THE QUEEN'S HEALTH.

The Queen's health is a source of anxiety just now. The shock sustained by her recent accident, and the death of her faithful henchman and almost inseparable companion, John Brown, appears to have laid a heavy strain upon her health.

SMALL FAVORS ARE THANKFULLY RECEIVED BY NEWSPAPER MEN IN THE BACK TOWNSHIP.

Small favors are thankfully received by newspaper men in the back township. Some time ago the Gorrie Enquirer man received a butter-knife as a gift, and after thanking the donor, immediately raised a loud cry for butter, so he could use the knife to advantage, and find out from practical experience how the thing worked.

THE SITUATION IN IRELAND JUST NOW IS CRITICAL.

The situation in Ireland just now is critical. It seems as if the Pope's manifesto has given the League a blow it will hardly fully recover from.

STRENGTH OF LORD LORNE'S SUCCESSORS.

Strength of Lord Lorne's successors. Lord Lorne's successors are being named, and it is thought that the Liberal Unionists will have a strong voice in the matter.

The opinion is not confined to one party alone that the revising barristers, after their work on the voters' lists of the eve of a general election, would benefit subjects themselves for a revision.

On Wednesday of last week a gunner named Beer, of Battery "A," stationed at Quebec, died from over-indulgence in intoxicants. In this case Beer having been brought to his pier through the direct instrumentality of beer, shows that there is an eternal fitness in things after all.

Mrs. Scoville has obtained permission from a Chicago court to change her name to Frances Marie Howe, and as Mrs. Scoville she will be known no longer. The name Howe is her mother's, which she adopted, not having the nerve to break her maiden name—Guiteau—on account of the notoriety given it by her unfortunate brother, Charles J., the assassin of Garfield.

The unusually cold condition of the weather lately gives much force to the warning that it isn't good policy to change underwear until you are sure winter is gone. The old distich comes to the front and says: "Don't change a cloth till May goes out," and the gentleman who built the rhyme originally had a head as level as a bowling alley, if his experience of weather was such as that of the past week.

GENERAL Booth, the head centre of the Salvation Army, says he is growing grey and prematurely old on account of the prevalence of sin and sorrow in this degenerate age. Thank you, general, we didn't know what was causing the silver threads to get amongst our golden locks, but now we see it as plain as day, —it's the degeneracy of other folk. We were going to invest in hair dye, but if the rest of mankind in their iniquity are responsible for the bleaching of our locks, we might as well take to it kindly, for there's a majority against us.

THE Queen's health is a source of anxiety just now. The shock sustained by her recent accident, and the death of her faithful henchman and almost inseparable companion, John Brown, appears to have laid a heavy strain upon her health. She goes to Balmoral next week. Her Majesty has been a prey of late to fits of deep depression, which neither the physicians nor the members of her family have been able to alleviate. The former have strenuously opposed her going to the Highlands, as likely to be followed by the worst results, but she refuses their advice. Her condition causes a great deal of anxiety.

A NEW WRINKLE HAS COME OUT CONCERNING THE METHOD ADOPTED BY THE GOVERNMENT TO SUCCESSFULLY WORK THE TORY ROUND ROBIN WHICH WAS CIRCULATED SO THAT THE SESSIONAL INDEMNITY TO THE MEMBERS WOULD BE INCREASED FROM $1,000 TO $1,500. The Government favored the proposal, but it was necessary to get some of the Opposition identified with the "put up job," and emissaries were sent to a number of Liberals against whom election petitions had been entered, who stated the protests would be withdrawn if they would sign the round robin. To this end it was proposed that a bill would be introduced making every seat safe except that of Hawkins for Bothwell. Owing to the fact that Blake would not sanction the conspiracy the matter fell to the ground. The courts will decide the cases, and the indemnity will not be increased.

A MAN NAMED SMITH FORGED A NOTE IN BOULTON THE OTHER DAY AND SKEDADDLED TO TORONTO. A merchant named Smith was in Toronto about the same time buying goods. A telegram was received at Toronto calling for the arrest of Smith from Berlin for forgery. The detectives got on the track of merchant Smith after he had started for home on the train. The authorities at Guelph were "wired" to arrest him when the train arrived at that station. Merchant Smith was duly arrested and locked up, and it was some time before he could prove satisfactorily to the officers of justice that he was the other Smith and not the Smith that was "wanted." Merchant Smith was put to a great deal of inconvenience, and now wishes he had been born a girl, so he could change his name more easily than by application to parliament.

A FACT FOR MR. FARROW.

The latest egg story comes from near Hesperia. Mr. Vance, who is a poultry fancier, claims that he has two Lighthouse hens which lay two eggs each day, and a duck which does the same. He is now convinced that the N. P. has something to do with the prosperity of the country and his poultry in particular. (Berlin Telegraph.)

A New York broker puts the C. P. R. bargain in a nutshell when he thus writes to the New York Tribune:—I wonder that Canada did not give to this company the Government and retain the railroad.—[E.]

They've got a softer thing. They are running both the railroad and the Government.

The Pall Mall Gazette announces that the Marquis of Lansdowne has accepted the governor-generalship of Canada, and that he will sail for this country in October. Henry Charles Keith Petty-Fitzmaurice (Irish earl of Kerry and Shelburne) was born in 1845, succeeded in 1866, and married a daughter of the Duke of Abercorn. He has been a lord of the treasury and parliamentary under secretary for war, and under the present Gladstone administration is under secretary for India. In politics he is a Liberal. The family seat is Bowood park, Calne, Wiltshire.

