A CURIOUS CAP

Jack Primeau, of Toronto, who was in the city last week visiting parents on Wellington St., brought with him a curious cap, which was presented to him by a friend.

The cap is much like the toboggan cap of this country in shape, but when pulled out from the top is almost two feet in length, and has a tassal much resembling a Chinaman's one. As might be expected of a cap worn in tropical regions, it is light and cool, the weaving being of a very loose nature, but withal strong and substantial.

It is made from the fibre husk that envelopes a very long fruit, that grows on the Julia palm of Central America, and which is found mostly in swampy places. This palm is sometimes known as the cocco palm.

In order to prepare this fibre for weaving purposes it has to be rolled briskly in the hands.

The cap is quite an odd curio, and Mr. Primeau says that he would not sell it at any price.

Stomach troubles, Heart and Kidney ailments, can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to Dr. Shroove's Restorative.

Sold by All Dealers.

A DREAM

I had a dream the other night and I saw in my dream two little chubby fellows very poorly clad in rags, and cold wet feet, crying on the street.

Now if many of these little ones die and go to heaven this winter, maybe those immigration agents will be calling on those little ones for a drop of cold water to cool their parched tongues.

I for my part have resolved to repair the shoes of such of these little ones for half price, if I have to go with half a loaf instead of one, and as doctors do, I will charge those that are able to pay more for what they have done.
