Weeds grow with amazing rapidity at this season, and are likely to choke out late planted seeds unless the ground is kept cultivated, even before the seedlings appear. Many gardeners use a few radish seeds with the other vegetables, as the radishes comes up very quickly and mark the rows. This is really a good plan, as the radishes may be allowed to remain until large enough to eat. Another method is to sprinkle a little lime along the rows or above the hills after the seeds have been covered.

Local Happenings

The first of the Winter monthly social gatherings under the auspices of St. James Church Organized Bible Class, will be held in the school room this (Wednesday) evening, 7.50 to 9 o'clock. Thanks to the kindness of friends, old and new, the committee have an unusually good programme arranged for this occasion.

Miss Pearl Beeler, who is home from the U. S. spending a short time with her mother, was "surprised" by a number of her friends one evening last week. The visitors were made very welcome and enjoyed the evening very much in games and social intercourse. Dainty refreshments were served.

Special on Onions, this week only, 100 lb, bag for $3.85 cash at B. N. MESSINGERS.

The Monitor is in receipt of a handsome American beauty rose picked on Nov. 8th in the garden of Mrs. James L. Simmons, Round Hill. It was bearing at the time six sprays each containing two roses opening out. This is a most unusual occurrence at this season of the year.

Rev. A. J. Prosser will speak at Lawrence town at a joint meeting of the congregations there in behalf of the Children's Aid Society work on Friday evening of this week.

Mrs. Henry Munro, of Eureka, received first prize at the Picton Exhibition for knitting. This lady is 92 years of age. She did this knitting in August, while visiting Miss Dalmeny Miller, New Glasgow. She is a staunch Liberal and voted for the first time at the last Dominion election. She is also a faithful Presbyterian, strongly opposed to Church Union. She converses fluently on all current events and delights in an argument on either politics or Church Union.—Eastern Chronicle.

Few National occasions pass without some observance of them in St. James' Church, and Armistice Day was no exception to this rule. On Sunday morning the Rector preached from the words "And Herein is That Saying True, one Soweth, and another Reapeth". (St. John 4 v. 37). In the evening the service took the form of a memorial for those who fell in the great war, and he selected his text from the forty-fourth chapter of the book of Ecclesiasticus as follows: "Let us now praise famous men. . . . There be of them that have left a name behind them, that their praises might be reported. And some there be which have no memorial. . . . But these were merciful men, whose righteousness hath not been forgotten. . . . Their bodies are buried in peace; but their name liveth forever more. . . . and the congregation will show forth their praise." The practical point of the sermon was that memorials of whatever kind have a forward as well as a backward look. Thus a poet was inspired to put the following words upon the lips of those who sacrificed their lives:

"All we had we gave,
All that was ours to give,
Freely surrendered all
That you in peace might live.
In trench, and field, and many seas
We lie,
We who in dying shall not ever die,
If only you, in honor of the slain,
Shall surely see we did not die in vain.
We made our sacrifice,
Love of those loved we left,
Home and the simple joys,
Homes now of love bereft,
But after striving greatly we can sleep
Content we soweth that other lives
may reap.
If only you in honor of the slain,
Shall surely see we did not die in vain."
After the sermon special memorial prayers and thanksgivings were used, and the service brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.
On Monday (Thanksgiving Day) a short service, without sermon, was held at 11 a.m.

PHILA. IMAGINATION
(Edmonton Journal.)
The Philadelphia Public Ledger is prepared to believe that "a snowdrop Cinderella, a Canadian beauty born and bred in a country where Winter lasts most of the year" has captured the heart of the Prince of Wales. It pictures the future queen "bundled in her little woolly cap, her knickers and her high fitting boots, throwing snowballs and flying like a snow fairy on her skis, her fur coat flying backward to bare for Jack Frost's kiss a neck pink and rosy with the glow of health."
The portrait is a very alluring one, but unfortunately the Prince will have to content himself with imagining what his prospective bride looks like in the costume described. She would have found it very uncomfortable if she had presented herself in it to the Prince during either of the two Octobers that he has been in Canada.

PORK PACK PLANNED IN PICTOU
New Glasgow.—That the farmers of Pictou County will establish a pork packing plant at some central spot in the country was the sentiment of the meeting called in Stellarton. While no definite steps were taken until further information is secured, a committee composed of Ex-Warden Thompson, of Merigomish; Howard Kennedy, of Stellarton; and Daniel MacDonald, of Sylvester, President of the Pictou County Dairy Co., was appointed to collect information. Professor Treman, of Truro, and W. A. McKay, Supt. of Dairies, assured the meeting of the Department of Agriculture would assist.
That Nova Scotia had not increased in hog raising while the central and western provinces have gone rapidly ahead was the statement made by Mr. McKay, and he impressed upon the farmers the importance of increasing the number of hogs. He outlined the experience of Ontario in supporting small packing plants, operating profitably, and told that the same could be done in Pictou County.

THE SEXTON

Nigh to a grave that was newly made,
Leaned a sexton old on his earth-worn spade;
His work was done, and he paused to wait
The funeral train at the open gate.
A relic of by-gone days was he,
And his locks were grey as the foamy sea;
And these words came from his lips
So thin:
"I gather them in—I gather them in—
I gather them in for man and boy
Tear after year of grief and joy,
I've buried the homes that lie around
In every nook of this burial ground,
Mother and daughter, father and son,
Come to my solitude one by one!
But come they stranger, or come they kin,
I gather them in—I gather them in.
"Many are with me, yet I'm alone;
I'm the King of the Dead, and I make my throne
On a monument slab of marble cold—
My sceptre of rule is the spade I hold,
Come they from cottage, or come they from hall,
Mankind are my subject—all—all—all!
May they loiter in pleasure, or toll-
fully spin,
I gather them in—I gather them in.
I gather them in, and their final rest
Is here, down here, in the earth's dark breast—"
And the sexton ceased, as the funeral train
Wound mutely over that solemn plain;
And I said to myself: When time is told,
A mightier voice than that sexton's
old,
Will be heard o'er the last trump's dreadful din:
"I gather them in—I gather them in,
Gather—gather—gather them in!"