From the Winnipeg papers we learn that a number of Indians were recently sentenced to five years penal servitude. "The Wolf," "The Lonesome Man" and "Cut Foot" were sentenced for bringing stolen property from Montana into the Dominion of Canada. "The Wolf" must have been in sheep's clothing, and the "Lonesome Man" must have pined for that seclusion which a penitentiary grants when they went into the unlawful business; and "Cut Foot" must have slipped in when the other foot was unaware of his action. Isn't it strange what harmony exists in the musical Indian cozenomen?

We notice, by a Listowel paper that one day last week twenty commercial travellers tarried at the Central hotel in that flourishing burg, and we presume, ate, drank, made merry, and told epigrams. The Listowel journal in commenting upon it says:—"This may be taken as a proof that 'birds of a feather flock together,' or it may be taken as an indication of a rushing business in commercial circles, or more probably of the popularity of the Central hotel." Our Listowel conferees in wrong in all three of its surmises. The real facts of the case are that the drummers had been working hard on their spring trip, and being a little jaded brought them to rest and secure quiet at this wayside place. Hence their presence in Listowel so numerously on the day in question.

THE Mail believes it is very wrong for the Globe to fault M. Bourinot for collusion with Mr. Dingman, of the Strathroy Dispatch, to defraud the post office department, by using the franking privilege to send out private circulars advertising the Dispatch for sale on easy terms. The Mail touches the question gingerly, but would fain give Bourinot sympathy. Mr. Bourinot doesn't deserve it. If he had anything to do with giving the use of the franking privilege to Dingman he was guilty of a disgraceful breach of trust, and in any event Dingman acted dishonestly when he used the privilege. The postal fraud is even more heinous than the celebrated case when Hon. Mr. Cockburn, Sir John's speaker in the Parliament of 72, franked his boots through the mails to save express charges.

THE OBNOXIOUS CIRCULAR.

Patrick Egan, the Ex-Treasurer of the Land League, opens out on his obnoxious circular. Chicago, May 21.—Patrick Egan, ex-treasurer of the Irish Land League, addressed a large audience last night in reference to the Pope's circular. He said: "If its contents are as reported, I can only look upon it in the light of an insult to the common sense of the Irish people. Ten years ago this circular might have had considerable effect in Ireland, but today its result will be just the opposite to that which those who prepared it calculated upon. It will not retard in one iota the ardor of Catholics in the national struggle, while it will serve to dispel the latter's suspicion and fear of the Papal authority which still keeps some northern Protestants apart from their Catholic compatriots. While we Irish Catholics are intensely devoted to our religion, as we have ever been, we have acquired a better knowledge of our rights as men and citizens in matters purely secular, and will stand no dictation or interference with our rights in matters from what quarter it is attempted."

SHOT THROUGH THE HEAR.

William Tyson, aged about 20, residing in the township of Ansonia, Friday morning he went out with his shotgun. In his peregrinations he brought up at last at Milton Township's farm where he had to climb the fence. He struck the barrel of his gun through the fence, and the shot went through the fence and struck the man in the chest. When the trigger came in contact with the fence it somehow set the gun off and the charge was buried in his heart. He fell dead on the spot. The flesh around where the shot penetrated his body is horribly burnt, and his clothes were set on fire and were smouldering when he was discovered.

PANDEMONIUM.

How Our Legislators Earn Their $1,000 a Year Salary.

(From the Dundas Banner.)

There have been some ludicrous scenes in the House during the past week. Mr. McNeil, who has been preparing a speech on the N. P. and the Journal of England under Free Trade, for the past month, struck for a hearing of his eloquence the other day on the motion for going into supply being moved, and for more than an hour he kept the floor amidst indescribable confusion. Desks were overturned, benches overturned, and many vessels are reported to have "taken a drink," "lost," etc., etc., were kept up with intermission, while a warfare of paper balls, bills, etc., was waged in every part of the chamber, and roars of laughter greeted every new development. The scene was what the members call a "circus," but poor McNeil persistently insisted that his notes and manuscript were in a safe which was locked with a key which he carried in his pocket, and that the members who were tumblers filled with water, while the pages trotted hither and thither with boxes of snuff which was freely indulged in by the members, to induce sneezing, were crying for the members, desisted from which was ended at last to the delight of the Speaker, who was powerless to maintain order.

But this scene was nothing when compared with one or two which have taken place in the small hours of the morning while the House was in committee of supply, with Mr. Rykert in the chair. Charles seems to enjoy a "circus" and never attempts to maintain order in any way. In addition to the usual system of warfare which we have attempted to describe, "Home, sweet Home" was struck up, and sung with gusto, and several of the members, desisted from the questions under discussion altogether, —one intimating that his opponent was like Artemus Ward's travelling monkey, which was said to be "an amusing little cuss," which brought out the retort that the offending gentleman here a strong resemblance to the monkey's head.

DESAISTES ON LAKE MICHIGAN.

Chicago, May 21.—A storm of extraordinary violence prevailed on Lake Michigan last night and a number of sailing vessels wrecked. The two-masted schooner Jenny Lynde, lumber laden from Muskegon, made the harbor south of the city during the night, casting two anchors, but the wind drove her towards the shore, her cable parted and she capsized. The schooner was wrecked, and Mate Sample reached shore; Capt. John Anderson, L. Peterson, A. Helgason and one Christianson, sailors, were drowned. The schooner Mary Ellen Cook, Capt. Williams, was driven on the Government breakwater early this morning and afterwards carried by the waves completely over the breakwater and wrecked, but the crew were saved.
