RETURNED MEN NOT ABLE FOR HEAVY WORK

Veterans' Association Looking After Problem of Unemployed Must Effectively, But Need Help.

The G. W. V. A. is dealing quite effectively with the problem of unemployment within its ranks, and one of the officers at headquarters stated that the soldiers and commission were referring many of its applicants to the Veterans' Association. "If only we could get the manufacturers and employers in the city and elsewhere to realize the condition of our returned men our path would be easier," said this man. "So many employers place the returned men at very hard work. Now, anyone who knows the condition of the wounded returned men must realize how much they are against it when called upon to do real heavy manual work. In many cases he is unable to do it, no matter if he were paid 90 cents an hour."

ARMY COMMISSIONER HERE

Is on Way to China to Take Up Work for Civilians.

Commissioner Jeffries of the Salvation Army arrived in town on Thursday and will be here the remainder of the week, conducting services in the Central Temple on Albert street on Sunday evening, and at Dovercourt Temple at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Commissioner Jeffries is on his way to China to take up work for the Salvation Army there. He goes through Chicago, Winnipeg and Vancouver, holding meetings at each of those places. On his way from England he stayed over at Halifax, reaching the desolate city the day after the explosion. He conducted watchnight services there New Year's Eve.

ATTACKED BY BEAR

Carl Atkins, However, Was a Match for Adversary.

While out rabbit shooting in the vicinity of Bobcaygeon Carl Atkins, well-known drygoods man of Toronto, almost fell into the paws of a huge black bear. Mr. Atkins left camp one morning thinking he would get a few rabbits. On entering a large swamp he met brain, but at once showed signs of being attacked. Atkins furiously, armed only with a hunting knife, realized his danger, but being an experienced hunter he knew exactly how to handle his adversary. As his legs, but before he could clutch his rifle the latter sprang forward and disarmed him. Atkins then made good his retreat, and receiving a rifle from a nearby farmer returned to the scene of his adventure, but found the bear had died to death.

Mr. Atkins arrived back in Toronto on Wednesday. The bear weighed 375 pounds.

LETTERS FROM SOLDIERS

Ex-Conductors on Street Railway Write to W. D. Robbins.

W. D. Robbins, secretary of the local union of street railwaymen, and recently elected to the Toronto board of control, has received word from two ex-conductors now in Britain and Planders. One of his correspondents stated that the peace fund has reduced his wife's allowance by $1.75 a month since she moved to Sharon. He guessed "Tommy" would maintain his seat in the mayoral chair.

PRIVATE BILLS SOUGHT

Scarboro and Etobicoke Want Waterworks Assessment Legislation.

Among other applications for private bills received for the coming session of the Ontario Legislature is one from William asks for the passing and confirming of a bylaw to raise $225,000 to meet deficits in the operation of the electric railway. The debentures are for 20 years, and every year since 1914 there has been a deficit.

Scarboro and Etobicoke Townships ask for an act to enable them to assess the entire cost of a waterworks system on the residents and to require the City of Toronto to supply water on terms to be agreed upon. Further request is made for power to establish a garbage and ashes collection.

The incorporation of the Village of Magnetawan, in the district of Parry Sound, forms the basis of another application.

SENT SWEETS TO SOLDIERS

The executive of the Canadian War Contingent Association met yesterday afternoon at 56 Church street, when reports were given of the splendid work done during the Christmas season. Forty-two tons of maple sugar was sent for distribution among the boys in the trenches. A Christmas parcel was sent to every one of the 73 Canadians—many from Toronto—serving with the imperial army in East Africa. Plans for future work were also discussed.

WOMAN MOTOR DRIVER

The meeting of the Heliconian Club this afternoon will be in the form of a farewell to Miss Estelle Kerr, who goes overseas shortly to drive a motor van for supplies to hospitals in France.
