

Last Mountain Lake, embraces one of the finest areas in the Northwest. The land is undulating in this region, mostly open prairie. The soil is rich black vegetable loam, from one to two feet deep, and is underlaid with a clay subsoil. Frost, to injure the wheat, is virtually unknown. Being thus favored so highly by nature, it is not surprising that the production of wheat in this region is phenomenally high; in several instances forty to forty-five bushels per acre have been reaped. Oats, Barley, Flax and all small grains yield relatively as good as those of wheat. Potatoes grow most luxuriantly. Two or three years ago there were not more than thirty-five settlers in the entire area; now there are over a thousand, and others
