

HALF A GLEE CLUB ONLY.

Bass to the left of them,
Tenors to right of them,
Banjos behind them,
Now to the right of them,
Now to the left of them,
Now to the front of them,
Strachan stood and thundered.

Bass made an awful try,
Tenors looked ready to die,
One more spasmodic try,
Ten fellows only;
"Old Folks at Home" they sang,
Some sort of bells they rang,
Then all the banjos twanged
Trying a medley, while
The gallery wondered.

"Scot's wha hae" next they took,
Roared till the rafters shook,
Some thought it thundered;
There stood that little band,
Almost dumbfounded,
Then they sat down as not,
Not having blundered.

Strachan to the right of them,
Strachan to the left of them,
Strachan behind them,
Twisting and turning;
Sweat came from every pore,
As he thought of the club of yore,
Then vowed he'd sing no more
With ten fellows only.

Why should their glory fade?
Why, when such sounds they made,
Ten fellows only?
Honor that little crowd,
Honor the voices loud,
Of ten fellows only.

Convocation Hall, Dec 12th, 1890.

LEARN EVERETT SHORTHAND.

- 1.—Because it is particularly adapted to College work, having been invented by that distinguished British Scientist, Prof. Everett, of Queen's College, Belfast, who thoroughly understands what a College student requires.
  - 2.—It is the briefest legible system extant.
  - 3.—It is simplicity itself, easy to write, easy to learn and easy to read.
  - 4.—Hardly any grammalogues, while in Pitmanic systems these are counted by the thousand.
  - 5.—Vowels are indicated even in the briefest reporting, therefore unfamiliar words in Greek or Latin can be written at speed and read afterwards—a feature which no other system can boast of.
  - 6.—No one who has mastered its principles has given it up for another system, while numbers have abandoned the Pitman systems and use Everett's.
  - 7.—No need of a teacher, simply procure a text book and learn the system yourself during the holidays.
