ARROSTOOK POTATO
CROP MUCH BELOW
THAT OF LAST YEAR

(Bangor Commercial)

Judging from estimates made by 100 potato growers of Arrostook county, the potato crop in Maine's greatest potato producing section will be at least 25 per cent. below last season's mark. This information is from F. E. Embree, of Riverhead, N. Y., who with his father, C. E. Embree, the general manager of the Farmer's Union of Maine has been making a trip to Arrostook county.

"I have just returned from Arrostook county," Mr. Embree told a Commercial man, Tuesday, "and I found that there has been a slight increase in the acreage in that section. In talking over the situation with 100 potato growers, I found that there was a slight increase in the acreage over last year of 130 acres. They also estimated that through the excessive wet weather they had lost completely an acre a piece of potatoes, which left a small percentage of increase.

"The decrease in yield for this season due to weather conditions they placed at 25 per cent, and it was the opinion of all of them that there would be about a 75 per cent. crop there this year.

"Such potatoes as they will get promise to be exceptionally good.

"Shipments from Arrostook county will not come freely until about the middle of September, but there is some talk of a car being sent out of Presque Isle the last of this week or the first of next. It certainly will be immature stock. The market conditions at the consuming end has a tendency just now to cause buyers to get things moving as soon as they can, both Boston and New York markets being particularly good just at present.

"Along the Maine Central points I figure that there will be 30 or 40 per cent. increase in acreage over last year. The fields in central Maine are looking exceedingly well and the indication is that the yield will be a good one.

"Notwithstanding the increased acreage along the Maine Central the crop there will not be up to 100 to 150,000,000 bushels of potatoes were shipped from Maine Central points. In 1911 there were only 2,000,000 bushels. The increased acreage will not make up the difference between the two years.

C. R. INQUIRY AT MONCTON IS ON AGAIN

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 22.—(Special)—The C. R. inquiry was resumed this morning by Commissioner J. H. Macdonald. Mr. Freese appeared but Mr. Fowler was absent. J. J. McKenzie, clerk in the C. R. T. office, described the system in which the conductors' returns regarding passes are examined. Formerly passes, when taken up by conductors, were sent to the audit office, were kept about three months and then destroyed. About two years ago a change was made in the system and the passes were sent from the audit office to the board of management. The witness said he did not remember the audit office, but he did remember finding passes issued to J. H. Messervy and Dr. Murray.

TWENTY-FIVE WHO FOUGHT NAPOLEON
ARE STILL LIVING

Search for Veterans of the Invasion of Russia Discloses That Many

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—Twenty-five hoary old veterans, still grappling with death as bravely as they once struggled with foreign invaders, link and weave the heroic Russia of 100 years ago with the mighty Slav nation of today. Official research has ascertained the fact that about twenty-five survivors of that memorable struggle are scattered over the length and breadth of the Czar's dominions.

One peasant in the province of Vitebsk, who first saw the light 110 years ago, was hiding in a village during a skirmish there, and gathered bullets on the battlefield, when the French troops had withdrawn. Another who was twelve years old then, says he fought as a boy against the French and British troops. He lives bed-ridden in Bessarabia on the proceeds of his wife's labor. She is ninety, and vigorous.

In the Province of Ekaterinograd lives a peasant, who was fifteen years old when Napoleon invaded Russia, but the oldest survivor of all is a veteran named Kornevich, who fought against the foreigner as a sixteen-year-old soldier by profession. An old woman named Zakharovich, in the Province of Minsk, remembers the action act of her father, who, when 250 French soldiers and officers entered his barn to spend the night, set fire to the wooden building when they were fast asleep. Not one escaped.

GREAT EXPANSION AT CANADA CAR WORKS

Big Addition to Rolling Mills—
New Iron and Steel Scrap Store—Bolster Shop—Steel Underframe Plant Coming

(Amherst News)

Yesterday the first and was turned on the proposed extension of the Rolling Mill plant in connection with the Canada Car Works. This addition to the company's already extensive mills will mean the doubling of the present output, as well as doubling the number of skilled mechanics at present employed. The building operations will commence today and the new addition which will be of brick, when completed will be 100 x 200 feet annexed to the present mills. There are now in the neighborhood of 120 skilled mechanics employed in the Rolling Mills, the most of them being the highest paid artisans in Amherst. With the addition of men supplemented in the new addition, think what this will mean to our town. But this is not all; a big iron and steel scrap store 100 x 300 feet which has been in the course of construction for some time, will soon be completed. Shortly after the above improvements are finished it is the company's intention to erect a large bolster shop for the manufacture of car bolsters, brake beams and trucks. This is a portion of cars never made in Amherst before, the same always being procured from Montreal—another evidence of the enterprise of the Amherst management in connection with this town.

At the beginning of next spring to erect a new steel under-frame plant which will enable the Amherst works to manufacture steel cars. Hereafter nothing but wood passenger and freight cars have been turned out here. The decision for the above is becoming large and the Canada Car & Foundry Company, with its already extensive works in this town, see in Amherst great possibilities for the construction of the steel product also.
