

ARMY IN WEST HAS GROWN GREATLY IN PAST 6 MOS.

Terrible Hardships by Army of Gen. Townsend Before Surrendering

Whole Garrison Would Have Perished if it had Held Out Few Days Longer—Every Cannon, Rifle and Cartridge Destroyed Before Surrender.

New York, May 30.—The Evening World today publishes the following: Bombay, India, May 30.—Stories of the terrible suffering of the British and Indian soldiers, and the inhabitants of Kut-el-Amara, before General Townsend gave up his gallant defense of the place, have been brought here by wounded and diseased prisoners, who were exchanged for Turkish prisoners. They were frightfully emaciated. The whole garrison would have perished if Townsend had held out a few days longer. When the capitulation was signed, only six miles were left to feed the army, and 20,000 of the civil population. When Townsend tried to send the Turkish civilians into the Turkish lines, the Turks hanged forty of them, and a warning to the remainder to stay and consume the British food. Before the surrender, every cannon, projectile, rifle and cartridge was destroyed. A diary of the siege shows only suffering for food. Before the surrender a dead officer's kit was sold. Eighty dollars was paid for a box of cigars and $20 for fifty American cigarettes. In February the rations daily consisted of a pound of barley meal, bread and a pound and a quarter of mule or horse flesh. In April it was four ounces of bread and a pound of flesh.

The second lot of aliens being brought to Minto is said to be made up of 25 foreigners, most of them Germans. Minto section has a great many alien enemies as residents now and many of the residents fear that these aliens are not being watched as carefully as they should be in all other places.

BERLIN CLAIMS GERMAN SHIP SUNK WITHOUT WARNING

Berlin, May 30, via wireless to Sayville—Six men were lost in the attack by a submarine on the German steamer Kolga, sunk in the Baltic on May 17, according to a despatch to the Lubeck, where the survivors of the steamer have arrived. The despatch declares that the Kolga was shelled after she stopped, and that the submarine launched a torpedo which sank the steamer as the crew was about to lower the lifeboats. "The submarine appeared suddenly at a distance of 400 metres from the Kolga," says the despatch, "the submarine firing a shot which went wide, upon which the steamer immediately stopped. Notwithstanding this, one minute later a second shot was fired which destroyed the bridge. The crew, only half clad, rushed for the lifeboats while the captain ran into the cabin in an effort to rescue the ship's papers. "The submarine fired two more shots, both of which struck the steamer. One sailor was wounded. Immediately afterwards came a torpedo, although it could be clearly observed from the submarine that the crew was about to launch the lifeboats. "The torpedo caused the steamer to sink immediately, the captain, both the helmsmen, the cook and two sailors perishing. "The enemy submarine opened fire without warning, and continued firing, in spite of the immediate stopping of the steamer. Furthermore the torpedo was fired as the crew was about to enter the boats, so that six out of nineteen sailors lost their lives. "It is only a short time since a party of four aliens who were supposed to be reporting regularly to parole officers, left the place suddenly and next thing heard of them was when a group photograph showing three of the party was received from the United States.

Would Wake Up With Smothering Spells.

There is nothing that brings with it such a fear of impending death as to wake up in the night with that awful sense of smothering. The terrible smothering, choking up and sinking feeling is caused by the heart and nerves being in a deranged condition, and calls for prompt relief. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the only remedy that can give prompt relief and effect a complete cure in all cases of such severity. They strengthen and invigorate the heart, tone up the nervous system, and the trouble which is the cause of so much fear and anxiety becomes a thing of the past. Mrs. Wm. McEwain, Temperance Vale, N.B., writes: "I am not much of a believer in medicines, but I must say Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are all right. Some years ago I was troubled with smothering spells. In the night I would be sound asleep, but would wake up with my breath all gone, and think I would never get it back again. I was telling a friend of my trouble, and he advised me to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. He also gave me a box which I tried, and I had only taken a few of them when I could sleep all night without any trouble. I did not finish the box until some years later, when I felt my trouble coming on again. I took the rest and they have cured me entirely. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box, 2 boxes for $1.25, at all druggists or mailed direct by The T. M. Mills Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

OLD ARMY ON BRITISH FRONT COMPLETELY ENGULFED BY THE NEW REINFORCEMENTS

One Must Ride 100 Miles to Compass the British Front—Junior Officers Too Young to Vote Now Holding Positions of Great Responsibility.

British Headquarters, France, May 30.—A correspondent who has been absent for six months from the British front is amazed upon his return at the increase in numbers, men, guns and equipment. The numerous battalions of the new army which have arrived have engulfed the old regular army. Not one officer in ten that are met have had any military service before the war. It now requires a ride of a hundred miles to compass the British front. Khaki is thick in the villages of the Somme country as well as in those of Northern Belgium. The British hold the famous "Labyrinth" as well as Ypres and Loos. In the course of the taking over of a long section of the French line which freed French troops for service hundreds of miles of wire had to be laid, transport organized, headquarters moved, new corps and divisions created and commanders appointed. In the last few months new men have come into positions of responsibility. Men who entered the army as second lieutenants have become captains without yet being old enough to vote. Majors have become colonels and generals.

Notwithstanding the countless deeds of bravery that have been chronicled on the British front, the ceremony of awarding the Victoria Cross is still rare enough to be notable whenever it occurs. One such recent ceremony was, in fact, unique, for the recipient was the Rev. Noel Mellish, a London curate, who is the first chaplain in the British army to receive the cross in the present war, or in any war since the second Afghan campaign of 1879. The units of the army were drawn up for the ceremony in a division forming a hollow square on the spring green of an open field, in the center of which stood Mr. Mellish and other officers who were to receive lesser decorations. The general who pinned the ribbon on the chaplain's breast read a brief account of the gallantry that won him the honor. The general told how, again and again, Mellish had risked his life to attend to and bring to places of safety those wounded in the fighting at St. Eloi. The clergyman, who is a extremely slender and bony looking man of gentle manner, rather than a typical fighting parson, took his honors modestly, and was given a hearty round of cheers by the thousands of soldiers present.

British Victory in The Soudan Greater Than at First Was Believed

Pick of Sultan of Darfur's Troops Were in the Fight and Were Completely Defeated—Disarming of the Tribesmen Going on Satisfactorily.

London, May 30.—Further reports of the fighting last week, in the Sudan, in which Col. Kellie's force defeated some 3,000 troops of Ali Dinar, Sultan of Darfur, show the British victory to have been greater than at first announced, according to an official statement today, which says: "The completeness of the victory over the Sultan of Darfur on May 23, is confirmed by a further telegram from the Sudan. All the Sultan's best troops and commanders were present. Most of the latter were accounted for or surrendered. The disarmament of the tribesmen is proceeding satisfactorily. Several thousand rifles and a large quantity of ammunition already have been handed in. "On the morning following the battle, our aeroplanes threw bombs on a large body of men fleeing from El Fasher, with Ali Dinar. The latter was last seen at the head of a following of only 300 men. He was faced by a journey of one and a half days, across a waterless desert, before he could reach Gebelmarra."

Captain Ernest Freyman, parliamentary under-secretary for the Board of Trade, in the House of Commons today, said that although there was no actual shortage, the existing high prices arose from a deficiency due to the requirements of the forces in the field. The government, he added, was reviewing the situation carefully.
