Keiser, Alfred B. Sent home Feb. 22nd, for misconduct.

PERSONALITIES.

Mrs. William Otto and Miss Otto, of Haliburton, paid a couple of days' visit last week to Charles Otto, one of our first year pupils.

Miss Mabel Ball and Miss Connelley are frequent visitors to their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Gustaf, of Detroit, as are also Florence and Matilda Lafferty.

Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet's name has been given a place on the walls of the new U. S. Congressional library building. A well merited tribute to the great benefactor of the deaf.

Miss Margaret Hutchinson, one of our old pupils, at Kendall School for the Deaf, Washington, attended President and Mrs. Cleveland's reception on the evening of the 18th ult. She enjoyed the function very much.

Mr. William N. Stewart, of Alliston, Ontario, an old pupil, would be glad to hear from some of his former friends at the Institution. He has a little house where he lives all alone, and the latch string hangs out for any of his old friends who travel that way. William is old enough to be married but he has not succeeded in that particular as well as in some others, -but there is hope for him yet.

MARRIED.

GRANT MASON. On Feb. 16th, 1897, at the residence of A. W. Mason, No. 1 Garden Ave., Toronto, by the Rev. Mr. Rankin, George William Grant, of Fairfax, Manitoba to Elizabeth Anne Walters Mason, of Toronto.

The End of the World

BY M. A. NICHOLS

Don't you remember when you and I
Once in the golden July weather
Made up our very small minds to try
To walk to the end of the world together?
You were just three and I was five
How we danced through the sunset
Surely the happiest pair alive
Telling each other, over and over
"Maud, you're a little fairy queen"
"Jack you're a prince with cap and sword"
We won't come back to tell what we saw
Till we find the end of the world together.

A score of years have passed since then
Bringing the storm and the sunshine
What would you think should I ask you
"Shall we walk to the end of the world"
Home on the wings of the swallow
Come a breath of the same sweet air
Your soul looks out of your face so fair
And my heart is stringing over and over
"I am the prince and you are my queen"
Then look in the future and answer me
Through every possible changing scene
We may walk to the end of the world together.

PUPILS' LOCALS

From the Boys' Side of the Institution.

[BY HENRY ROBERTS]

-It seems as if the people here had the advantage of the good sleighing. The business is quite brisk these days.

-Joseph Dubois had the misfortune to hurt one of his thumbs, but it is all right now. He did it while playing hockey in the city.

-The 12th inst. will be the anniversary of the birth of our head teacher Professor Coleman, but it is likely that he will decline to give his age.

-Charles C. Dool is distinguished himself as a good carpenter and cabinet maker, as he is to be seen daily working at wood and making splendid articles.

-Rosa Benoit, who began to work in the printing office at the beginning of the present term, has left as he says he does not want to learn the printing trade.

-George Munroe, an all day pupil in the printing office, was pleased to learn that his uncle had opened a restaurant in Woodstock and is prepared to give anyone a meal.

-Miss B. Blakely, an attendant was called home on account of her mother's serious illness, and Miss Daisy Hindley, sister of our head cook, is filling her place until she returns.

-The reporter of these paragraphs has not forgotten to thank Mrs. Foran, one of the teachers here, for her kindness in presenting him with a long pencil and compass for artistic work.

-Our little chaps had their hair clipped off by Thomas Green a few days ago, now they resemble a flock of sheep, but are only bipes to tell the difference. This will probably be the last time they will have it clipped this season.

-Several of our hockeyists went to the city in the evening of the 18th ult. to witness a hockey match between Belleville and Napanee, but were disappointed to find that the match had been postponed on account of poor ice.

-It is most certain that Frank B. Scott, a pupil of the junior class, will not return to this school again as his parents have moved to Chicago, and he will attend a private deaf school in "Windy City" which is not far from his future home.

-Mr. Keith, our supervisor, while skating on the rink one afternoon last had the misfortune to stumble over one of the girls who had fallen down before him. A sore back and a lump on his thigh was the result of the accident, but this, however, compelled him to get up and remain for a few days, and caused Mr. McKillop to rise earlier than usual from his slumbers to take the lag man's place.

-Hugh Carson, a pupil here, was suddenly stunned to hear of the death of his cousin, William A. Carson, died on Saturday, Feb. 18th ult. The following from the Shelburne News: "On Saturday last, William A. Carson, son of Mr. Hugh Carson, died at his home here. About one year ago he had a serious hemorrhage of the lungs. He was living at Greenboro, engaged in the photographing business, and was brought home by his father. Notwithstanding the best of medical attention he never recovered his health. The funeral, which took place to Shelburne cemetery on Monday, was largely attended. William was outlasted by all who had the honor of his acquaintance."
