Church Lads' Brigade.

During the week the "Old Comrades" held their regular meeting, at which good progress has been made, some ten new members joining the roll. A deputation was appointed to wait on the Lt.-Col. Commanding to arrange for the participation in camp of any old comrades who wish to attend for a day or two, and Co.-Sergt. Major Peckham has volunteered to take charge of the canteen at Topsail, selling refreshments and confectionery in aid of the camp expenses. The deputation interviewed the Colonel's representatives last night which will result in a room being set apart entirely for the Old Comrades' use. At their meeting a sum of fifty dollars was voted toward camp expenses of the Brigade. Last night the Lt.-Col., R. F. Goodridge, was unavoidably absent from duty by reason of the Royal Nfd. Regimental ball, but the lads proceeded countrywards under Lieut. A. S. Lewis, with Bursell's bugle band in charge of Lance-Corp. Johnson, acting bugle band-master, and officers Fletcher and Lieut. Miles. The band were busily engaged in the band-room practising. Lieut. Emerson was present, putting in good work with the educational department. Sergt. Dewling, M.M., in the absence of Lieut. Reeves, R.A.C.M., was also "going strong" preparing the Ambulance Division for an exhibition of their work at the coming Shannon Munn Orphanage Garden Party. The Brigade headquarters has had a visit recently from Bandmaster Harold Martin, of Wabana's famous musical artists—the band of J. Co., C.L.B. All ranks were glad to see him as he was an ex-member. We congratulate him on "carrying on" in the Iron Isle, and we note he ordered some twenty new band caps for the band. The Col. Commanding, during the week had an interesting letter from Robinson's, West Coast, applying for permission to organize a C.L.B. Company there with forty recruits, and the matter has his consideration. No doubt other parishes are going to organize also, as it would be a good thing for "young Newfoundland" to have the benefit of the C.L.B. training, as it is so much help to them in various ways. Many of the returned soldiers and sailors are only too glad to lend a hand in the movement, which has proved its merits in the companies at present existing. Last night 63 lads signed their names on the notice board to go to Topsail camp, and all employers are asked to try and arrange so that the lads can spend their vacations in the "Big Camp of 1919"—the Peace Camp at Topsail.—Q.

Wedding Bells.

CHAFFE-ANTLE.

At the Anglican Cathedral, on Tuesday afternoon, a very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. J. Brinton, when he united in matrimony Annie, daughter of Mrs. Mary and the late Mr. Jacob Chaffe, to Mr. Edgar Antle of the Reid Newfoundland Company's office. The bride looked charming in a dress of cream Habutail silk with a white veil, and was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Chaffe who was attired in a dress of Saxe Blue Duquesne satin with hat to match. After the ceremony the young couple motored to Bowring Park where an excellent reception was held which was enjoyed by the immediate relatives and friends of the family. At 10.30 the happy party motored to Topsail where the honeymoon will be spent. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Antle many years of happiness.—Com.

Diamond of Death.

CENTURIES OF TRAGEDY BEHIND ILL-STARRED JEWEL.

