THE HOOPER ENQUIRY.
Evidence of the conductor—Mrs. Hooper Taken from the Train Nearly Dead.
JOLIETTE, Nov. 3.—As Miss Stapely, to whom Hooper was engaged, has not yet arrived, Conductor Robitaille was the first witness called by the Crown in the Hooper case this morning. He testified that at 3.05 on the morning of Sept. 15 last accused boarded his train going towards Montreal, and at the next station, Maskinonge, gave him a message to send along the line saying, "Look out for crazy woman who jumped off the train." There was no signature to it. Then on Sept. 18, accused with his wife and her brother boarded his train at Lacorne. He asked permission to place her in the baggage car, as she was subject to hysterical fits and might cause a disturbance on the train. Leave was given at St. Henri Mascoche, where the brother got off. After leaving this station witness saw deceased lying on the floor with accused giving her something out of a tin cup. He said he was maintaining her lips.
The next station was Terrebonne, and the woman was taken from the car almost dead. Next day witness met the accused at Mile End Station, and Hooper said that an autopsy had been held at Terrebonne and that consumption and heart disease had been found to be the cause of death. Cleophas Bolduc, brakeman, testified that at 2.55 on the morning of Sept. 18, he saw Hooper and his wife both get off on the side of the train next to the tracks at Louiseville. She did not jump off, but witness told them they were on the wrong side, and Hooper said it was all right. Conductor Robitaille was in charge of this train, swore that Hooper with his wife had boarded his train at Montreal, and both had tickets for Three Rivers, three stations below Louiseville.
P. Dussable, station agent at Lacorne, gave evidence of Hooper having told him, before getting on the train on the day of his wife's death that she was in consumption, and had only been given 15 days to live by the doctors.

Independent Order Foresters.
The Rev. D. V. Lucas sailed on Thursday for England, where he intends entering the organizing work throughout England and the Continent. Deputy Supreme Secretary McDougall of England writes that the High Court of Mid-England, which is one of the five high courts instituted by Dr. Oroslyatska last May, having then only six subordinate courts, has now 21 subordinate courts, with a number of others in process of formation, which shows that the work in the Old Land is being vigorously and successfully pushed forward. During the past few days the following new courts have been instituted: Court Providence No. 1407 at Cleveland, O.; George Washington No. 1199 at New Haven, Mich.; Pride of Scotland No. 1409 at Morpeth, Ont.; Middleville No. 1410 at Middleville, Ont.; Anfield No. 2008 at Liverpool, Eng.; and Hiramite No. 2072 at Barrow-in-Furness, Eng.

HIS ARTIFICIAL VOICE.
With Bellows and Valves a Mute is Enabled to Speak to an Audience.
At one of the recent sessions of the French Academy of Medicine, Dr. Perier, surgeon of the Lariboisiere Hospital, presented for the examination of his colleagues a mute who expressed all his ideas by speech, that is to say, by modulated sounds. The history of this man is most curious and interesting from a scientific point of view.
He was habitually enjoying robust health when he was stricken with an incurable affection of the larynx, the first symptoms of which were observed in January, 1901. Tried of the treatment that he had to undergo for two years, he expressed a desire to be operated upon as radically as possible.
Fortified with the authorization, Dr. Perier proceeded on the 12th of June last to operate upon him for the total extirpation of the larynx. Every one knows that the region of the larynx contains the very organ of the voice, and the vocal apparatus of man, if it is indisputably the most delicate, is the most perfect of that of the higher beings. Its destruction through disease or accident is consequently followed by aphonia. The operation once terminated according to the rules of art, the skillful surgeon formed in the anterior wall of the neck a small orifice which he left open. This orifice, consequently communicated with both the exterior and the pharynx, was reserved for experimental purposes. It was in charge of this orifice, and was in charge of the patient's voice by means of an artificial larynx. Convalescence proceeded quickly, and on the 29th of the month of the patient was sufficiently re-established to permit of such experiments.
In concert with Mr. Aubry, manufacturer of musical instruments, Dr. Perier directed these tentative toward the adaptation of an artificial larynx, actuated by a blowing device, and not by the air issuing from the trachea. The apparatus, relatively simple, that they decided to adopt, consisted of a metallic reed, enclosed in a tube, and the plates of which, arranged in contrary directions, radiate half of each at each extremity. This tube terminates above in a spherical surface, capable of being applied hermetically to the orifice in the front of the neck. Below, it is connected with two elastic reservoirs, coupled and mounted upon a metallic S-shaped armature, permitting of one communicating with the other, in order to obtain a continuous current of air of constant intensity. One of the reservoirs is put in communication with a blowing device formed of a bulb similar to those that actuate vaporizers. Under the effect of the current of air, the metallic reed enters into vibration and emits a constant note of uniform tonality, which is approximately that of the ordinary diapason. The sound thus produced is led, so to speak, into the buccal cavity.
It remains, then, in order to convert it into true spoken language, only to make it undergo, through the intermedium of the tongue, lips, and teeth, as in ordinary phonation, the series of modifications that produce the nuances and the difference in the pronunciation of words. These nuances, as incredible as the fact may seem at first sight, are, it appears, obtained quite easily. An education of a few days suffices. The whole apparatus, after receiving his operator's permission, to retrace the history and detailed phases of his painful disease with a voice that was distinct, although of a low and monotonous tone.—Le Wagasin Pit
