MUSICAL CIRCLES

Recital at the Conservatory of Music—Christ Church Concert.

A splendid recital was given by the pupils of Miss Brown, assisted by two of Miss Proudfoot's pupils, at the Conservatory of Music last night, before a critical audience, who were delighted with the excellent rendering of the different numbers. The programme was varied, and gave plenty of scope for bringing out the different characteristics of the work of the pupils. The recital was most creditable to Misses Brown and Proudfoot. The programme:

An den Fruhling Greig
Miss Mary O'Flaherty.
Ave Maria (Cavalleria Rusticana) Mascagni
Miss Edith McLeod.
The Clang of the Hammer Bonheur
Mr. Lewis Hambly.
Consolation No. 5 Liszt
Mr. Charles Marsh.
Song, Sweet Bird Ganz
Miss Millie Sparkman.
The Resurrection Morn Dorney
Mr. R. Albert Brown.
Cupid and I (the Serenade) Herbert
Miss Margaret Gunn.
Fantasie Impromptu Chopin
Mr. Charles Marsh.
Love's Sorrow Shelley
Mr. Arthur Ash.
Romance, Count'st Thou but Know Balfe
Miss Agnes Templeton.
CHRIST CHURCH CONCERT.

A most successful concert was given at Christ Church last evening, before a large and appreciative audience, under the direction of Mr. J. T. Dalton, the efficient choirmaster. The different numbers were all well received, encores being numerous. Among those taking part were Rev. J. H. Moorhouse, Dr. Crawford, Miss Sylvia Warren, Miss Myra Pickard, Mr. Rosalie Pockocke, Mr. Court Irwin, Mr. Albert Riddle, Mr. A. E. Galpin, the "reorganized and only Imperial Male Quartet," Mr. C. E. Wheeler, Mr. Fred Fitzgerald, Miss M. Brown, Mr. Chas. Hall, Mrs. Court Irwin and Mr. W. A. Bluthner.

Good Blood!

Does your heart send good or bad blood to your brain? If bad, impure blood, then your brain aches. You are troubled with drowsiness, yet cannot sleep. You are as tired in the morning as at night. You have no nerve power. Your food does you but little good. Stimulants, tonics, headache powders cannot cure you; but

OLGA NETHERSOLE TO PRODUCE "SAPHO" NEXT SEASON.

Olga Nethersole is to make a big production of Daudet's "Sapho" next season. Clyde Fitch, the well-known dramatic author, has been commissioned by Miss Nethersole to make a dramatization of the great French work. During Miss Nethersole's vacation in London she will make the preparations for its production in America in the fall.

NON-JURY COURT.

At the non-jury sittings yesterday, before Mr. Justice Meredith, the case of Elizabeth L. McGregor of Caradoc, vs. Robert Kilbourne, of Delaware, was heard. This was an action to recover three acres of land, for an order for the sale of certain lands, and to have an account taken of the rents and profits on the same, and a proper share thereof paid to the plaintiff. The judge refused the application to recover three acres of land, but found in favor of the plaintiff for $300, which is three-quarters of the rent for five years; referred to the master for administration of the estate, and sale of the farm, if the parties desire. No costs to either party. Stuart, Stuart & Ross for plaintiff; Fraser & Fraser for defendant.

WATER COMMISSIONERS MEET.

It was expected that Mr. J. Kennedy, of Montreal, would be present at the regular session of the water commissioners yesterday afternoon to consult with the board regarding the building of the dam at Springbank, but he was unable to come.

It was recommended by Superintendent Moore that a 4-inch main be laid on Regent street, from Richmond to Wellington streets. The distance is 700 feet and would cost $350.

A main will be laid on Princess avenue from English street, 200 feet east, at a cost of $100. The wrought iron main on Piccadilly street will be replaced. The expense will be $350.

The hospital service will be extended to the contagious buildings. The cost will be borne by hospital committee. Water supply for the coming camp was applied for. Nearly four thousand men will be under canvas. Referred to Sup. Moore.

While Lancaster's agreement re the erection of a bathhouse at Springbank was referred to the city solicitor for approval. P. Inkster's application for a main on Inkerman street was referred to Sup. Moore.

All the members were present.

OLGA NETHERSOLE TOMORROW NIGHT.

