TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn grey, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or grey. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home is simple, but a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, grey, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all grey hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

DEWART CLAIMS THAT DRURY DECLINED TO ACCEPT HIS OFFER

Liberal Leader Says He Received No Reply After Making Proposition.

FERGUSON'S ATTITUDE

Comes Out in Favor of "Properly Administered" Patronage System.

TORONTO, March 11.—There was nothing of the old-time political vigor lacking during the debate on the speech from throne in the Legislature this afternoon. H. Hartley Dewart, Liberal leader, assailed the Government for what he termed their reluctance to practice the policy of co-operation which they preached, and Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader, followed with a fighting speech in which he drew a distinct line of cleavage between the Conservative and Liberal parties in the opposition, taking Mr. Dewart to task for having attempted to capture the farmer party and criticizing the "meagre fare" offered in the speech from the throne. Mr. Ferguson took sharp issue with the Government on the question of patronage and declared himself a believer in a fairly administered patronage system under which a minister had a voice in the selection of his subordinates.

"We, the Liberal party in Ontario," Mr. Dewart declared, "have always stood for agricultural rights, so far as these are consistent with the demands of labor and of the common people. Our general platform has been adopted by the farmers, but with exceptions."

Under Any Cloud.
"I do not propose that either the Liberal party or I myself should rest under any cloud on the question of co-operation," continued Mr. Dewart, reading a letter which he stated, he had written to Premier Drury on October 31, last, congratulating the latter on being chosen leader of the United Farmers of Ontario and inviting a conference with him, with a view to arranging for co-operation.

"The premier," he continued, "has not yet done me the courtesy to reply to this letter."

"We are waiting," Mr. Dewart continued, "to hear the premier's views on patronage. Is there any connection between the rumor that a Mr. Gregory of Toronto was instrumental in discouraging opposition to the candidature of the premier in Halton, and the fact that Mr. Gregory is now engaged as counsel for the Government before the International Waterways Commission?"

Kapuskasing Probe.
Touching on the Kapuskasing investigation, the Liberal leader said: "I am surprised that no demand has been made for the dismissal of the deputy minister of lands and forests."

Mr. Dewart endeavored to show that the cause of the U. F. O. organization was dissatisfaction with Ottawa, and not with Ontario Liberals, who, he continued, had always been the friends of the farmer and labor.

Mr. Dewart said that the Liberals had fought in previous sessions the battle of all the people against an autocratic government that proposed to maintain itself in power by the manipulation of the powers of government. The battle for moral reform in advanced temperance legislation which had wrung from the Hearst Government advanced temperance legislation which the province had not otherwise received.

"The Liberal party fighting the battle of the people against an autocratic government has shown where others have reaped. Where we fought, others possess the fruits of victory, but the success is a common success which we share."

Demanding Co-operation.
"The mover of the reply has demanded co-operation and new court of equity. I took down his words when he said, 'We will take the aggregate wisdom of both sides of the House to establish legislation to satisfy the province.' Then why have we not had the suggestion of co-operation with those who were willing to co-operate. Let me say that sniping is not co-operation. What attempt has there been to look for co-operation from those who were the natural allies of the farmers—and of the working man and of the soldiers and others who recognized that Liberalism stood for the people and not the class?"

Mr. Dewart said the Liberal committee went to the U. F. O. to see what could be done in the matter of co-operation. He himself wrote to Premier Drury but had got no reply. The Liberals had been taunted with the fact that they put candidates against farmers.

The Liberal leader regretted that there was nothing about the eight-hour day in the speech from the throne. He said that the Liberals did not propose to let the matter go by, as Liberalism could look after labor as well as the farmer.

He thought that a ministry of health was more important than a separate ministry of mines. He was surprised that the resignation of the deputy minister of land and forests had not been demanded in view of Kapuskasing affairs.

Good Old Tory Party.
Mr. Ferguson took occasion to get in a few boasts for protection and the "Good old Tory party."

He revived the thin edge of the wedge argument used in the campaign of 1911, and added to the "terrible dangers of annexation," by the republic to the south, the later danger of the manner in which Canadian money is treated.

Mr. Ferguson called upon Premier Drury to live up to the high ideals of his able predecessors. He also asked the present minister of education to follow Hon. Cady's ideals.

He was amazed at the meagre legislation predicted in the speech from the throne. He pointed out that it contained nothing about the great housing scheme. There was not a word about the workmen's compensation act, nor the eight-hour day. Regarding the latter, he said that the Hearst Government had asked Ottawa about it, and would have made any legislation necessary to implement it.

Mr. Ferguson professed great alarm about the hydro not being mentioned in the speech from the throne. "Is it any indication of the attitude of the Government toward this great project?" he asked.

Mr. Ferguson saw difficulties in the separation of the mines from the forests and lands department. He congratulated the minister of works on his good roads program. "My only fear is that he may have overstepped the mark," said the Conservative leader.

Favors Patronage.
Passing to the question of patronage, Mr. Ferguson declared himself a firm believer in a properly administered patronage system by the men in charge of the administration of the affairs of the province. He declared that if the Government "attempts to foist on this House an irresponsible civil service commission, and a system of appointments and promotions based on competitive examinations, where a minister will have no voice in choosing his assistants, I shall most emphatically oppose it."

Sergeant-Major McNamara, Independent-Soldier members for Riverdale, has given notice of the following inquiry of the Government: "Is it the intention of the Government to dismiss the present deputy minister of lands and forests, Mr. A. Craig, in view of the disclosures of his maladministration in connection with the Kapuskasing soldiers' settlement? If so, when will such a dismissal take effect?" Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Conservative member for West York, inquired concerning a newspaper dispatch from Hamilton, in which G. G. Halcrow, Labor member for East Hamilton, was reported as attributing to Hon. W. E. Raney a statement that "the Government is dangerously near a precipice, and the temperance forces are trying to force it over the edge."

Mr. Halcrow declared that he had been misquoted.

F. W. Hay, Liberal member for North Perth, called the attention of the provincial treasurer to a report from New York of the sale there of $5,000,000 of Ontario bonds at 97.76 per cent. "I sold no bonds outside of Ontario," Hon. Peter Smith replied. "Those in question were absorbed by a local firm. I received 100.65 per cent for them."
