Pioneers of Industry

During the visit of our representative to the North West Coast Mr. Henry, General Oilfields, Ltd., dealt with several questions connected with pioneer mining work in that remote part of the Colony. He said the difficulties and risks even during the summer were greater than the Government and people could be expected to know them to be. That was one reason why those who were working for the industrial development of the coast appreciated the visits paid by Sir Charles Alex Harris, the Hon. John R. Bennett and the representative of the Telegram. Other parts of the Colony were frequently visited by public men, but before last year it had not been the good fortune of the North West Coast to induce men of influence to pay visits of investigation. More ought to come now that new industries were being started. Mr. Henry brought a special case of difficulty to the notice of our representative. When visiting the site of the new well at Parsons' Pond he saw that the heavy foundations of a new derrick had been laid and a large quantity of plant and building materials assembled on the new clearing. Drilling work would have been started more than a month ago if it had not been for the fact that a consignment of new material including derrick nails from Pittsburgh had miscarried and been held up, pending correspondence, at Sydney. It was delays like these that hampered industry and the Government would be doing a good work if it would organise and speed up the transport systems of the Colony. Broached and damaged packages, late delivery and overcarrying were amongst the evils of the present system and he was aware of many cases of merchants and fishermen losing goods and failing in their claims for compensation. "These difficulties notwithstanding," Mr. Henry said, "the future of the North West Coast was never brighter than it is at the present time. In a general way the Government has encouraged and helped the oil industry and I am hopeful that from now on every enterprise started to develop North West Coast trade and industry will receive the unselfish and business-like attention of the departments concerned. Aerial postal facilities will help this coast and the Labrador more than I can say. The coast wants capital, and new industries must take the place of a diminishing fishery, which, judged by the results of the past two years, cannot be relied upon to support the seafaring population of the many settlements between Bonne Bay and Flowers' Cove." Mr. Henry and others mentioned to our representative the great need which exists for a splitting up of the parliamentary division of St. Barbe district, of the business men are keenly interested.

The Dual Drowning.

ENQUIRY IS BEING HELD.

Enquiry at the Department of Justice to-day elicited the fact that a magisterial investigation has been ordered into the death by drowning in Conception Bay of Thomas Anderson and F. Leslie Southgate. This enquiry is the result of a conversation which took place between Mr. J. J. McKay, Director of the Presbyterian College, acting on behalf of the relatives of Mr. Anderson, and Judge Morris of the Central District Court. On the following morning, Judge Morris interviewed the Inspector General of Police who sent police officers to the scene of the accident to make a preliminary investigation into all the circumstances surrounding the accident. As soon as the necessary witnesses have been discovered, the evidence will be taken before the magistrate. The enquiry should begin early next week.

Tennis Tournament.

LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP DECIDED.

The Ladies' Singles Championship at the St. John's Lawn Tennis Club was won yesterday afternoon by Miss Vera Windeler, who defeated last year's champion, Miss Mary Rendell, after a hard fought contest. The first set was won by Miss Windeler, but Miss Rendell had no difficulty in winning the second. For a time, during the third set, both players were fairly equal, and the score in games stood 3-3. Miss Windeler, however, took the remaining games of the set. At St. John's the team will probably go over to Bell Island tomorrow, to play an informal tournament with a team from the tennis club there.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, Aug. 25.
Cutex Cattle Remover is certainly the most reliable, as well as the most popular, of these special cattle removers, and is of great value in manures. To anyone who wants a specially good preparation of the kind, we suggest that she take up the use of Cutex. Results will certainly be satisfactory.

The Prophylactic Tooth Brush is specially adapted to the shape of the mouth, and is quite in the front rank. Price 70c. each (Medium or Hard Bristles).

Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late R. Callahan took place this afternoon, and was largely attended. Adorning the casket were, beside others, two beautiful wreaths sent as a mark of appreciation from the B.L.S. Football team and the Baseball League of both of which the sons of the deceased are members. Prayers for the dead were recited at the R. C. Cathedral, after which interment took place at Bellville.

Our Local Peeps

HIS DIARY.

August 24th.—I have not written in my journal for some days, nor would I do so now, save that I feel how in justice to the memory of my great ancestor, I must keep alive the traditions of the family of Peeps. Indeed, since I am come from my journey, it irks me to have to do aught but sleep, which is a thing I have grown so accustomed to, that I fear me for the work which I must do. Mighty sad news from Ireland of Michael Collins, the Free State leader, being killed by assassins, nor will any man be found to replace him. To wait on Major Cotton and hear news from him of the Raleigh, she being so full of holes that the tides rise and fall in her. Mighty tired all day, but needs must I be out late and so home, and barely able to get me to bed.

Pitiful Case at Lockup.

ESQUIMAUX GIRL WASTED BY VERMIN.

