STORIES OF "K. OF K"
Lord Kitchener of Khartoum Generally Has His Own Way.

London, July 16.—A few months ago "K. of K." the British hero, who had found himself engaged in a prolonged discussion with the commandant of a native corps in India, who had applied for funds to fit his men out with brand new uniforms.

The application was refused, only to be put forward again more urgently than ever. After this had happened several times, says the Grand Magazine, and he sent word to say that he would come and inspect the corps himself.

The colonel rubbed his hands with delight, and on the appointed day carefully instructed his dusky warriors to don their oldest and most ragged garments, in order to furnish a practical demonstration of their sartorial requirements. The commandant was reckoning without his host, however, for Lord Kitchener had no sooner run his critical eye down the ranks than he saw through the others' little device. A grim smile played about the corners of his mouth.

"Ah, Col. Jones," he exclaimed heartily. "I congratulate you on the appearance of your men. They're in the pink of condition, and I'm bursting through their uniforms!"

When Lord Kitchener once makes up his mind about anything it requires a very determined will indeed to turn him from his purpose. On one occasion a difference of opinion had arisen as to the amount of money he might expend on the conveyance of stores to the front. He wanted a couple of thousand pounds for the purpose, but a niggardly pay department at home protested that the estimate was much too high.

"Can't do it for less," was the laconic response telegraphed to Pail Mail.

This, however, only evoked a reply that he would not be allowed more than a quarter of the sum asked for. To everybody's intense surprise "K." wired back, "All right!" and proceeded to carry out the work he was engaged on.

When the expedition was over, however, the treasury officials were electrified to receive from his organizer a bill reading as follows:—

"1. To conveyance of military stores, $1,000.

"2. To supplementary expenses, $1,500."

IN FIELDS FAR OFF.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is known in Australia, South and Central America, as well as in Canada and the United States, and its consumption increases each year. It has made its own way, and all that needs to be done is to keep its name before the public. Everywhere it is to be had at any store, for all merchants keep it.

SUCCESSFUL PASTORATE
at St. Mary's.

The record of a successful four years' pastorate was read to the congregation of St. Mary's Church yesterday morning, when Rev. Father McKeon, the parish priest, gave out some very interesting figures in regard to the church.

It was shown that the church, furnishings, etc., had cost about $45,000, and that in four years this debt had been reduced to $28,000.

The statement was most satisfactory to the congregation, and Father McKeon was congratulated by many of the members.

"We will clean up this debt in short order," said the priest after reading the figures. "If the hearty support of the past is continued, 'if the congregation will be just a little more liberal, I will guarantee to wipe out the debt in four years.'"

The church is one of the finest in this part of Ontario, and Father McKeon is given great credit for the manner in which he works, success marking his every effort. The young people of the congregation are also complimented for the part they have taken in the raising of funds.

THIEVES' HONOR
RARE QUALITY
How Criminals Betray Their Fellows to Save Self—Often Act as Informers.

London, July 16.—Some curious revelations as to the loyalty of criminals towards each other have recently been made in a London police court. It was alleged by the prosecution that a gigantic forgery plot had been concocted, by which banks and private individuals had been defrauded of large sums of money, and one of the supposed conspirators was brought out of jail to give evidence.

In a calm and businesslike fashion the convict remarked that though one of the coups initiated by the gang was a complete success, resulting in a haul of over £300, she reported to headquarters that it had failed to come off, and by this simple device was enabled to escape sharing the plunder with her associates.

A curious case of a trio of card-sharps "doing the double" on another was related to the writer not long ago. The victim had, by the exercise of his "talents," acquired a large sum of money. He was accordingly approached by three other secondhands, with the pleasing information that they knew of a sufficient degree of confidence to Owen Sound on Thursday next, and there is no doubt that a change of players is equally as pleasing to the public as a change of bill.

Tonight, by special request, the Lyceum Company will produce at Springbank "The Great Gatsby," a comedy which made such a hit during the opening week at the river park.

A large audience is looked for.