Murder, suicide, madness, and other misfortunes have pursued the owners of the famous Hope blue diamond. The evil influence of the diamond (which weighs 44½ carats) is said to date from the time when Europeans stole it from a temple at Burma. Its victims have been many and various, and so evil is its reputation that on the occasion of its last sale but one it sold for only £16,000, or £9,000 less than its accepted value. The great stone, which flashes with the combined beauty of a sapphire and a diamond, was brought from the East in 1688 by Tavernier, the great traveller. He sold it to pay his debts, and, returning to the East, died of fever. Mme. de Montespan dated the decline of her favour in the eyes of Louis the XIV, who bought the stone, from the day when she persuaded Louis to let her wear it. Fouquet, a financier of the time, borrowed the diamond to make himself fine for a great fete. Soon after he lost the royal favour and was imprisoned. No one needs to be told of the misfortunes which befell Marie Antoinette. She selected the Blue Diamond from the Crown jewels for her own wear and died on the guillotine. The Princess de Lamballe also borrowed the jewel. She was done to death by a mob. William Fals, of Amsterdam, who cut it, was ruined, and Francis Beaulieu, who secured the gem in the French Revolution, died of starvation. For many years the jewel disappeared altogether, and then it came into possession of Mr. Thomas Hope, the wealthy banker, whose daughter was the mother of Lord Francis Pelham Clinton Hope. Lord Francis Hope, the next owner, had an unhappy matrimonial adventure, marrying Miss May Yoh, the American actress, and afterwards divorcing her. In 1901 the blue diamond was sold. M. Jacques Colot, who bought it, after selling it to the Prince Kantovski, a Russian, lost his reason, and died by his own hand. It was lent by Prince Kantovski to Lorena Ladue, a beautiful actress at the Folies Bergere, and he shot her from a box the first night she wore it. Two days later the Prince was stabbed. The next owner, a Greek, was thrown over a precipice and killed with his wife and two children. It got to Constantinople, and the favorite of the ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid, Salma Zubayra, was wearing the blue diamond, on her heart when the Young Turks broke into the palace, and she was shot dead by her master. Mr. Habib, the next owner, an Armenian, was drowned at Singapore. The diamond came to the hands of Messrs. Cartier, the New York jewellers, who sold it to Mr. Edward McLean for £235,000. When Mrs. McLean heard of the tragic history of the diamond she persuaded her husband to refuse to complete the bargain. Messrs. Cartier thereupon sued Mr. McLean, and the latter ultimately took delivery of the stone for £236,000, in January, 1912, and presented it to his wife. A few months afterwards Mr. McLean's mother died after an attack of pneumonia, and now his son, the idolized heir to millions, is dead, too.—News of the World.

include in its mercies the ex-Empress and the ex-Crown Prince. The newspapers print this request without comment.

An ingenious Socialist device is now under discussion in the Berlin Town Council. In order to give the poorer classes a chance to buy some of the very high-priced foreign food allowed to enter the Socialists propose a sliding scale of prices in accordance with the purchaser's income tax. People with an income under £150 are to get the goods at two-thirds of the official price, those between £150 and £250 are to pay the official price, those between £250 and £600 an additional fifth, those over £600 pay half as much again.

Sow Fasted Three Months.

That a pig can retain life for three months without nourishment has been demonstrated to Uriah Pendleton of Mulmer. Last December Mr. Pendleton was puzzled over the mysterious disappearance of a sow. He had ceased to think of his loss when a couple of weeks ago the sow reappeared in the backyard. She weighed 450 when she vanished, but came back a skeleton, every bone being discernible. The sow had forced her way into a small passage between the remains of a stack which had been cut down sheer and the new stack built over it, and was unable to get out. There she remained for three months and six days without anything to eat or drink other than what nourishment could be obtained from the straw within reach. The animal is picking up and has already put on considerable flesh.

BILL TO BRING WILLIAM BACK.
(Daily Mail).

By hook or by crook the Pan-German Union is bent on saving what is left of William II. It has addressed to the Conservative and National factions of the National Assembly an urgent prayer that they immediately formulate a Bill that shall make it possible for William Hohenzollern to return to Germany as a private citizen.

"By abdicating he by no means forfeited the rights of German citizenship," they say. "He may therefore claim the protection of the German Government as much as any one of his former subjects." The Pan-Germans also demand that the Bill shall Wonders of Wireless.

The world has now grown so accustomed to the wonders of wireless that it accepts without question, and without surprise, any claims that may be put forward as to its achievements. Stole Thirty Autos in Four months.

London, June 10.—For four months Sidney Merideth, an attractive musician of twenty-two, dressed like a prince and threw money to the wings in fashionable hotels on the $2,000 to $2,500 a week he acquired thru the daring theft of automobiles in London. He finally came to grief however, and has been sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Merideth has a thorough driving knowledge of cars, and this, with his appearance, was his stock-in-trade. He would not attract attention as he climbed into a big car, standing in front of a club or hotel and drove away, and he confined himself largely to this method. He confessed, the police say, to stealing thirty machines in the four months he operated.

Merideth is accredited with saying that he sold each car quickly to a syndicate of wealthy men, whom he believes often made from 400 to 700 per cent. profit after repainting the machines and otherwise changing their appearance. He declined to divulge their identity.
