Daisy Markham Sued 27-Year-Old
Marquis of Northampton—Gets
Quarter Million and He Also
Has to Pay Big Costs

(Canadian-Press)

London, July 2.—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars and all the costs of the suit is the price the Marquis of Northampton has agreed to pay to settle the suit for breach of promise brought against him by a well known actress, Miss Daisy Markham, whose real name is Miss Violet Moss.

The costs will amount to a considerable sum on account of the number of distinguished counsel engaged to plead for the opposing parties. The marquis, better known as Earl Compton, only twenty-seven, the plaintiff is well known on both sides of the Atlantic under her stage name.

The settlement was announced when the case was called in the high court of justice this morning in a court room crowded with fashionable women and actresses who had come in anticipation of listening to some interesting evidence.

Sir Edward Carson, a former solicitor general, and Edward G. Hemmerde, recorder of Liverpool, and member of parliament, with two junior barristers, appeared on behalf of Miss Markham. On the other side were Henry E. Duke, a Unionist member of parliament; Frederick E. Smith, one of the Unionist leaders, and Raymond Asquith, a son of the premier.

Northampton's Letter
Sir Edward Carson, in court today, said the girl had met the marquis last year, when he made a promise of marriage to her, which was not denied. Subsequently she wrote to him, and the marquis broke off the engagement.

Carson's evidence to Miss Markham that he wanted to marry her, and that the marquis had broken off the engagement, was given in a sense of duty, and he believed it best for both parties. When his father talked to him, he was very angry, and he felt that he would do anything to get his father's attention.

Carson continued that the Marquis of Northampton had made provision for the lady such as she would be entitled to had he made her a marchioness. He then announced the settlement for $250,000.

Henry E. Duke, counsel for the defendant, when the Marquis of Northampton, who was then Earl Compton, asked his father's consent to his marriage with Miss Markham he laid upon him an absolute prohibition and took from him a solemn engagement that he would not pursue his desire to marry the plaintiff.

LARGEST ACCIDENT AWARD
Miner Given $37,500 by Jury for Loss of Both Eyes, Right Arm and Part of His Left Hand

New York, July 2.—What is said to be the largest verdict ever awarded in a personal injury case in the United States Circuit Court was returned before Judge Chatfield in Brooklyn when Stanislaus Yensavage, a minor, was awarded $37,500 for injuries sustained while in the employ of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company at Shenandoah, Penn.

On June 10, 1911, Yensavage working as a helper in the company mine, while carrying percussion caps his oil lamp ignited one. An explosion followed, causing the loss of both eyes, right arm and all but the first finger and thumb of his left hand. He was in the hospital for five months. He sued for $50,000. The jury was out three minutes.

Lloyd George Puts New Life
Into Liberals of Old Land

Chancellor Makes
A Stirring
Speech

LASHES OUT FURIOUSLY

Marconi Matter His Subject at National Liberal Club Luncheon
—Followers Eager to Carry War
Into Camp of the Enemy

(Times' Special Cable)

London, July 2.—Lloyd George's fighting Marconi speech at the National Liberal Club luncheon has been enthusiastically received by the fighting ranks of the Liberal party. His friends begged him not to hit back, even the chairman of the luncheon attempting to restrain him, but Lloyd George rejected all moderate counsel and lashed out furiously.

The Liberal members of parliament declare the speech has pulled the party together and cheered everybody up. Liberals here are very tired of the apologetic defensive attitude of the last few weeks and welcome the opportunity to carry the war into the enemy's country.

As the ministers were leaving the luncheon Mr. Hon. Mr. Churchill called the speaker to the back, remarking: "You're the man for us."

Several Prostrations But Nothing
Serious—Inspection of Hospital
Corps

Sussex, N. B., July 2.—This was the hottest day since the opening of camp and the soldiers on drill felt the heat keenly. There were a few prostrations and those who succumbed were promptly borne on stretchers to the clearing hospital, where they soon recovered.

Colonel Warburton, A. D. of M. S., this morning inspected the hospital corps in the efficiency test for a prize offered by the federal government for proficiency, the appearance of the establishment, and lines. The work of the corps was much praised.

The officers of the 8th Hussars will hold an assembly this evening in the hangar. Many invitations have been issued.

The rear party of the 62nd Regiment will return home today after having finished the necessary details of their stay.

SICILY IS SHAKEN
BY AN EARTHQUAKE

Messina, Sicily, July 2.—A slight earthquake shock lasting only a few seconds, caused considerable alarm here today, and this was increased by distinct underground rumblings. Many of the inhabitants left their residences and took to the open fields.

HIS LEG CUT
James S. Akery, foreman in Haley Prox. factory, met with a slight accident this morning, while he was engaged in sharpening knives. The ambulance was summoned and Mr. Akery was taken to his home. A slight cut on his leg was the extent of the injury.

FREDERICTON NOTES
Fredericton, N. B., July 2.—A horse driven by William Murray went over a 10-foot embankment at Pennis last evening but fortunately the occupants of the carriage escaped injury.

The city council last night appointed James M. Lennett a member of the city school board in succession to Percy A. Guthrie, whose term of office had expired.

McCLARY VS. R. F. & S.
A game which is exciting much interest among the local wholesale hardware houses is to come off tonight on the Barrack green. A picked team from the warehouse of Messrs. Robertson, Foster & Smith will compete with the McClary Manufacturing Company's aggregation.

The latter team figured somewhat in last year's Connors' League and that was their only experience. As to how Robertson's men will show against them, the game is to be called at 6:30 sharp, and ought to be exciting from start to finish. Both teams contain some blossoming examples of future T. Cobbs and Wagners.

