

the pilgrimages to this sacred shrine remind one of the Caaba of Mecca in the Middle Ages. Chinese from all quarters, Thibetans and border tribes, come here. They circle around, they bow,

A BUDDHIST PRIEST, CHINA.

they pray, they make their sacrifices. The sacred elephant is not less sacred to them than the black stone of the Caaba was to the ancient Arabians.