An Occasional Member Pined 100 For Trying to Kiss a Pretty Girl.

DES MONIES. Iowa, Jan. 6.—For attempting to kiss a pretty girl on the streets of Des Moines, Edwin Williams Cox was sentenced to thirty days in the city jail by Judge Silveira. Edwin attempted to kiss a pretty young woman with the remark, "I would like to kiss you," and when she protested and started to run he followed holding her to her skirt.

In the police court he remarked to the judge:
"Why, I would not do anything like that, your honor. I just came here from Minnesota."
"Well, I came from Missouri," was the judge's answer, "and if you do not happen to have $100 about your clothes for that kiss you didn't get you may go to jail for thirty days."

ABLE LECTURE.
John L. Carleton, K. C., entertained a large gathering at St. Malach's hall last evening with an instructive lecture on the Story of Hildebrand, Pope St. Gregory, VIII. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Father-Mother Society.

Mr. Carleton began with the time of Hildebrand's birth in 1050, and outlined the events which led up to his elevation to the papal chair. The lecture was much enjoyed, and a vote of thanks, moved by Judge Ritchie, seconded by Thomas Kichman, was tendered Mr. Carleton at the close.

ST. JOHN STAR.
ST. JOHN, N. B., JANUARY 11, 1904.

A GREAT NEED.
The Star has many times spoken in favor of the establishment in the province of public sanatoria for consumptives. It will do so yet many times, in the belief that such institutions are as necessary for the health of the community as are hospitals or laws regarding the quarantine of infectious diseases. Mention of the matter at this time is provoked by the recent movement in Ontario for the establishment of sanatoria by various municipalities.

While such action is probably impossible in New Brunswick on account of the paucity of any municipality to bear alone the expense involved, there is nothing to hinder the local government from acting in conjunction with the different municipalities in the matter as is done, for instance, in the case of lunatics.

Considering the enormous mortality, due to various forms of tuberculosis and the proven capacity of proper sanitarium treatment to cope successfully with the disease, it is wonderful that such institutions have not been more generally established. It is estimated that consumption causes as high as one-sixth of the deaths from all causes. No people nor class nor age is exempt. Germany's death roll from consumption in a single year totalled $7,000; Hungary's, 60,000. In Canada the annual victims of the white plague number from 7,000 to 8,000, of which New Brunswick contributes a fair proportion. And under proper treatment this mortality can be decreased to a great degree.

It is generally agreed that tuberculosis cannot be successfully treated in private houses and it is wrong to expose the sick from other diseases to the danger of this infection by admitting consumptives to the wards of a general hospital. But in special institutions, where the patient is kept in the open air and sunlight and provided with nourishing food and assiduous medical attendance, it has been proved that the majority of cases which under other conditions are surely fatal, are absolutely curable.

This province needs no one thing more than it needs a sanitarium where consumptives, regardless of their financial equipment, may be given a chance to escape the death which threatens them and become useful citizens again.

The Telegraph declares this morning that it is authorized to state that the Transportation Commissioners, if convinced by competent evidence that the proposed four new berths on the West Side are essential to handle the increased business of next year and will contribute to the solution of the transportation question, are in a position to recommend, not next year or the year after, but at once, that the government undertake the dredging in accordance with the city's request.

If this be true, the importance of the commission's visit to St. John is vastly increased. Surely neither the common council nor the board of trade will neglect anything in the way of evidence calculated to convince the capable business men who compose the commission of the justice of St. John's claims, and the necessity for immediate action.

If the government really decides to call the election off for the present, it will be very difficult to convince a great many people that the fact that the Grand Trunk's $3,000,000 deposit was made in bonds instead of cash had nothing to do with the decision.

WOULD LIKE TO BE A TYRANT.
The Moncton Transcript informs the Amherst Telegram that the firm of Rhodes, Curry & Co. of Amherst, "formerly conservative, are now supporting the Dominion government." Then it issues this challenge: "Let the 'Telegram obtain from Rhodes, Curry & Co. a denial of this statement' and publish it over their signatures." The point of this challenge is that the firm or company in question manufactures railway cars and that the government is by far the largest customer. It is fair to assume that these contractors would not rush into print with the gratuitous declaration that they are opposed to the government, since neither they nor the Telegram nor any one else had raised the question until the Transcript issued its challenge. As a matter of fact, Rhodes, Curry & Co. is a joint stock company, and as an organization can have no politics, since members of both are among the shareholders and on the directorate. The Transcript has long been showing the spirit of a tyrant in its references to the conservatives on the Intercolonial staff, and is now showing the same disposition toward all who sell supplies to the government railway—Sun.

WHAT IS TO COME.
What is to come we know not. But we know that what has been was good—was good to show, and best of all to bear. We are the masters of the days that were. We have lived, we have loved, we have suffered . . . even so.