Foster is scheduled to pitch for R. F. & S., and although it is not quite known who will follow for McClary, it is thought probable that one of their last year's pitchers, Marshall, will go into the box for them. Jas. J. Murphy will be umpire.

Who's Who and
What's What
An Englishman visiting this country recently commented on the advanced development of our advertising. He said that one might get a liberal education in a remarkably short space of time by listening in first-class newspapers.

That may have been expressing it rather strongly—perhaps as a result of his enthusiasm—but it must be apparent to every thoughtful reader that newspaper advertising as it is conducted nowadays possesses an unusual educational value.

We are quite sure that our cousin from over the sea might come here a total stranger and, by diligent attention to the advertising appearing daily in this and other good newspapers, soon be very well informed as to the customs and the fashions, where to go for his shopping and his recreation.

Who's who and what's what have a persistent manner of finding their way into the daily newspapers, so that he who reads my profit.

GOOD WORDS FROM
DUKE FOR CANADA

BULGARIANS
FLEEING ALONG
THE WHOLE LINE

Servians in Pursuit, Says Report to London

SITUATION OBSCURE

Reports Are Conflicting—Russia Said to Have Sharply Called on Allies to Stop—Action For Settlement of Albanian Question

(Canadian Press)

London, July 2.—A telegram to the Exchange Telegraph Company reports that the Servian troops are pursuing the fleeing Bulgarians along the whole line in Macedonia.

London, July 2.—At the moment of writing, the situation in the Balkans is most obscure. Concurrently with Tuesday's news that the Servian skuptchina had endorsed the decision of Premier Pasitch to submit the dispute with Bulgaria to the arbitration of Russia, came a statement that fighting had ceased and it looked as if the "unofficial war" would not develop any further.

Early this morning, however, telegrams from Belgrade gave a different complexion to the situation. M. Petrich, the minister of the interior, had stated in the skuptchina late last night: "We are at war with Bulgaria and directions have been given to the Servian commander-in-chief to be ready to defend our whole line, as Bulgaria has attacked us all along the frontier."

New agency telegrams from Belgrade after midnight, asserted that the fighting was renewed with great vigor on Tuesday along the whole front, and that bloody battles had been fought. None of these despatches can be confirmed. No further fighting between the Greeks and Bulgarians is yet reported, but the latest despatches tend to confirm the report that Greece regards war as having begun.

DOMINION DAY DINNER

His Grace of Connaught Chief
Guest With Lord Strathcona
Presiding—Dominion Looks
Forward to Steady Advance

(Canadian Press)

London, July 1.—Lord Strathcona presided at the Dominion Day dinner held here last night. The chief guest of the evening was the Duke of Connaught. Among other guests were the Japanese ambassador, the Rt. Hon. Lewis Harcourt (colonial secretary of state), Earl Grey, Earl Aberdeen, Rt. Hon. Colonel Seely, Hon. A. L. Sifton, and nearly every high commissioner and prominent Canadian now in London.

In proposing the toast of the dominion, Lord Strathcona alluded, among other things, to the pride and gratification with which Canadians had received the news of the Duke of Connaught's extension of time in the office of the governor-generalship. The Duke of Connaught had a magnificent reception in rising to respond in thanking the chairman for his remarks in reference to the Duchess, he said:

"I am very much pleased to say she is making a splendid recovery, and looks forward to accompanying me back to Canada in the autumn. I feel most flattered at having been asked to accept an extension of my term for another year. I think all of you will be aware that such an offer made me by the king, through the secretary of state, was most highly appreciated by me.

"You must all feel the greatest confidence in the future and prosperity of the dominion. During the time I have held office, Canada's advance has been most remarkable. There may be for the moment depression passing over Canada, those are things which happen to every country; but I am certain this is merely temporary, and Canada is on a sound basis and has every reason to look forward to a steady advance in prosperity and population.

"I am afraid in England they are beginning to get a little nervous over the immense number of immigrants going to Canada, but they must remember this, although they may be leaving these shores, they are not leaving the British empire, and I hope will be as great an asset to the empire in Canada as in the United Kingdom. Canada has no wish, no intention of breaking away from the grand old flag floating over us. I am sure she will always prove true to the great spirit she holds in the British Empire.

"I little thought when I was at the Canada Club dinner two months ago I would be still in England now, but my enforced absence, I hope, will not lose me the sympathy and affection of Canadians. I look forward, on my return, to the same support and the same sympathy I have met with during the last two years.

Colonial Secretary Harcourt read the following telegram received from the acting governor-general of Canada: "The prime minister desires me to say that the government of Canada has no objection to your resignation, and has accepted for a year your extension of your term of office as governor-general, which has been already fruitfully the best results to Canada, and all rejoice to hear that Her Royal Highness may also be seen with him in full enjoyment of her health."

Mr. Harcourt, referring to Lord Strathcona, said the laudis, or should he say, the maple leaves of usefulness industry made the crown of pride and honored age. (Cheers.)

TRANSVAAL GOLD MINERS MAY STRIKE;
THE EFFECT ON BUSINESS WOULD BE BAD
London, July 2.—The gold industry has been seriously checked by the increasing unrest of the Rand miners, which has become acute in the last few days. The Transvaal miners, at a meeting in Johannesburg, decided to call a general strike at all mines on July 6. There is a possibility that all the federated trades will also strike, but this is hardly expected. The strike would likely have a wide-spread effect on finance and commerce, in stopping the output of the precious metal.
