STRIKES WILL END WITH ALL GOODS ON MARKET UNION MADE

Labor Organizer Says Time Is Coming — Finds Race Move in West.

"The day is coming when everything you use or wear will be union made, and when that time comes the time of strikes will be past," declared Fred. Bush, organizer of the United Garment Workers, who visited the Trades and Labor Council last night from Toronto.

"A radical attitude pervades the west, and many labor leaders in the west are impractical," Mr. Bush said, describing the feeling he met in Winnipeg and the Canadian West during a recent trip to Winnipeg, as a result of the recent labor strike there. "I found the all the laboring that it is so far ahead of the East that it is unwilling to listen to organizers from this part of the country. A revolutionary movement was evident, he said, which was purely a racial organization, composed of Jewish workers. "There is no room for a race movement in labor organization today," he asserted, declaring that separate racial organizations should be stamped out seriously.

Almost 100 per cent of the women garment workers in this city were now organized, and the men were following their lead, he said.

BOARD OF EDUCATION. No. 1 committee of the board of education decided to make arrangements to accommodate all the pupils of Belling and Wortley road schools in the present buildings at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. Rooms which had been used in St. David's Church and in the ward street Salvation Army barracks are found to be unsatisfactory for school purposes.

NO NEED OF CITY HALL; MUNICIPAL OFFICES MUCH BETTER, DECLARES MAYOR, AND GIVES HIS REASONS

Opposed To Any Attempt To Erect "Show" Building, Believing These Are Useless and Soon Out of Date.

"London doesn't need a city hall. It needs municipal offices. The city hall idea is out of date. The city hall is the view Mayor C. R. Somerville expressed today. No. 1 committee of the city council has been asked to look into the matter of new quarters for the next municipal elections.

Mayor Somerville says there can be no such thing as a federal square now, vacant property on the southeast corner of Wellington and Dundas streets by that name.

"It is a question whether the citizens want to pay $750,000 for a city hall on this site or $200,000 for municipal offices on the present site. In my opinion that is all we need," he said. "We merely want some place where the business of the city can be conducted, and it does not need to be ornamental at all."

"It is foolish to try to make it a 'show' building for visitors can see erected there."

SHOT CAUSES DEATH OF WILLIAM NIXON GREAT WAR VETERAN

Was One Time North Oxford Resident Who Joined Edmonton, Police Force.

INGERSOLL, Sept. 3.—Relatives here have been apprised of the death of William Nixon, formerly of North Oxford, at Edmonton, where he was serving as a member of the police force. His death is said of the police force, by shooting, but whether accidentally or not is not known.

The body is expected to arrive here on Sunday. He was 32 years of age, and widely known here. Soon after the outbreak of the war he enlisted with the 5th Alberta Dragoons, and saw war. Just before the armistice he was seriously gassed. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nixon, of North Oxford.

About two years ago a brother, Howard Nixon, fell from a motorcycle, injuring his head, and died. The funeral was held at the Ingersoll fair. A number of important improvements are being made in connection with the fair, and the directors hope for a banner year. Among the improvements is a concrete floor in the palace.

Will Not Bargain With the Striking Coal Dock Workers

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 3.—Decision to operate commercial docks at the head of the lakes, and not to attempt bargaining with striking dock workers, who have been on strike for the last month, was announced today following a conference of heads of Superior and Duluth coal companies and the strikers demand, would necessitate an increase in the price of coal to consumers. The strike was stated, and it was not thought this action would be advisable.

Between twenty and thirty large steamers are awaiting unloading at the coal docks in the local bay.

Some Incidents of Visit of Prince of Wales To North Bay

NORTH BAY, Ont., Sept. 3.—The following are incidents in connection with the Prince's visit to North Bay: The car in which he rode through the town was driven by Lieut. John Bourke, who earned his commission on the field.

