IS YOUR health of any value to you? Have you ever stopped to consider that you have a right to good health, that your friends, men, women and children, have a similar right and that good health is not a lesser right but is your sovereign right? Do you suppose such people as Henry Ford, Warren G. Harding, Chas. Schwab or John D. Rockefeller would accept chiropractic if it was not the one sane, reasonable and natural way of realizing this sovereign right of good health? Chiropractic is so natural, so reasonable, so in accordance with the divine plans that no thinking man or woman would reject it when he or she has considered the complete fact. Some people might say chiropractic is no good for an organic disease; that is not the truth. There is no healing art, science or profession in the world today that gets the patients well as chiropractic does, and the reason is very simple. We remove the cause. If your health is of any value to you, consult a chiropractic. Get well the natural way. Dr. R. R. Fonger, D.C., Ph.C., Chiropractic Physician, 105 King St., cor. Taibot. Phone 7186J. So Readers Will Appreciate Your Bargains

A Want advertiser was showing an inquirer a steam, electric vulcanizing outfit. He had told his price-$200 cashand explained good features of the outfit, including the little wear it had received. The visitor was unenthusiastic. In fact. the owner inwardly had concluded he wasn't going to make a sale. Then he chanced to remark: "This outfit cost new $650. You see what a real bargain it is at the price."

"What!" exclaimed the caller, "Suddenly, the inquirer had new interest in the vulcantzing outfit. He pressed for more information concerning first cost—and received it. The advertiser added: "It really is a very low price. Last week I asked $250."

The sale was made shortly-all because the advertiser had happened to use two bargain arguments which always appeal. It is not always enough to offer a real bargain. What's needed, too, is to make readers of your Want Ad, and inquirers, appreciate the bargain. The Want Ad which convinces readers a genuine bargain is offered always gets quick results, because the world is full of people looking for bargains. Everyone, in fact, is susceptible to the bargain appeal-old or young, rich or poor, businessman or mechanic. There are several very effective ways of indicating your bargain.

One is to state, as the vulcanizer advertiser did, what the article cost new. Applying the same principle, an advertiser tells what a house cost to build, or what he paid for a farm, if less than he asks.

Another tack, when the price has been recently reduced, is to state the fact, adding the price formerly held for.

Still another method is to describe the price as, "Cheap," "Very reasonable," "Low." (All Rights Reserved.)
