Visit Sweden at the Nickel Today That Sweden is a far more beautiful country than most people on this side of the Atlantic imagine will be un-mistakably evidenced at the Nickel to-day. The waterfalls and torrents are most impressive, grand in their uncontrollable power and numerous pools, brooks, etc., prove what a paradise it is for anglers. This picture is brand new, dated April 27th. A recollection of the American civil war is revived in a pictorial film—1,000 feet long—entitled A Famous Escape being a pictorial enactment of the renowned escape through a hand-dug tunnel of numerous Northern soldiers from Libbey prison. The struggles of the half-starved men to gain their liberty tell a tale of great suffering that will be interesting because of its historical worth. Unfer the Livery is a melo-drama of unusual force and fine acting. Last evening Miss Davis was encored time and time again in her rendering of the sentimental ballad, Just Someone, and Mr. Maxwell repeated his former successes with Won't You Come over to Phillie, Willie? Big matinee of new pictures today.

Ellis, the votal numbers by Miss Ethel Alchern and Miss Cassely were very well received. A Treat at Popular Prices

What can be termed a treat at popular prices will be the engagement of Kirk Brown and his company at the Opera House for two weeks, starting next Monday. Equipped with some of the most expensive costumes ever seen in the local stage, and an abundance of scenery and properties, Mr. Brown can undoubtedly look forward to a large two weeks' business. The prices alone ought to prove an incentive to draw more than an ordinary good tastness. Every member of the company will be seen to a good advantage in the opening play "Raffes." The Amateur Cracksman, Monday evening. Other plays for the first week will be Sarah Bernhardt's version of "Camille," "The Eternal City," "By Right of Sword" and "The Christian."

Mr. Mullin then applied for further adjournment, saying he had received information that Frank King was working in the Iron works at Yarmouth.

D. Mullin and John A. Barry for the defense objected to any adjournment being given. Mr. Henderson replied that as there were indications that witnesses were tampered with, it was necessary that this side issue be followed.

His honor thought there was evidence enough for an adjournment, and it was finally decided to resume the case on Wednesday afternoon.
