have never yet been able to pass each other comfortably, and it's equally impossible to crowd an acre stock into less than an acre of room. Almost everybody knows we're putting up a new building, but not one in ten fully realizes how cramped we are for room. Pulling down the outside wall and making space for the builders is the cause of more inconvenience than we can ever express. It's a means to an end though and makes us more anxious to reduce stocks than we otherwise would be. You reap the benefit in such prices as these:

Mr. A. E. Crossin, who was waylaid by two blackmailers in the vicinity, of Riverside Park the other evening, deserves the thanks of citizens for his determination to bring the scoundrels to justice. It would have been much easier for him to pay the money demanded by the two men than to undergo the annoyance and loss of time necessary in prosecuting the offenders. It is said a good deal of this kind of blackmail is prevalent in different parts of the city, especially in the neighborhood of parks. It is to be hoped that such a sentence will be meted out to these men, if they are found guilty, as will put a stop to this form of blackmail in the future.

Old fashioned Bicycles seem positively absurd in these days of low wheels and pneumatic tires, and yet the contract is no more remarkable than the difference between stores. In this intense age conditions are constantly changing, and smart business men are expected to change with them. Aside from new goods and new styles you can usually find here as fresh infusion of new brains. The store is advancing and ideas are expanding all the time. That means new methods as often as they're found to be reliable.

An inspiration of this sort was the Early Closing at 5 o'clock last summer. We said then and we repeat now that the experiment was a pronounced success. In a little while we may have more to say regarding it.
