The erstwhile Tigers III. will play under the colors and name of the Y.M.C.A. for the rest of the season now as they are in the semi-final. Saturday's game was the first of the semi-finals. The championship of Canada will be decided in five games. All the games are to be decided on points and Hamilton has to travel to Berlin next Saturday and give the College a chance to beat them over fifty points. The next game after that will be with the Parkdale Canoe Club in Toronto and the last will be with Brockville in their home town. The management will try to get the Toronto game played here as they are not likely to make much on a game in Toronto.

ARGOS II. DEFAULTED.

After putting the Hamilton Football Club to the expense of sending the Intermediate Tigers down to Toronto on Saturday afternoon, the Argonaut Intermediate team refused to play the Tigers on the ground that Harrison. Loftus and Pfiefer had been professionalized by the C. A. A. U. and as the Argos claimed they had never played against professional men so far this season, they couldn't see their way clear to do so on Saturday. Hardy Awrey and Joe Lawlor, the manager of the Intermediates, explained the fact that the Argos had played against Pfiefer a week ago, but in answer to that the Argos claimed that the line-up of the Tigers was unknown played against Pfiefer a week ago, but in answer to that the Argos claimed that the line-up of the Tigers was unknown to them. Had they known the line up, they wouldn't have played the game in this city. The members of the Argos who objected to playing the Tigers were Inglis, Meredith, Riddy and Taylor, and they refused to go in the game at all as they belong to the track team of the Argonauts. While all this wrangling was going on at the Varsity Campus, where the game was to have been played, someone sent for W. A. Hewitt, to see if he couldn't straighten out the trouble. He didn't have any better euccess, than his brother, the captain, had had in getting the men together, and about 2.30, exactly an hour after the time appointed for the game to begin, Hewitt agreed to default the game to the Tigers. After defaulting, a practise game was suggested, but by this time the whole Argonaut team had got cold feet and Capt. Hewitt could get none of the men together. After this had happened, the Tigers piled into their tallyho, and were driven over to see the Varsity-Queen's game.

It was evident from the moment the Tigers appeared on the field that something was doing in the air, and when fault the game to the Tigers. The Argonauts did not seem to realize the fact that they had been already "prafessionalized," owing to the fact that they have played against teams that the Tigers have played, and while the names of those on the team of the Argos may not have been published, that does not give them any opportunity to say that they are not professionals, and for that matter the Argos as a body have been professionalized. The Argonaute must think that the Hamilton Football Club is an organization with a good-sized fortune at its back, so that it doesn't matter about the expense of sending 15 or 20 men around the country, just for the fun of the thing.

Mentreal, Nov. 11.—The greatest athletic event in Montreal's long and glorious athletic history took place on Saturday, and it was witnessed by the greatest crowd that ever was seen on the streets and in the suburbs of Montreal, no matter what the occasion, sporting or otherwise. The streets were jammed, and in spite of the efforts of a hundred police the competitors had to elbow their way through the enthusiastic spectators for nearly a mile from the finish. To this was possibly due the fact that there was but little difference in distance between the first three men at the finish of the long journey. No sprinting could be done at the end, on account of the crowd, and the leading men maintained practically the advantages of distance that they had when entering the press of people. Longboat won the individual holors, but his advantage at the end was not more than about twenty yards was practically the advantages of distance that they had when entering the press of people. George Adams, the flying Hamilton Y. M. C. A. man, was third, about the same distance back of Tait, but the quite unusual circumstance developed later that Tait believed Adams had finished ahead of him, and he turned over to Adams the second prize medal, exchanging it for the third, which he retained himself. Tait was mistaken, though his action, being dietated by his own belief that he was not entitled to second prize, is none the less creditable to his sense of fair play and scrupulous dealing. The confusion arose from the fact that while Tait crossed from the fact that while Tait crossed from the fact through, and finished on the sidewalk, the runners being quite out of each other's sight.
