WAITING!

The day of decision has passed. The 3rd of November, the fateful day of 1919, has gone, but what it has carried with it still remains to be seen. Whether the day is marked by the decision of the people to uphold their independence, or whether the day has decided that the people of Newfoundland are more changeable than intelligent is to be proven by the results not yet made known. It is reckoned that an unprecedented outpour vote was registered in St. John's city. Everybody was alive to the occasion in so far as each had all decided to exercise their franchise and cast their votes for the men of their choice. Everybody appears to be of the opinion that the Cashin Government has won the day. The next few hours will be a time of waiting and a time of eager expectancy, as everybody is more or less interested in the result. Too late now, however, to talk of political expediency and hypocrisy in as far as winning the election is concerned. The actual fighting is now over for the time at least, and the outcome alone remains to be revealed, as soon as the ballots have been counted. It will soon be demonstrated that the 4000 majority boasted of by Coaker has at least been a falsehood and an exaggeration. While this period of waiting is on let us consider for a moment the disastrous things likely to overcome this country if the opposing forces have won the battle at the polls.

We hear it said that W. D. Reid is backing R. A. Squires and Coaker for confederation purposes, and if the latter have won, then we may hear immediately of the putting into practice of plans for the furthering of that purpose. In this connection it is pertinent to ask if Mr. Coaker and his colleagues are subject to recall if they are elected, and do things contrary to the wishes of those whom they design to represent. We have heard lately of the big outcry Squires made against the Reid Nfld. Railway. Watch and see voters, whether Squires will be so hasty in his denunciations if he is elected, or whether he will again take a five thousand dollar tip from Reid and so possibly be won over to the cause of the Reids in general. That same cause, which report says, he is now working for under the dictatorship of W. D. Reid. Will he at once fall in with Coaker's proposal and give fishermen the price of fish requested? But why query further. The Opposition's fate is sealed. The voters are hourly heralding the fact of the success of the Cashin Party, and this is as it should be, for Cashin and party spell success and prosperity to our country, but Squires and Coaker means a regime such as was evidenced at Bonavista lately, when Coakerite rowdism would not allow freedom of speech.

The Count.

The Count! "What is the count?" is the question on everybody's lips to-day, and that is the question that will be troubling us for the next two or three days. The question of the count is a most momentous one, as the answer of that question spells ruin or progress to this country. What will the answer be in this case? Will Squiresism be defeated or not, or will the people place themselves on record as voting for mob rule and Coaker Bolshevism? A few more hours will decide. In the meantime we have no room for despair. The ballots are indeed cast but they are not yet counted, so that the truth is a sealed fact. If the count should by any means result in Squires and Coaker being elected, then indeed we will have another election in the Spring, as it is impossible for Coaker and Squires to pull together. Coaker is very sick at present, and Squires spent a very anxious time last night when he heard that the "David" was drifting on the "rocks." So sleep those whose consciences trouble them. To-day excitement is running high. Bets are being freely taken on the result, and everyone is toned up to the highest tension of feeling. Loud and hot are some of the arguments and controversies, and perhaps never was the feeling higher than it is at present. The count trembles on everybody's lips, and as the results become known, to one side or the other will be despondency and vice versa. What is the count? In patience possess ye your souls, for soon your hopes will be realized by the return of the Cashin party.

First Blood.

Reports of the first count to hand, viz., that of Port de Grave, heralds a victory for the Government. Sir J. C. Crosbie, despite all the sectarianism used, and the presence of R. A. Squires, to boost up "David's" cause, canvassed the district as thoroughly as to have himself elected by the voters of Port de Grave electorate. May not the same be the omen of the Cashin star, which is destined to rise in Newfoundland this month of the year, 1919, and to shine as an augury of our prosperity during the next four years. Congratulations to Sir J. C. Crosbie on his victory. May all others of his party have such good fortune and so ensure a stable government of the people, by the people and for the people.

Note From Mr. Morine.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—The Morning Post statement that in the traces in Water Street yesterday afternoon, in which I was assaulted, I referred to "the bums of Bonavista," is a gross falsehood, fabricated out of whole cloth for the malicious purpose of injuring me in public opinion. I made no remark of any kind about anybody except my insult and chief assailant. There is also in the "Post" a contemptible libel upon my brother in Sydney, C.B. He is a married man, about 42 years old, blind in one eye, and not liable to military service. The reference to him—merely to injure me—as a slacker who was arrested—is the lowest type of journalism.

Yours truly,

ALFRED B. MORINE.

[The Hon. Mr. Morine was insulted and then assaulted on Water Street yesterday afternoon, being held and kicked by one man, struck by others, and threatened by gangsters. In the melee, his cane, which he used in self-defence, was wrested from him by one of the gang. A single courageous bystander offered assistance, and Mr. Morine walked up the beach. The Post, this morning, misrepresents the whole cowardly affair.]

Educational Drive at Gaultois.

The old Schoolroom at Gaultois has served its day and generation, and a move has now been made to obtain funds to erect a new school building. The capitalists of the "drive" were Miss Little Garland and Miss Millie Simms, who showed great ability and worked very hard in bringing each event through so successfully. To the above ladies our best thanks are due and are hereby tendered. The first event was a pork and cabbage supper, with the usual adjuncts, to which all did justice and which netted a neat sum. The next event and one that proved a tremendous success was a concert. The "Captains" of course excelled themselves and Miss Mary Simms performed wonders, and as for Mr. Chesley Willis he proved himself a born actor. All did well. This was followed on another occasion by an auction sale. The genial Mr. Frederick Douglas acted as auctioneer, and we think this appealed to him, being in his line. He had the satisfaction of obtaining $23 a cake! The three events realized a sum of Two hundred dollars. When is understood that the population about 100 it will show that Gaultois awake and earnestly endeavouring to get a new school.—Com.

For an ordinary cough, for a common cold (very common we fear at present), we would suggest the use of Nyal Pinal Expectorant, a remedy which will loosen the mucus, soften the cough, soothe and heal the irritated and inflamed bronchial tubes, and soon cure the cold if it is a recent one. Nyal Pinal Expectorant is pleasant to take and may be given to children as well as to adults without fear of ill consequences. Price, 30c. a bottle.

For warts some people find a "Wart Pencil"—a glass tube containing an acid to burn off the wart—the most effective remedy. For those persons we supply a handy corn pencil at 20c.