An object of pity, a half breed Esquimaux girl, aged 7 years, supposedly insane, has been held at the police lockup for the past three days pending arrangements to send her to her home at Spotted Island on Labrador. From the police the Telegram learns that the child was sent here by Dr. Grenfell for admission to the Insane Asylum. Arriving three days ago by steamer, she was taken to the institution, but it being found she was not a subject for treatment there, she was not admitted. Subsequently the child was handed over to the care of the police, and has since been at the lockup. Here she was examined by Dr. Grieve, who could not pronounce her insane, but discovered that the child was literally eaten by vermin, and wasting from neglect. This morning a woman had to take the girl to the Morgue and give her a thorough cleansing and an outfit of clothing.

State of War.

FINED FOR ABUSING NEIGHBOR.

"Dirty Jallibird" was one of the complimentary remarks which were used by a resident of Theatre Hill against a female neighbor, and were the cause of him being the defendant in an action for abusive language heard in the Police Court to-day. Counsel on both sides explained that a state of war existed between the accused and his party on one side, and some neighbors on the other. A fine of $5 was inflicted.

Hard Winter Coming.

PEOPLE FEAR DESTITUTION.

According to recent reports from the Labrador, the coming winter is going to be the hardest ever experienced on sections of the coast, and the same applies also to parts of the West Coast. The fishery has been the worst in 25 years, it is stated, and it is very likely that there will be several cases of destitution during the winter, unless efforts are made to have something done for those who are likely to suffer most.

Gets Six Months.

DRUNK ON PROCEEDS OF ROBBERY.

A man arrested by the nightwatch last evening for drunkenness was found later to have been guilty of larceny from a West End shop of the sum of $20. On the proceeds of the robbery he bought sufficient rum to make himself drunk. There was no past record against accused, who was given six months imprisonment with the option of a $100 fine.

Fish Prices.

A number of cartloads of fish from the neighbouring settlements is being brought to the city daily. Six dollars and fifty cents per quintal tal qual, for good dry fish is being paid. No Labrador or Straths fish have been received locally yet, but it is stated that buyers on Labrador are offering from $4.50 to $5 per quintal for early shipments. The general opinion is that the price will not be over four dollars.

Bankruptcy Petition.

BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSON.

In the matter of the petition of Henry M. Stewart of St. John's, praying that Robert Power of Corbin, Burin, fisherman, be declared insolvent. Mr. H. E. Knight for petitioner is heard. It is ordered that Robert Power be declared insolvent, and that William Bartlett of Burin be appointed trustee. Petitioner costs to be paid out of the estate.

PROCEEDING TO ENGLAND.—Mr. T. McGrath, Surveyor of Shipping, received a wireless message yesterday stating that his brother, Sir Patrick McGrath, was passing the Cape on the Aquitania bound from New York to Liverpool. It is understood that Lord Morris is proceeding to England by the same ship.

Graham of the Scotch Church.

AN APPRECIATION.

"So Graham has gone." No more will the well known figure pass along the streets of Kingston; no more will the well known voice be heard in the Big Kirk; no more will the well known trenchant letters appear in the Press over the signature "W. Graham". For twenty-six years was he a part of Kingston. He was hard to beat as a preacher; crowds used to gather in the old Colonial Scotch Church to listen to him. He was a lover of music and greatly beloved in the part that Praise should have in the worship of the Sanctuary. He never let the Metrical version of the Psalms of David disappear from his service.

His Monthly Musical Sunday evening was a feature among the churches in Kingston, and attracted lovers of music belonging to all denominations or none.

He believed in Education. It was ingrained. He had drunk it with his mother's milk. He was Vice-Chairman and then Chairman of the Shortwood College for the training of women teachers. He did not always get others on Committees and Boards to see eye to eye with him on Educational and other matters. Perhaps that was because he was the thorough Scot and had the "gaid conceit o' himsel", and his opinions that is attributed to Scots generally, but more especially to those living in the Colonies.

He was tenacious. When he got what he considered the right thing, he hung on to it with all his might, and would retire with it rather than give it up. Hence his withdrawal from some Committees. This sometimes caused him to be misunderstood. But from his point of view it was always the other man who was dull. One can recall his, "Well, I can't understand how any person can hold such a view." To Graham the thing was as clear as day even though those who differed from him were greatly in the majority and gave endless reasons for their position. He did not see it. But he bore no malice.

He was Scot to the backbone. At our Synod in March, after he had aired his views on Church Union, one remarked that "he brought the smell of the heather with him." That he did, for he never lost the Dumfriesshire accent. He could easily lapse into the Doric when he foregathered with his brother Scots. But was he the one, no matter who, that thought he could take liberties with the sacred things of the nation that has for its emblem the Thistle. Then the points bristled and it was not always the "thistle down" that flew about as he staunchly defended these things of State and Church that were a part of his makeup. "Nemo me impune lacessit," which may be freely translated for the benefit of the unlearned, "Who dares meddle with me."

