AN EXHIBIT

FOR AUTUMN WEAR.

The Dress Fabrics on view in this Dress Department would do credit to a much larger place than Chatham. No turn was left undone in in our effort to secure the very latest novelties. In plain weaves myriads of Cloths were competing for a place in this Dress Goods stock, and only the best were selected by our experienced Dress Goods Judge.

MR CLEMENTS AT SOUTH BUXTON

Last evening some 300 of the good people around South Buxton gathered in the hall to hear Herbert Clements. Ex-Mayor T. A. Smith and Alderman Geo. G. Martin attended the meeting in behalf of Clements. Mr. Robinson, township clerk, was called to the chair, which he ably filled. Mr. Clements was receive dwith a storm of cheers and cries—that's our coming of cheers and cries-that's our coming member. Mr. Clements spoke for an hour and a half fully discussing the tariff railway and transportation questions, and he shewed up George Stephens as no friend to the farmer. Stephens as no friend to the farmer. T. A. Smith was received with great cheers. Mr. Smith told all about what Stephens did not do for Kent and what he prevented other people from doing. He showed that Stephens blooked every good movement for the benefit of the people. When Ald. Martin was called he was received with such applause that he could not speak for minutes. They all knew Mr. Martin out there as an old campaigner. Mr Martin showed up the corruption of the Ross-Laurier government and fully explained the unholy alliance now entered into to let the Ross machinery loose upon this the Ross machinery loose upon this province to deliver it in the hands of Laurier. Mr. Martin fully showed up the radial railway bribery matter in Dover and satisfied his hearers concerning Stephens' connection therewith.

After the meeting Messrs. Cle-ments, Smith and Martin were in-vited to Ledson Pardo's house to a to address the meeting in the bribery charges.

Gee, Stephens, who also arrived late addressed the meeting. He was accompanied by Herbert Dunn, the Toronto lawyer, one of the promoters, and directors of the proposed Chatham, Walleceburg and Lake Erie electric railway and a man who is interested in getting the $75,000 bonus from the township of Dover.
Mr. Levesque just previously had ested in getting the $75,000 bonus from the township of Dover.

Mr. Levesque just previously had given his answer to the Dundonald affair in French. A man in the audience asked for the same explanation in English and Mr. Levesque replied "Mr. Stephens will give it," but Mr. Stephens did not give it and the request was not granted.

Mr. Stephens made a very exhaustive address the chief points in it being that he claimed credit for having the river dredged, getting the armories, and having work done at the Eau. He admitted that he voted against granting a two-cent rate on railroads. He accused his opponent of having an eye on the woolen goods and he also accused his opponent of supporting free binder twine, while talking to farmers and talking duty to men in town but he didn't say how he worked to get the Dover Council to pass a bonus of $75,000 for the Electric Railway. Mr. Stephens evidently realizes that this is not a pleasant subject to the people of Big Point.

referred briefly to the bribery charges,

"I refuted the charges last night at Pain Court," said he, "I am innocent and good Consorvatives tell me they are going to vote for me."

After this introduction to his speech many people left the hall and they kept going out all the time he was speaking until when he concluded the crowd had simmered down to a handful compared to the number who were there at the commencement of the meeting.

cheers. When Messrs, Purser, Boyer, Arnold and Dr. Thornton had left the hall the crowd was called back and hall the crowd was called back and Herbert Dunn, the railway promot-er, addressed the meeting. Mr. Dunn is the man whose only evidence on his affidavit was that he didn't see Mr. Stephens offer the bribe to either
