VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER Feb. 6 .- Mr. Pellew-Harvey's lectures on metallurgy under the auspices of the Dominion government ture a number of the simpler wet tests for minerals were shown. Mr. Harvey explained the essentials required in a prospector for test work. He referred to the fact of inexperienced mineral mineral well and the fact of inexperienced mineral well hold them for a while. ing one extra good specimen of a claim to the assayer, and showed that an average sample should be taken from the ore. He advised every miner to have his ore fore sending it to the smelter. The percentage charged by the smelter varied according to the character and composiion of the ore. The treatment of ores or the precious metals was briefly described and partially illustrated. Concentrating, milling and smelting of ores was described. The cyanide process was explained. At the conclusion of the ecture Mr. Harvey was warmly congratulated on his first public lecture in

He said, "I am not a citizen of this country, but I am a friend of it. The hearts of the lovers of England were lately stirred to consider the sources of her strength and the common patriotic idea naturally turned to her great armies and navies and the stout hearts and earnest conscience oof her people." Mr. Bayard ventured to remind them of the noiseless but ever potential forces which, by making England strong, should make his own country also strong. He meant those fountains of moral force found in the quiet homesteads which were the true basis of the world's advancement. He proceeded to eulogize the work of the clergy as the class which furnished a large share of the distinguished men of the country, a notable example being Nelson. This speech was received with
