MUSEUM HERE WILL BE ENRICHED

Dr. Wm. McIntosh Tells of Collections Seen in United States.

The Natural History Museum here will be enriched with donations from several large museums in the eastern United States, according to Dr. William McIntosh, curator of the local museum, who returned home yesterday after a three-weeks' visit to Boston, New York and other centres. Dr. McIntosh says he found United States curators most obliging and willing to do all in their power in sending down here specimens, some commercial and some purely scientific.

One of the outstanding impressions gleaned by Dr. McIntosh from his trip was the whole-hearted manner in which the United States people support their museums and fine arts galleries. The museums there, he says, play a much larger part in the lives of the people than here. "They are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars on construction work as well as extension work," he says.

The local curator visited 22 museums and inspected many lesser historical collections. The two finest he saw, he says, were the Metropolitan in New York and the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. The Corcoran gallery in Washington greatly impressed him. While in New York he had the pleasure of renewing acquaintance with Dr. William Matthews, son of the late Dr. George Matthews. Dr. Matthews is an outstanding member of his profession in New York, says the local curator. He arranged a luncheon in honor of Dr. McIntosh and Mrs. McIntosh, who accompanied her husband on the trip. At this luncheon, they met Walter Granger, who is famous for his discoveries in Mongolia. In Philadelphia there are no fewer than 18 museums, said Dr. McIntosh. One of the most interesting he saw was the Commercial Museum. This one is devoted entirely to the manufacturers and business. It has a complete set of models of vehicles used by man since primitive times, as well as models of every known ship. It also has a complete model of a coal mine, operated by electricity.

HELPLESS! Babe's Case Hopeless Because None Can Be Found With Blood Like His

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Death awaits at the bedside of Mimi Gagliola, 18 months old, in Long Island College Hospital, because no person with blood like his can be found.

Here, in the great melting pot of humanity where flows the blood of all races and tribes of the earth, hundreds have volunteered to give their blood for a transfusion. That seems to be the child's only hope of living. There have been only four types of blood known to science until now, but Mimi's blood cannot be classified as any of them. The babe has pneumonia, then anemia. Physicians believe his illness set up a change in his blood. To transfuse blood of another type into his veins almost surely would be fatal to him. And so Death, baffling science, waits.

COUNTY OFFERS ARCHITECT $4,000

Matter of Claim of H. H. Mott—Lancaster Paving Project.

The finance committee of the Municipal Council met this afternoon to pass bills and deal with other matters to come before the Municipal Council on Tuesday. Among these are a credit to the Parish of Lancaster for paving, a recommendation from the Commissioners of the General Public Hospital to settle the claim of H. H. Mott, and an application from the Children's Aid Society for funds.

The Lancaster Highway Board proposes to pave the highway from the bridge to Manchester's corner, and the Provincial Government has agreed to pave the centre of the highway, for a width of 24 feet. The cost of the work is estimated at $150,000, and of this the Government will pay about $50,000. They ask, however, it is understood, that the parish do the work next year. In order to do the work, the council will have to authorize a credit to the parish.

In the H. H. Mott matter the claim is for $102,126.40 for preparing three sets of plans for additions to the General Public Hospital, none of which were used. At the October, 1911, meeting of the Municipal Council a grant of $30,000 for additions to the hospital was passed by the council, and it is since that date the plans were prepared.

Mr. Mott, after several conferences with the board, has submitted an offer to accept the sum of $5,000 in settlement of the account, and the board is recommending that he be paid $4,000. It is understood there will also be a delegation present asking for a grant for a juvenile court.

The pall-bearers were: Police Constables James Semple, S. D. Hamme, T. McFarlane, James McNamee and William Gibbs. Home Bank Sought A Deposit.

Mr. Reid, counsel for shareholders, asked the Prime Minister what was the exact amount sought by the directors.

Mr. King could not recall that a specific sum was mentioned.

Mr. Reid: "Wasn't between five and ten million dollars?"

Mr. King: "I could not tell you."

Mr. Reid asked if there was any correspondence on file regarding the meeting between Mr. Stewart and the Prime Minister.

"There were no negotiations," replied Mr. King. The first knowledge Mr. King had had of the condition of the Home Bank was on the night when Mr. Stewart interviewed him.

Mr. Reid asked what directors had been before the cabinet meeting of August 15.

Eugene LaFleur, counsel for the government objected to the question on the grounds that ministers of the crown were sworn not to reveal the proceedings of the cabinet.

Commissioner McKeown upheld the protest.

Mr. Reid: "If that be so we can't get at the facts." He believed that in such matters of public importance the facts should be revealed.

"I may tell you that they did not," said Mr. King.

Mr. Reid: "Did the Home Bank directors ever meet members of the government as a government?"

Mr. King: "No never."

Mr. Reid: "Did you bring the matter to the attention of other members of the government?"

Mr. LaFleur objected, saying that the question was asking what happened at a cabinet meeting.

Mr. Reid: "Mr. Robb would be the proper one to give the facts as to what took place in Montreal."

Mr. King: "I can assure you it did not."

Mr. King: "The commissioner adjourned until Wednesday, May 14."

all the facts concerning the Home Bank?"

Mr. King: "I rather think it was not."

Mr. Reid referred to evidence given by Sir Henry Drayton in regard to his informing Mr. Fielding of the Home Bank's condition.

The Prime Minister interrupted to say that "Mr. Fielding takes very strong exception to Sir Henry Drayton's evidence." In a recent conversation Mr. Fielding had told Mr. King, "That Sir Henry Drayton had not drawn his attention to the Home Bank in the manner described," and he (Mr. Fielding) had never had his attention drawn to any file on the matter.

Mr. Reid: "If the Dominion Cabinet did see the directors it would be a matter of record."

Mr. King: "I can assure you it did not."

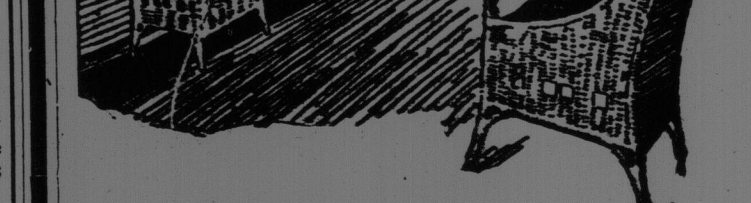

The commissioner adjourned until Wednesday, May 14.
