ONE THING AT A TIME.

The Clerk of the Divisional Court Legally Qualified to Sign in their Proper Order.

Osgoode Hall, Jan. 30, 1896.
In Smith v. Logan, W. H. Blake moved before the Court of Appeal, unopposed, for the Divisional Court in this curious case. The plaintiff's solicitor was engaged with the Clerk of the Court in the signing judgment for default of appearance when the defendant's solicitor came into the office with the judgment signed. The work was engaged in until the signing of judgment was completed, and when he had done so, appearance was useless. The Divisional Court (Street, J., dissenting), on appeal from the Divisional Court, allowing defendant to defend held that the clerk acted properly in not leaving the matter to the plaintiff, and that he had completed it, and that even if he had taken the appearance, the time having expired for its filing was of no avail without notice (rule 23), and the plaintiff was not obliged to wait for such notice. This case emphasizes the importance of being careful of one's appearance, for the full Court of Appeal actually reversed judgment. W. H. Blake for defendant. Aylesworth, C.C., for plaintiff.

The argument in Garland's case against the City was concluded, and judgment reserved.

In Wilson v. Gibbard another interesting point under the Law Courts Act was raised. On Dec. 10, 1895, the Chambers Divisional Court in this case was engaged with the Clerk of the Court in the signing judgment for default of appearance when the defendant's solicitor came into the office with the judgment signed. The work was engaged in until the signing of judgment was completed, and when he had done so, appearance was useless. The Divisional Court (Street, J., dissenting), on appeal from the Divisional Court, allowing defendant to defend held that the clerk acted properly in not leaving the matter to the plaintiff, and that he had completed it, and that even if he had taken the appearance, the time having expired for its filing was of no avail without notice (rule 23), and the plaintiff was not obliged to wait for such notice. This case emphasizes the importance of being careful of one's appearance, for the full Court of Appeal actually reversed judgment. W. H. Blake for defendant. Aylesworth, C.C., for plaintiff.

A FORWARD MOVE.
Gen. Barattieri Demands Release of the Italian Prisoners.
Rome, Jan. 30.—Gen. Barattieri, commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in Abyssinia, has sent a trader named Felter to the camp of Ras Nakonnen, commanding the native army, demanding the release of the Italian column under Col. Gianni, which was besieged in the fortress at Makalle by the Abyssinians, and recently reported to have evacuated that position. Felter's forces are advancing. They were within 20 kilometers of the outskirts of Barattieri's army when this despatch was sent, and a conflict between the opposing forces was imminent. Gen. Barattieri has 25,000 men and 60 cannon.

Studio Day.
The real object of "Studio Day" was not at first understood. It was not realized that the artists were opening their studios to the public generally who were interested in pictures, sculpture, etc., and that such might visit all studios given in the published list.

Tomorrow afternoon the following artists will be open to visitors from 2 until 5 o'clock:

Spats Shows Contempt for Euse Sam.
Madrid, Jan. 30.—In official circles no importance is attached to the resolution reported to the United States Senate yesterday by its Committee on Foreign Relations, relative to Cuba, nor is any particular attention paid to it by the public in general. A special despatch from Washington to the Imparcial describes it as laughable.

Every person who is deprived of outdoor air and exercise, should take Miller's Compound Iron Pills. They keep the bowels regular and tone up the nervous system. 50 doses for 25 cents.

The Canadian Institute.
The following papers will be read at the Canadian Institute next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock: "Wales and its Literature," by Rev. Neil MacNish, LL.D., and "The Celt in Ancient Egypt and Babylonia," by Rev. Prof. Campbell, LL.D.

Not to be Overlooked.
The Attorney-General's Department, after considering the shooting of Mr. Harrison of Brampton, by her son, has decided that the father should be held liable, the boy not being to blame in any way. Mr. A. J. Wilkes, the local acting district attorney, has been instructed to drop the case.

Sentence Suspended.
Camerton Laughlin, who was convicted recently of appropriating to his own use a horse and buggy belonging to Mark Maynard, was yesterday allowed to go on suspended sentence by Judge Robertson.

THE Broad Gauge in Retail

Current conditions in this business are fraught with large encouragement. Greatly increasing sales give an echoing response to the courage of our buyers. To-day the last of January. To-morrow we step noiselessly into the second month of the new year. But the step has significance. It is a step in advance, as every step is with this store. Stock-taking lists were closed with the close of January, and in all the many departments newness, the newness of new goods opened in large quantities, comes in with February. Therefore our policy broadens and deepens constantly.
