenographer to assist the press committee.

In connection with the presentation of a report on the Lord's Day observance, Chancellor Davidson took occasion to refer favorably to the closing of the Lord's Day in London. No other Canadian city, he said, had more reason to be proud of the manner in which Sunday was kept.

The sixth session of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada was prorogued at 6 o'clock last evening by Archbishop Matheson of Rupert's Land, Primate of All Canada. His closing words were brief, and he took occasion to express appreciation of the kindness of the Bishops of Huron and the church people of London.

The closing address of the prolocutor of the Lower House, President Powell of Kingston, Coler, Nova Scotia, was in the nature of a reply to a vote of appreciation of the house for his services in presiding over its deliberations.

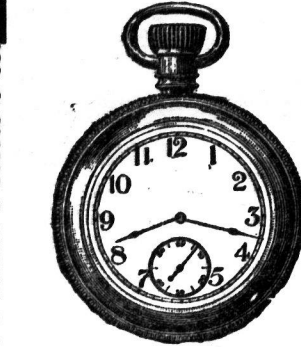

President Powell said in part: "The old Church of England in Canada is strong and true. I have no fear for its future. But we must not be visionary, we must not content ourselves with being mere dreamers of dreams. It is resolution we want far more than resolutions."

"There are three things in life—getting along and living. The commercialism of our age is content with the 'getting'. A higher aim of many is 'doing'. But a still higher thing is 'being'. We need boldness and sincerity in the hearts of men. We are a nation in the making. Let us build it on a solid foundation. We need the sterling principles of the Church of England."

A large part of the afternoon was devoted to a continuation of the discussion on the report of the committee on social and moral reform. One clause of the report created a great deal of criticism, favorable and adverse, and was at length struck out of the report. The clause read as follows: "The attention of your committee has been called to the charge, publicly made with some positiveness, and published in the newspapers, that impurity (social immorality) is increasing rapidly among the boys and girls of our public schools. Your committee is not prepared to pronounce upon the reliability of this grave charge, but if it be true, it is a most deplorable fact, and points to greater evils in the immediate future. It would seem, therefore, to be the duty of the church to organize a wise and vigorous effort on the part of parents and teachers to combat this evil, and to apply the remedy. Such a state of things as has been charged would point to a radical change in moral instruction. Your committee thinks that the church should demand the introduction into our public schools of a more systematic course of moral, based upon religious principles. Parents are perhaps the most natural teachers of their children in purity and chastity."

Many members of the synod took part in the discussion of the conditions in the public schools of Canada. Un-desirable conditions were alleged to exist in the schools of Ontario, the west and several of the eastern provinces. Specific cases of immorality arising in the public schools were reported from several cities and provinces.

Others, among whom was Rev. Principal Rexford, of Montreal, took the position that the clause was an unfair reflection on the public school systems of the provinces. Dr. Rexford declared that an entirely healthy condition of morality prevailed in the public school system.

Canon Murray, of Winnipeg, protested against the wording of the clause, and declared the conditions referred to, while existing in all schools to some extent, were diminishing, at least in the schools of Manitoba.

It was finally decided to cut out the clause, which caused the members to disagree, but a subsequent message from the Upper House was sent down embodying substantially the same expression of opinion, but omitting any reference to the public schools. It would seem, therefore, to be the duty of the church to organize a wise and vigorous effort on the part of parents and teachers to combat this evil, and to apply the remedy. Such a state of things as has been charged would point to a radical change in moral instruction. Your committee thinks that the church should demand the introduction into our public schools of a more systematic course of moral, based upon religious principles. Parents are perhaps the most natural teachers of their children in purity and chastity."

Two motions moved by Archdeacon Ingles, and dealing with the criminal law, were referred to the committee on moral and social reform.

"That in the view of this synod an addition should be made to the criminal law, making it impossible for offenders against the law prohibiting the business of vice to escape imprisonment by appealing from the magistrates' convictions, furnishing 'stand bail,' thus regaining liberty and then not proceeding with the appeal, but returning to their criminal life (or fleeing from justice).

"That in the view of this synod the best interests of morality would be served in the reformation of the fallen by the introduction of a system of probation and indeterminate sentence in dealing with those guilty of certain offenses."

Canon Tucker spoke strongly in report of the social and moral reform department for the Anglican Church. Other churches, he said, were doing a more active part in moral and social reform work.

Dean Schofield did not think that the Church of England should direct its concern itself with legislation. Canon Dyson Hague also thought that the work of the church should be spiritual, and not legislative.

Archdeacon Ingles declared that if the synod thought the work of the moral and social reform committee was not the work of the church should be engaged in, they should cut out the committee. It should not be regarded as a mere fad.

Canon Plummer declared that the report of the social and moral reform committee was the most important of the entire session. It dealt with questions which touch the lives and interests of 75 per cent of the people. Greater interest in the synod and the church would be manifested by both clergy and people if questions of vital interest, such as economic problems and the question of temperance were given greater attention.

A clause disapproving of segregation as a means of controlling prostitution was passed without discussion. The questions of temperance was briefly reported upon.

The report of a special committee on Mormonism was presented by Canon Scott in the form of a resolution: "That this synod, viewing with the deepest concern the spread of Mormonism and the active propaganda carried on by its agents in England and Canada, requests the committee on social and moral reform to appoint a sub-committee to endeavor to secure such legislation by the Dominion Parliament as will make it possible to cope with the evil."

The motion was carried and referred to the Upper House.

A member of the synod asked why no reference in the report was made to the moving picture show, the reading of "penny dreadfuls" and the cigarette habit. It was pointed out that the moving picture theatres, in Ontario at least, were now subject to a board of censorship.

With some other minor amendments the report of the committee as a whole was accepted.

A memorial from the Diocese of Huron in regard to the publishing of the banns of marriage was referred by the synod to the committee on the Prayer Book.

A resolution of appreciation of the work of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was moved by Rev. E. G. Miller, of the Diocese of Columbia.

Representatives of the Anglican Young People's Association was presented by Canon Starr, of Kingston.

Bishop Williams of Huron and Bishop Du Pender of New Westminster, with two delegates from the Lower House, President Powell and Dr. Davidson, were appointed to represent the Canadian Church at the next general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States. The Bishop of Toronto, the Bishop of Algoma and Sheriff Inkster and Canon Tucker were appointed substitutes.

Representatives of the Canadian Church at the next world's conference on faith and order were appointed, including the following from the House of Delegates: Dean Bidwell, Archdeacon Cody, Canon Davidson, Archdeacon Pentreath, Dr. Albert Smith, Canon Murray and Rev. Principal Parrott. Mr. L. H. Baldwin, Dr. W. S. Carter, Chancellor Campbell, Chancellor Davidson, Mr. P. H. Gilmour, Dr. Hoyle and Mr. Charles Jenkins.

Resolutions of thanks were passed by the synod to Bishop Williams, the rector and congregation of St. Paul's Cathedral, the mayor, the church people of London, the Bishop of Duluth, the Primate, Rev. H. A. B. Harrison, the local press and others.

A special resolution of appreciation was passed for the printing and unfinished business committee by the Lower House, and a special vote of thank was also tendered to Bishop and Mrs. Beck for hospitality and courtesies extended to the delegates.
