Province Has Proud Record In Number of Home Nursing Classes Formed in Past Year

Figures to Hand Also Place New Brunswick a Close Second to Ontario in Pupils Completing Course-Miss Barrington's Good Work

OF the total number of pupils completing Red Cross home nursing classes in Canada in 1925 more than one-quarter were members of Classes held in New Brunswick and this province also had the distinction of ranking second only to Ontario in the total number of pupils completing the course in that year.

In view of the great difference in population, New Brunswick has made a far finer showing in this regard than has Ontario. WHAT RECORDS SHOWED.

At the end of 1925 the records of the Canadian Red Cross head office show that to date there were 5,585 pupils who had completed the course of instruction in home nursing and about 2,000 more that were still encolled and taking the course.

Miss S. A. Barrington, organizer of home nursing classes for this province, is responsible for the great strides that have been made in this work in New Brunswick. She has been indefatiguable in her efforts to At the annual meeting of the Sain what matter means.

It was stated that with the installation to insure the General Public Hospital at 62½ cent rate for two years on the co-operative plan to 90 per cent of the value, would mean securing double the present amount of insurance carried with no increase of cost.

The County Hospital, it was said, carried 85 per cent of its value in insurance at the present time and it would only be necessary to have a 5 per cent increase. This increase could be secured on the co-operative rate at about half the cost of the present insurance if the sprinkler system was installed.

Use of Trade Board Rooms For Meetings Confined to Evenings

The use of the Board of Trade room or afternoon meetings by women's organizations, and organizations not strictly commercial, will no longer be granted, it was said yesterday. The rooms have been very generally used by a great number of city organizations and have also been frequently used for many special meetings.

The widespread hospitality has had its drawbacks from the view-point of the Board of Trade staff and has interferred with the carrying on of the regular business of the Board, and therefore the new order has gone forth The use of the rooms, however, will be as freely given in the evenings as has formerly been the case, but afternoon meetings can no longer be held