To see one of his good sides was to meet him in his own home or in the home of a brother minister, say, when the Fraternity meets socially. He dearly loved a story, and a better if it was against some real or supposed character of the Scot. Take this for example:

A funeral party, after the service in the shelling, carried the coffin over the hills to the graveyard. They laid the coffin down on the snow to rest themselves. Meanwhile a heated controversy arose about Free-will and Predestination. Resuming their journey and their debate they arrived at the burial ground. There they gazed at one another in amazement, and said, "Dod, but we have forgotten the corpse."

Or see him at one of these gatherings to welcome a new minister to the city where there are close on a dozen speakers. After a few words to the audience on the gratification he felt at being present, Graham, turning to the perspiring and somewhat bewildered newcomer, would say, "And now it affords me much pleasure to extend to you, in the form of the Presbyterian Church, the right hand of fellowship." Here followed a grip of the hand that reminded the latest arrival of the Village Blacksmith. "Graham will be missed." Aye that will he. The poor of Kingston know that. He was the succor of many during years gone by. "Graham's Christmas Dinner" was as sure as Christmas itself. His appeal was a hardy annual. He succeeded. He was bound to succeed; his dinner was so catholic. With a generous hand he dealt tickets all around. He and his Kirk, with Mrs. Graham at the head of the work party, strewed garments in the way, to the comfort of many, and to the joy of the Master, who, while on earth, used the word "nas-much" so effectively about similar work. Truly his work will follow him.

His later years marked a change that brought apprehension to his friends. When he went away most expected to see him back; but he crossed the ocean for the last time. It was in Edinburgh on the first of July that he met his Pilot face to face.

No one could have wished for a better tribute than the crowded out church on Sunday, 9th July, when a Memorial Service was held. High and low, from the Governor to the ragged child, members of the Legislative Council, the Mayor and Council, the Army, the Medical Profession, Ministers of most denominations, including the Jewish, sat or stood while the last tribute was paid to Graham of the Scotch Church.

Rev. J. F. GARTHSHORE
In the "Presbyterian", Jamaica.
REV. W. GRAHAM OF THE SCOTCH KIRK.

The passing of Mr. Graham creates a big blank in Kingston. The news came with the suddenness of a thunderbolt and the hearts of his people are sore troubled. Mr. Graham has been an outstanding personality in Jamaica for over a quarter of a century. Even those who could not agree with him admired his independence of judgement, his fearlessness and his chivalry. The appreciation of Mr. Garthshore on our first page gives us a good picture of the type of man he was. We would tender our sincere sympathies to his bereaved widow and children, to the congregation of the Scotch Kirk, and to all the congregations of the Church of Scotland in Jamaica.

More Road Work.

MONEY BEING SPENT LIKE WATER.

A number of men are now engaged finishing up sections of the Black-march Road preparatory to putting some alterations and improvements out to tender. During the early part of the year an extensive piece of this road was repaired and it is now proposed to make repairs and improvements to another stretch of about two miles long. So far about ten thousand dollars have been expended and it is estimated that further improvements will cost an additional $20,000. The road will be a view to relieving the motor traffic on the Topsail Road.

Typhoid Fever.

OUTBREAK AT BONAVISTA.

By letters received from Bonavista a serious outbreak of typhoid fever is reported as prevailing both in the town and at Canaille. The resident doctor is taking the necessary precautions to prevent the further spread of the fever. Proper sanitation is necessary to the prevention of this disease, which in some of the outposts is all too prevalent. Last year the health department was successful in banishing the fever from the Wadhams Islands, Musgrave and the surrounding settlements by enforcing proper regulations. For some time past the fishermen and their families at the Wadhams have been subject to annual attacks, and at last determined to give up the fishing centre altogether. Since the health authorities took the matter up, incultured the residents and enforced the usual regulations, not a case of the disease has been reported.

Drowned Last Summer.

BODY RECOVERED AT INDIAN HARBOR.

The Marine and Fisheries Department is in receipt of a letter from Dr. Henry L. Paddon, J.P., in which he reports the picking up of a body supposed to be that of a man named Hogan, who was lost overboard from a schooner at Indian Harbor during the summer of 1921. The body was badly decomposed and was buried immediately.

Explains Source of Eskimos Vigor.

The Rev. John Marquis, explorer and missionary among the Eskimos, attributes their hardihood, vigor and great endurance to the fact that they get sufficient vitamins through eat kill, including brain, nerve and glandular organs. Otherwise it is hard to conceive, he says, according to the New York Times, of their being able to make such good use of an almost purely meat diet, and one so freighted with fat. Dr. Marquis says that, as the white man's bread, refined sugar and canned goods gradually penetrate into the far North the white man's diseases are likely to accompany them.

Not very much is known about the origin of the 50,000 or more Eskimos who live in a region where the temperature reaches and remains for long periods at from 40 to 70 degrees below zero.

Almost the only edible plant growth in this frozen land is the reindeer moss, the food of the great herds of reindeer that inhabit northern Siberia. This moss, and occasional patches of coarse, wild grass, are not considered palatable and are seldom eaten by man.