Olga Nethersole will appear at the Grand tomorrow night in her great success, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." An exchange says: "It is not paying Miss Nethersole too high a compliment to say that by her performance in 'The Second Mrs. Tanqueray' she showed Piner's great play in a new light, it was in this role that Mrs. Kendal made the one great failure of her stage career. Miss Nethersole surprised her auditors last night, and it would be hard to imagine a more beautiful piece of acting than Miss Nethersole showed in the second act, in the scene where she entreats her stepdaughter Ellean to love her. Two or three of the later scenes—particularly the third act finale where Paula peers into the hand-glass and finds her whole life's history written in her face—were superbly done. It is a great pity that Miss Nethersole did not open here in 'The Second Mrs. Tanqueray.' Her Paula is worthy to be ranked with those really wonderful performances of Camille and Denise which she gave during her first two seasons here. The play is beautifully mounted, and Miss Nethersole has produced the play in a manner to win praise from Piner himself. No lover of a great role finely acted can afford to miss Miss Nethersole's Paula.—New York Evening Sun, Jan. 17, 1893.

LONDON PRES. COUNCIL

Drawing Power of the Cross Vs. Drawing Power of Entertainment and Sensationalism.

The regular meeting of the London Presbyterian Council met on Monday evening in St. Andrew's lecture room, Mr. A. S. Macgregor in the chair, during the first half of the meeting, until the arrival of the vice-president, Rev. Walter Moffat. Several items of business were disposed of. Among other things, a vote of thanks was passed to The Advertiser, for having published a verbatim report of the Cromwellian sermon by Rev. Dr. Parker, of London, England, thus giving the community an opportunity of judging for themselves of the opinions so strongly expressed. Secretary Armstrong and Mr. John Macpherson regarded the great sermon as worthy of every commendation.

The topic for discussion traversed the following points: Are our congregations doing all they can to reach the people? Are our present methods regular ministrations? Are our present methods perfection, as to reaching those outside? Do the times call for any change of method or of service? It was pointed out that the real subject was not merely how to draw the crowd, by sensational methods, for example, or by catch-subjects, nor even how to promote church finances by means of the crowd. It was to be presumed that if any congregation did its full religious duty, God would not permit it, any more than the individual, to be left without needed material supplies. Among the suggestions at the previous meeting was this, that the power of a congregation, as a drawing-in agency, would be greatly increased if it were possible to create such a warmth of Christian sympathy and equality as would level all social distinctions, at all events, within the congregational circle itself. Another view was that methods were pretty nearly right just as they are. Among other suggestions was the idea that possibly the evening Sabbath service might be capable of greater use in the way of direct ministrations to and influencing of those outside; and among the other suggestions was that of seats being absolutely free and common for that service. None of the suggestions made in any of the papers read were designed so much as criticisms of existing things, as stimulative of suggestions on the great inquiries: 1. Are our congregations too much regarded by themselves as merely our own comfortable Pullman cars to heaven? 2. Have we any religious duties as congregations to people outside of and at present alienated from the church?

The consensus of opinion in the discussion was against any congregation being too anxious to "draw" crowds by musical entertainment, fake texts, or sensationalism of any kind; but that what was needed, apart from personal influences, was an adherence to the earnest preaching of the plain Gospel of Christ, as powerfully, as alertly, as simply as possible.

ROUTE MARCH OF THE SEVENTH

Fine Appearance of the Men Creates Great Enthusiasm—Companies Nearly All Filled.

The appearance of the new Seventh Battalion in its first route march last evening aroused a great deal of enthusiasm among the thousands of spectators who crowded the streets along the line of march to watch the boys go by. Very smart in their new, speckless serges, and very soldierly and gallant in their bearing they were. Some of the lines got a little ragged now and then, but on the whole the boys marched remarkably well, and the few weeks' drill has done wonders with even the rawest of the "rookies." London has every reason to be proud of her Seventh.

The battalion fell in at the drill shed at 8 o'clock, and was marched to Richmond street, via Central avenue, down Richmond to York, west to Talbot, north to Dundas, east to Colborne, north to Queen's avenue, west to Park avenue, and north to Central avenue and the drill shed.

Col. A. M. Smith was in command, and among the other staff officers were Major J. W. Little, Major Hume Cronyn, Adjutant McCrimmon, Quartermaster Graham, Surgeon-Major Piper, Surgeon-Lieut. Owens. The companies were commanded as follows: No. 1, Major Hayes and Lieuts. Taylor and Murphy; No. 2, Capt. Smith, Lieuts. Becher and Harris; No. 3, Capt. Brown, Lieut. Scream; No. 4, Capt. Reid, Lieut. Brown; No. 5, Capt. Campbell, Lieut. Bentley and Spittal; No. 6, Capt. Kingsmill and Lieut. Wanless. There were 200 men in line, besides the officers and the band. The ambulance corps was thirteen strong, and the bugle band was in full force. The march was almost completed, and all vacancies are filling rapidly. Twenty men enlisted last night after the battalion returned to the drill hall.

The man who knows but one thing feels capable of giving advice on all subjects.

LIFE SAVED—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good."
