LATEST NEWS.

The latest telegraph reports give more encouragement to the success of the Allies. Another great German offensive has just commenced and the expected attack on the Italian lines is looked for.

The Germans are again bombarding Paris.

All is quiet in Quebec.
British Shipping losses are very light in last weeks report.
Practically no headway is now being made by the enemy and their list of casualties still piling up in a degree that no other nation would allow to continue.
The Germans feel that they must now break the lines in front at any cost but the line still holds or bends back but a little where noble lives can be saved by so doing.

While the issue of the great battle is still in doubt. We have every assurance of hope for the final victory. Better news will soon be coming forward.

SHIP BUILDING AT HALES HARBOR.

Mr. Hatsfield has the keel now laid in the new ship yard at Hunting Point, Hales Harbor. It is 135 ft. keel and will be a handsome vessel when completed. The shipyard and surroundings is now quite a hive of industry. A mill has been erected and is now busy turning out the material for the ship. A store has been established and quite a village now surrounds the works at that place. Mr. Andrew Neville is the foreman. It is well on to half a century since the last large vessel was built at the harbor by D. R. & C. F. Eaton and John Buchnam. The shipyard there was just west of the pier. The present ship is the beginning of an industry that is likely to continue. The
