Crown Colony Which Is the Gem of the Caribbean Sea-Has the Finest Roads in the World-These Belong to the Government, as Does the Island's Only Railway Line.

Jamaica is one of the most fertile spots in the tropics—the gem of the Caribbean Sea, and is only five days' sail from Boston.

Market days present many interesting spectacles to the tourist visiting the larger towns of Jamaica. One of the things that will attract the stranger is the universal practice the people have of carrying parcels on their heads. It may be a seven-ty-five pound basket of fruit or vege-tables; it may be a pound of beef-steak or it may be an empty tin can or glass jar; it will be carried on the head—never in the hand. Ev-ery bunch of bananas has been car-ried on semeone's head either on the ried on someone's head either on the plantation or at the ship's side. Some have to walk twenty miles to market and will carry heavy burdens the whole distance on their heads. Women do most of the work and the result is they are very strong and of fine, straight figure.

Bananas require a great deal of Every child should be taught to swim, not only as a preventive of drowning, but for the magnificent ex-

The interior of the island is very suitable for cattle-raising and there may be seen here, for instance, a fine herd of Hereford cattle on the estate capital reins for children, being both serviceable and pretty if trimmed with of Lord Malcolm, of Scotland, and large herds of Indian cattle, as well as thoroughbreds, on the estate of the Hon. Along the north shore, in the district contiguous to Montego Bay, large areas of sugar may be found. Sugar and rum are among the staple organ and rum are among the staple products of the island. Cereals are very little grown, but vegetables and small fruits, known as "hoe crops," do well in many parts, particularly the claysted sections. the elevated sections.

Jamaica is beginning to see better times. The people of the island are getting their share of the prosare getting their share of the pros-perity which seems to be enjoyed by many lands to-day. This is, no doubt owing, largely to the busi-ness carried on by the United Fruit Company. One planter, formerly a sailor, who, twenty years ago, did not possess a dollar, is to-day worth $250,000. Many other examples of prosperity could be cited. The satisfaction of having the washing done early in the day, and well done, belongs to every prosperity could be cited.

prosperity could be cited.

The finest roads in the world are to be found in Jamaica. They are built by the Government, which spends about eighteen thousand pounds a year on this their principal branch of public works. In the construction of these roads a kind of limestone is used. When broken up fine and properly packed this stone soon forms a kind of cement and makes a smooth and very durable road. The stone can be taken of any one's property for this purpose. It is mostly broken by women, who like the occupation very much as it gives them a splendid chance to get together and talk. They are paid a shilling a day and would rather work at this job than almost anything else.

The peace of the island is granted. A stewed chop is recommended for an invalid's dinner. Trim all the fat from a good sized loin chop and put in a casserole, or covered dish, with two tablespoonfuls of water and a little

There is very little serious crime committed in Jamaica, the greater number of offences being known as predial larceny. There is a class of blacks too lazy to work. Some say the reason there is not more drunkenness in that country is that the blacks have not money enough to buy much rum with. Others say the blacks have not hone, to buy much rum with. Others say the fine police system they have is responsible for the good order, and that without them things would soon "go to the dogs." Certain it is that the law is administered swiftly and justice is meted out with impartiality and often with wholesome soverity.

The population of Jamaica is al-The population of Jamaica is almost entirely colored, as we would say, but the people of the island make quite a distinction in the matter of color. A native who has no strain of white in his composition is called a plain "black." One who has the least strain of white ancestry in him, which is a most common circumstance, prides himself on being "colored" and would be highly insulted if called a "black."

The ancestors of these interesting people were slaves previous to 1834.

The ancestors of these interesting people were slaves previous to 1834, when they were liberated by the British Government. They are proud to be British subjects and have developed to be a self-respecting, intelligent, ambitious and cultured people. There is an entire absence of that cowering, cringing mien shown in the negro of the Southern States. There is no color line, as the term is understood, in the neighboring republic. The great majority of the inhabitants are what we call mulattoes, says a recently returned Canadian tourist to the Island. Features that are generally

Jamaica is a Crown colony, and, of course, it follows that the governor, the solicitor-general, the minister of public works, the colonial secter of public works, the colonial secretary, the commander of the military forces, and the judges are white and British. Fourteen representatives, mostly colored, are elected by the people, but the representatives of the Crown are in the majority in the governing body, and the governor, who presides, has the casting vote. The constituency of one black representative includes 500,000 voters. Four of the richest planters in all Jamaica are colored.

They are all intensely loval and

They are all intensely loyal and proud of the flag that stands for freedom. When questioned as to the extent of sentiment existing among the populace regarding annexation to the United States a very well in-formed gentleman said it would be hard to find one native or other reshard to find one native or other resident in favor of annexation.

"We know," he added, "what that would mean. We know how colored people are regarded in the United States. Here we have no color line, no ostracism, no 'Jim Crow' cars. We stand on an equality with our fellow subjects and we know who to thank for our privileges."

The school system of Jamaica is a very liberal and efficient one. Children are allowed to go to school free of all charge until they are fourteen years of age, after which a nominal

More Jamaica oranges are exported to England than to America. Coffee growing is a very import-ant industry, and the Blue Mountain coffee, which bears best at an alti-conce, which pears best at an attitude of about 4.000 feet, is considered the best in the world. It brings about three times the price of other coffee, and is mostly bought up by the Russians. It is scarcely ever seen in the United States or in Can-Logwood and several hard woeds

Montreal, May 18.—(Special).—The case of George Robertson, of 392 James street, this city, is looked upon by those interested in medical matters as one of the most interesting on record. Mr. Robertson was a sufferer from Dropsy and was so load that tapping was resorted to. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Interviewed regarding his cure, Mr. Robertson said: "I was troubled with Dropsy and Rheumatism for five years. I was a total wreck before I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before I got out of bed in the morning I could hardly put my feet on the floor, they were swollen so much from Dropsy.

"My arms used to swell at times so that I could not put my coat on. Before I had taken two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I felt greatly relieved. Seven boxes cured me completely. I also had lumbago, but since I used Dodd's Kidney Pills I don't know what it is to be sick." Dropsy, Lumbago and Rheumatism are all caused by diseased Kidneys, when Dodd's Kidney Pills are used.
