Old Hay Brought $11.25 to $12-New Hay at $9-Other Quotations

on Local Square.

There was a very small market this There were only three loads of hay offered for sale, one of these was of new hay and brought $9. Two loads of old hay brought respectively $11.25 and $12. There will, it is expected, be a very strong demand for hay tomorrow, as the supply for the past few days has been very light. And the price is likely to be strong. There were no oats offered, and for these, too, there will be a good market at a strong price tomorrow. Live hogs were offered in fair quantity, but despite their high price even these were not as plentiful as they have been in the past, or as the demand would warrant. They went today at $7.75, and are no likely to drop much on that price in the immediate present. There were no berries of any description offered today, and it seems that the crop in this vicinity is about Other prices remain as follows:

COFFEE.

NEW YORK. New York, July 16.—Coffee—Futures opened steady at unchanged prices, which was rather better than due on the decline of one-quarter franc at Havre. A clearance of 8,500 bags was reported from Havre to New York, presumably for delivery on July contracts here, and near month shorts were less urgent buyers. These positions were well sustained, however, while late months seemed a shade easier in the late trading, the close being steady, net unchanged to 5 points lower, with June showing a loss.

Sales were reported of 8,250 bags, including July, $7.05; August, $6.15; December, $5.59; March, $5.55; May, $5.60.

The ratepayers certainly will cash in for it, but that gentleman believes that it is not right to charge people for the machine while it is doing the work as at present.

It is evidently not the fault of the flusher, however, that Mr. Wakeling has a grievance. On the other hand, fault, catching three of four inches of ers neigh, will be established outside mud as the rubber flusher passes over.
