PROHIBIT SALE OF LIQUOR WHILE THE WAR LASTS

Strong Article on Safeguarding of Soldiers—What the United States Will Do

(Financial Post of Canada.)

If the empire must stop using foodstuffs to make liquor it follows that the linking of liquor must be stopped in the army as well as in the country. The Canadian Military Gazette in an editorial on the liquor question agrees with The Financial Post in regretting at the discussion in parliament assumed a political phase and comments Hon. Mr. Lemieux for bringing the matter up "we cannot see why the truth should be concealed." The truth is that drinking and vice go together and between them have been taking toll of the Canadian forces with almost as much regularity as the guns of the enemy, uniting thousands of men for service at the front and bringing them back to Canada to spread disease here. Col. Herbert Bruce's report showed that in the Canadian forces from July, 1915, to August, 1916, the number of cases of venereal disease reported was 7,228!

Our legislators declared that wet camps were a good feature and that the men needed alcoholic drinks. Let the answer come from our new Allies across the line. Here is what the United States has to do to save American soldiers on the conditions that our Canadian troops meet when they reach Britain—Washington, May 6—Decisive steps for the hygiene and mental welfare of the army's soldiers and sailors have been determined upon by the Council of National Defence as a strict war measure. The council, guided by the General Medical Board, has prepared to strike at the intemperance.

presence of insidious diseases and at alcoholism in all military commands. Decisions were announced today as follows: "That under military control an effective zone shall be created about all military commands as the most practicable and effective measure to prevent insidious diseases; that these military zones shall serve also as a means of control of alcoholic beverages to the troops. These decisions are reached by the council after exhaustive study of conditions today among great European armies."

will therefore be created and conditions in these zones will be guarded by military measures, so as to prevent the spread of disease. The two military arms of the government officially recognize that intemperance is compatible with health. The council also recommends as a further solution of the problem that all military commands be provided with good facilities for the recreation of the troops, and urges that all suitable athletics be encouraged.

"The use of alcoholic beverages on the part of soldiers and sailors in military commands has long been under military control. But the erosion, now of these military zones will in effect extend such control over the troops when they are off duty out of the commands."

Dr. Franklin H. Martin, member of the advisory commission of the council, said: "A clean, wholesome, temperate life among these troops will in the end make for our civil advancement, compared to which the cost of the war is nothing."

Members at Ottawa can be counted upon to act most promptly on questions that the voters are interested in. Let them consider what the parents of the boys at the front think of these conditions in the army camps. There are votes involved here. Let our legislators think of that—and act! Let them back up Lloyd George by telling the British government that Canada wants the sale of liquor prohibited and the health of our boys conserved as long as the war continues.

MINISTERS URGE

THE GOVERNMENT TO REGULATE PRICES

The following resolution, urging the Federal government "to take drastic and effective action to regulate food prices," has been unanimously adopted by the executive committee of the Montreal Protestant Ministerial Association: "Whereas, the constantly increasing cost of living throughout Canada has added greatly to the burdens of sacrifice and sorrow borne by our Canadian homes, burdens that have been cheerfully and voluntarily assumed in order that the cause of humanity and liberty might prevail, and
"Whereas we believe that many of the burdens created by the high cost of living are really unnecessary and unjust, therefore
"Resolved, that we, the Protestant Ministerial Association of Montreal, affirm our conviction that the time has arrived for legislative action and respectfully urge the Government of Canada to take drastic and effective action to regulate food prices, as the Australian government, for instance, has done with such excellent and gratifying results.
"The resolution was brought before the Association by the Rev. Ralph J. Haughton, of Amherst Park Congregational Church.

We print in this announcement a list of the states showing the great progress that Prohibition had made on its own merits in the United States before the Union entered the war. In connection with that list we want you to see what is the view of a business man's periodical devoted to commercial, economical and other financial questions (The Analyst, New York). Its Kansas correspondent writes:

"To-day the argument for Prohibition is simple and direct—namely, that human experience and medical research and experimentation have showed beyond doubt that alcohol is a poison, and that in its toxic qualities and effects it differs in degree, and not in kind, from cocaine and opium. This conviction is the strength and support of Prohibition, and the cause of its uninterrupted progress. It is clearly seen to be an economic measure rather than one of morals only."

"All the pleas and arguments of personal liberty, of the social delights of alcohol, of the charm it adds to life, of the employment it affords to thousands, seem futile and ineffective in the light of the fast-spreading belief that alcohol is the greatest known deterrent to economic efficiency. The fight against its use is no longer a matter of emotionalism, but of cold, calculating common sense."

A Comparison

Here is the plight of a large city still under license:

The result of alcohol is to breed vice and crime and to cause both mental and physical inefficiency among men. The license system has been a sickening failure. For a typical instance, listen to Governor Foss of Massachusetts: "In the last fifteen years (Boston) the arrests for drunkenness have increased from 18,000 to 57,000, 300 per cent. Over 60 per cent. of all the arrests in Boston are for drunkenness. It is very evident that our license system in Boston has increased drunkenness instead of checking it."

The Sheriff of Denver testifies for Prohibition, which went into effect there January 1st:

"We have about three-fifths the arrests we had formerly. The police court record for drunks and disturbances has fallen over forty per cent., the habitual loafer has disappeared, the can-rusher, the old soak who came home with a quarter in his pocket and sent his eight-year-old, ragged, barefoot girl to the saloon for a can of beer and then tossed her a crust of bread while he swigged the beer and snarled at her through his drunkenness, is no longer a resident of Denver."

Help to Enforce Prohibition

Does New Brunswick want to go back to license? If not, then she must, right now, enforce the Prohibition laws with all her might. It must be enforcement by the whole people in co-operation with the appointed officers of the law.