Shall we not take the ebb who had the flow?
Life was our friend. Now, if it be our foe,
Dear, though it spoil and break us—
need we care?
What is to come?

Let the great winds their worst and
Or the gold weather round us mellow slow;
We have fulfilled ourselves, and we can dare
And we can conquer, though we may not share.
What is to come.
—W. E. Henley.

51 PEOPLE DROWNED
Steamer Founders Near Victoria, B. C.—Not a Woman or Child on Board Escaped.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 9.—The steamer Clallam, of the Seattle-Victoria fleet, sank this morning in the Straits of Juan de Fuca, and fifty-one persons were drowned.

It all occurred within three miles of the shore, but owing to the deadly sea that was running it was impossible to carry the passengers ashore in boats. The attempt was different times made with the result that those who were in the boats went down. Every woman and child aboard the Clallam perished.

The Clallam was a small though staunch steamer, and was in light of her destination when overwhelmed by a huge sea. The water swept her deck and flooded her hold. The first great wave carried many to their death and from that time till the foundering of the steamer those on board disappeared one by one. Those who had ventured out in boats had all been swamped and some forty persons remained alive on the steamer.

Heroic efforts were made to save those on board, and two tugs succeeded in taking away thirty-six before the steamer went down.

As soon as it was learned at Victoria that the Clallam was in a dangerous position a fleet of swift tugs was dispatched to her assistance. Only two succeeded in reaching the foundering steamer and were just in time to save thirty-six of those on board.

The bodies of several of the Clallam victims have been recovered.

BUILD MODEL THEATRE.
Manager Says He'll Exhaust Ingenuity to Make It Fireproof.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—William J. Gilman, proprietor of the Auditorium and formerly manager of the Park theatre, will erect a new playhouse to cost $200,000 at the northwest corner of Eighth and Arch streets. Ballinger & Perrot, the architects, say that it will be the safest theatre in the world in this country, and will be as near fireproof as human ingenuity can make it. Even the floors will be of incombustible material.

The new theatre will have exits on three streets in addition to a court on the entire western side of the building. There will be three exits on each side of the parqu岸 in addition to the Arch street front. There will also be three exits on each side of the balcony and four on each side of the gallery. There will be thirty-two exits.

The dressing rooms will be in a wing separated from the stage by a wall and double tin-lined doors. Over the stage will be a skylight, covering one-sixth of the house, connected with funnel links, made to open automatically in case of fire. Throughout the entire house will also be placed automatic fire sprinklers.

HERE'S PROPHECY.
University Man Says War in the East Will Last a Century.

RANGOON, Mo., Jan. 8.—Dean W. E. Walz, of the University of Maine law school, who for 12 years held an educational position in Japan under the emperor, says that in the event of conflict between Russia and Japan, "an American who, at 25 years of age, hears the first gun fired, will never live to see the end of the strife. It will take from 50 to 100 years to settle matters," he continued. "Not that I mean that the whole world will be engaged in the strife, nor that the globe will be desolated; neither do I mean that England will not be England, Germany or the United States not bear these names, but there will be a succession of terrible wars in which all nations will be concerned. In the end China will be a greatly enlightened nation and the question in the far east will be settled for ever."

SAILORS' TERRIBLE TIME.
Crews of Two Schooners Rescued by Steamers After Fearful Hardships.

YARMOUTH, January 8.—The steamer Boston arrived this evening after a very rough passage, during which a large hole was smashed in her forward hull. BOSTON, Jan. 9.—The steamer Prevail, from Calcutta, brought here the captain and crew of the schooner G. A. Smith, of Richibucto, who were found on their dismantled and sinking vessel last Wednesday about 400 miles off the coast. Their own vessel went down about an hour after the rescue.

FORECAST FOR 1904.
Rev. Dr. Wilson preached at Zion church last evening on "1904, A Forecast." The signs of the time, he said, are ominous. A conflict between Japan and Russia appears to be inevitable. The coming election carries with it a reference, and the speaker advised every man to make himself acquainted with the history of the country, especially since 1867, and to decide which of the two great parties was entitled to support.

It was won by Mr. Longman, who took the first three games yesterday."

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 8.—Kidnapped twenty years ago by his own father, given to a showman and growing up in that business and later learning the occult art in India, Alfred L. Thompson came back today, and found his mother, Mrs. S. J. Benton.

The child was turned over to an Uncle Tom's Cabin company to play little Eva. At eight years of age he was the champion rifle shot of his age. With Buffalo Bill he went to Europe, drifted to India, and spent two years in an institution of occult science.

He married an Indian maiden, came back to America, but after two years returned to India. Thompson's specialty is to hypnotize himself into a catatonic condition, and then to be buried alive.
