of St. Vincent de Paul is the oldest religious order in St. John, and was the second branch of the order established in Canada. It is to the efforts of the late Archbishop Connolly that the Sisters of Charity owe their establishment. The year 1854, which saw the founding of this order, will be remembered to be the year of the cholera, and the services of the sisters were in great demand during the time of that dreaded disease. As the need of Catholic schools was felt in the city Bishop Connolly invited Miss Honoria Conway to enter the convent of Mount St. Vincent's Convert. In 1854, when Miss Conway completed her novitiate she came to St. John. Four other sisters came here

In 1822 Mother M. Francis was appointed superior, and at the close of three years she was succeeded by the three years she was succeeded by the late Hishop Sween, who continued in office up till the time of her death in 1876. She was succeeded by the late Hishop Sween, who had the position six years, and was succeeded by the present superior, Mother Thomas. Under the careful and judicious management of Mother Thomas steady progress has been made in the work. During all the years since their organization in this city the sisters have been carrying on a most important educational work which has grown with the order. They conduct a school for girls in St. Joseph's Hail, from which the children are promoted to St. Vincent's high school. Wherever the order establish a branch a school is opened in connection with it.

The Y. M. S. of St Joseph owes it founding to the sisters. The society was organized by Mother Francis in 1856.

St. Patrick's Industrial School at Silver Falls, which is conducted by the Sisters, is a splendid building, situated on a high hill directly facing the fairs, from which the place takes its nime, and frim which the road present over a hundred quartered therein. These come from all parts of the diocese. Under the care of the Sisters they receive a good preliminary education before being up is a feature which receives special attention. Passing form one extreme to the other, from young to old, the Mater-Misericordiae next commands attention. Since its founding in 1889 the home has yearly proved the need for its existence. It is a hospital and home in one, a place of peace and other of the Sisters of Charity is essentially of French origin. It was established in France in 1620 and was first introduced into America about 1805. About 1830 an American branch was organized and under Mother Seaton progressed. Branches were established from the mother house at New 1840 and Canada. The first branch to cross a sociation arrived tonight.

THE MAIDENS WHO TAKE THE VEIL

To The Sisters of Charity of the Diocese of St. John, on the Occasion of Their Golden Jubilee

A song for the band that are seldom sung, though never a nobler theme Entered the soul of a singer true or prompted to test supreme;

A song and a toast for the fairest host of mortals that walk life's trail, White lilies that nod in the gardens of God, the maidens who take the veil!

Choice ballads there be of the knights of yore who polished each trusty Uptook the Cross for their oriflamme, and marched to the Lord's Crusade;

But never a knight of the Western world for the Holy Land set sail With half the devoted faith and love of the maidens who take the veil. High hymns of praise chant our modern bards to the heroines of worth, Whose deeds begem dull history's page as flowers bedeck the earth, Yet braver than Darling's derring-do, or the courage of Nightingale, Is the spirit that moves, their whole life long, the maidens who take the veil.

Whatever the need of earth's stricken ones, the poor, the hapless, and lone, The orphaned young and the helpless old—sed wrecks on the world-reefs

The soldier crushed on the bloody field, or the fever-ward's inmate pale,—All find at hand that angel-band, the maidens who take the veil.

Then a song for the Best of Womankind, meek queens whom we all reverse A paean of praise for the Brides of Christ, dispensing His merey here!

A hymn and a prayer that we, too, may share in their joy that shall never When their Heavenly spouse seals for aye their vows, the madens who