At one corner a mother stood holding a little baby who held in its tiny hands a bouquet of sweetheart roses. The mother asked that he accept them, but he did with an expression of just at the entrance to the little one. Pacific Railway Park an aged lady in an arm chair. The prince noticed her, stopped and shook hands with her. Mrs. Dugall Mackintosh, 90. She asked a photographer to take a picture of her for him.

WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH IN PRINCE ALBERT

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Sept. 2.—Mrs. Olive Swanco, wife of an employee of the Canadian National Railway, was burned to death in a fire in her home in the east end of the city last night. Her two small children were rescued by the father.

The request was turned down and ordered the delegate remarked that no labor union could declare a "holiday," and that his local would not stand for it. When he said in a minute, delegates suggested a nigger in the Liberty League woodpile when the report of the meeting was made. The last council meeting to investigate the movement was made. Delegate W. P. Thompson declared that although he had never been declared to attend either of the two meetings held in the last two weeks, or consulted. Another delegate reported that the meeting he had attended was the first one alleged to have been held, and he only walked across the committee room floor and heard no discussion.

Several delegates were of the opinion that in opposing minority organizations which was one of the planks of the league's platform, that those who headed the movement would probably consider organized labor as a minority organization. The feeling of the delegates were expressed in a suggestion to take no action as an organized body until the president of the Labor Congress put his signature to an endorsement of the Liberty League aims.

The council decided to form a "Liberty League," declaring that the aims of the movement as outlined appear to be straightforward and characteristically British in freedom and British institutions. He reiterated his previous statements, threatening to "sink" the stand on the O. T. A. I have been flooded with anonymous letters at my house, but if the writers would sign their names to them I would not change my ideas on the subject," he said.

The council carried a resolution favoring the appointment of a committee to affiliate with the Ontario Labor party, to secure all candidates for local political bodies.

Enough said," remarked Delegate Hessel after quoting a report of the stand taken on the local housing situation by J. G. Richter, who has tendered his resignation as chairman of the housing commission, and which described housing conditions in this city as disgracefully inadequate and one speaker declared that there were homes in London with holes in the walls big enough for two men to crawl through from the street to the cellar; houses with nearly every window broken and with roofs so leaky that when it rained heavily the occupants had to stand in their rooms under open umbrellas.

The council will protest to the Western Fair board, the electric wiring in the buildings and grounds by non-union workers. It was reported that exclusive contracts had been given for this work to the hydro-electric shop, which is also objecting to the employment of the "handymen," as the secretary of the Gitzas has described those now at work at the park, who are not union workers.

A boycott of the fair by all union workers was suggested. Another delegate thought a boycott of the hydro-electric would do the better interest of the labor men.

A committee appointed by the council reported that "handymen," who were described by the delegates as really non-union carpenters, employed at wages lower than the union scale, were at work at the fair grounds on Labor Day.

BRITISH NAVAL MEN DISCUSS REDUCTION

LONDON, Sept. 3.—(Reuter).—Among the prominent naval men interviewed in regard to Lord Fisher's plea for reduction of naval expenditures, Admiral Percy Scott says the day of the £3,000,000 battleship is over. Such money could be better used in the air service.

Commander Carlyn Bellairs, after saying much needless naval expenditure originated in Lord Fisher's policy, declared that the whole case which led to increased armaments, namely, the North Sea outlook, is now finished.

Admiral Cyprian Bridge said: "Of course the German menace has disappeared, but the experience of the war shows the extreme importance of the Empire keeping up a very respectable naval force. In any great reduction of expenditures we must go cautiously."

A well-known naval critic, who preferred to be anonymous said: "You cannot reduce with safety."

Demonstrations in Egypt Follow U. S. Committee Action

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 3.—On receipt of a telegram asserting that the foreign relations committee of the United States Senate had declared that Egypt should be independent, great demonstrations by natives were held in front of the American consulate on Saturday and Sunday.

The Egyptians, manifesting the respect into realization of all the Nationalist aims, formed processions and marched through the streets.

There were demonstrations also at Cairo, where mounted police dispersed the crowds, arresting several persons.
