The Use of Mistassini.

The World's account of Lake Mistassini is exciting widespread interest. The New York Herald published the map and report in full and its leading article yesterday is devoted to the subject. It gives Messrs. Loudon and Macdonald high credit for the energy they displayed in the exploration of this bleak and inaccessible country. The Herald is noted for its meteorological news and inductions and in this respect it says that the practical suggestion that arises from the explorations of these gentlemen is the establishment of a telegraph line to and around Hudson Bay for the especial purpose of giving Canada and the United States timely warnings of the great cold waves and other meteorological changes transmitted to us from that frigid region.

The University Metaphysical Chair.

It is safe to assert that the impending appointment of a successor to the late Dr. Young is one of the most important which the government has been called upon to make in the Provincial University. The subject of metaphysics is in itself far-reaching in its effects upon the mind of the individual student and upon the thought of numbers of those who are themselves to be the leaders of thought and the moulders of opinion in the land. The difficulty of making a suitable selection to the present vacancy is increased by the fact that the position was long held by so distinguished a philosopher as its late incumbent. We are disposed to believe that the government have a fitting sense of the responsibility resting upon them, that the appointment will be made upon the merits of the candidates.

It is unnecessary to say that our intention in referring to the appointment is not to prejudice the case. Of candidates we know nothing, nor would we in any case consider it to be within our province to express an opinion as to the merits of individuals. Nevertheless there are certain broad general principles which should not be lost sight of by the Government in making a choice, and to these principles we think it not only our right but our duty to refer.

A successor to Dr. Young should, we think, other things being equal, be selected from among the disciples of that distinguished man. Dr. Young was undoubtedly a very great metaphysician. Under his charge the work done in that department in University College gained a reputation almost world-wide. He had besides the rare faculty of inspiring his students. A professor selected from among his former students would serve as an exponent of a system of philosophy widely recognized as among the most valuable of those now in existence. A disciple of Dr. Young might also be reasonably expected to have caught much of the enthusiasm for metaphysical science characteristic of his master in philosophy and to be able to communicate the inspiration derived from one who was good as he was great. It is well known that Dr. Young, although so able in his own department, refrained through modesty from publishing any of his philosophical researches. His system thus exists mainly in the minds of the generation of students who sat under his teaching. It would be possible in selecting one of his own students to succeed him in a measure to continue and perhaps to extend the researches of a great man who found a long lifetime only too short to elaborate and inculcate the principles of his own philosophy. Although Dr. Young can perhaps never be replaced, yet his work and his influence can be continued.

We must not be understood as implying that Prof. Young's philosophy is the only philosophy, or that he himself was the only philosopher. What we do assert is that his system was so important as to deserve continuation and not only so but that it affords a sound basis from which to begin the consideration and discussion of other systems and other tenets.

Other things being equal, a Canadian should be appointed to this as to other positions in the Provincial University. This assertion seems a truism, and yet we doubt whether it finds unquestioned acceptance among our university authorities. In fact, the policy of appointing scholars of foreign birth and education has, under such circumstances, more than once prevailed. We do not mean, of course, that the interests of higher education are to be sacrificed to unreasonable prejudices in favor of our own scholars or against the foreigners. Circumstances sometimes render it necessary to look abroad. In the early days of education in this country it was undoubtedly necessary to bring educational professors from other lands, but education in Ontario has outgrown that necessity and is is not fair to construe, as is often done, what was then accidental into an argument against home talent. Besides we lay down the principle emphatically that the scholars the world over who have most advanced the cause of learning have not been the strangers and sojourners on foreign soil. Such exceptions as Max Muller and Aggasiz, brilliant as they are, but serve to prove the assertion. Let our native scholars go abroad and bring home what is best in the science or culture of the world. Such scholars know us and our wants. What is perhaps better still, we know them and the university should not be exposed to the consequences of an experiment in which the risks are out of all proportion to the possible advantages.

Within the limits which the above principles embrace there still may be room for the exercise of much discrimination on the part of the authorities. It is rumored that there are a large number of candidates in the field but with that we wish to have nothing to do. But we would strongly insist that with due regard to the teaching capacity of the candidate and with assurance of his physical strength and vigor (factors too frequently left out of the calculation) the Government will on these lines be most likely to make an appointment at the same time satisfactory to the country and in the best interests of higher education.

THE ALLIANCE COUNCIL ADJOURNS.

Senator Vidal Re-elected President — The Next Meeting at Montreal.

The Council of the Dominion Alliance concluded its business yesterday morning in Richmond Hall. Senator Vidal was in the chair. On recommendation of the nominations' committee these officers and committees were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Senator Vidal, Sarnia.
Corresponding Secretary—F S Spence, Toronto.
Recording Secretary—J H Carson, Montreal.
Treasurer—W H Orr, Toronto.
Vice-Presidents—
For Ontario—Hon F D Aikins, W H Howland.
For Quebec—J R Dougall, S A Fisher, M P.
For the other Provincial Alliances the President and Secretary in each case.
Executive Committee—Dr J J Maclaren, Q.C., Rev Dr Potts, Jacob Spence, A M Featherstone, J W Flanning, Rev J A Newnham, George D Parker, Rev Dr A Sutherland, Thomas Webster, J H MacMullen, W W Buchanan, R J Fleming, William Lees, J M M Duff, J S Robertson, Dr C V Emory, Rev T G Williams, James Doyle, Rev A M Phillips, D D, Rev Dr Stone, Rev W A Hunter.
Permanent Committee on Legislation—Hon J C Aikins, J J Maclaren, J R Dougall, R C Smith, B C L, W H Howland, A M Featherstone, Rev A P McDiarmid, Rev John Wood, Rev W Scott, F S Spence, J H Carson and members of both Houses of Parliament favorable to Prohibition.

The arranging for the next place of meeting was left in the hands of the Executive Committee with a recommendation that Montreal be selected.

A discussion arose over a notice of motion given by Rev. Dr. Basker to the effect that the Legislature and other representative bodies be asked to petition the House of Commons for prohibition. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Political Action.

The report of the Law Enforcement Committee, recommending that all temperance organizations should see that the license laws are rigidly enforced, was adopted.

The Finance Committee's report showed a satisfactory balance on hand of $47. It was suggested that the various temperance bodies in the Dominion be asked to share between them the expenses of the alliance and Dr. Emory, on behalf of the Royal Templars, and Mr. G. M. Rose, for the Sons of Temperance, guaranteed that these bodies would bear a reasonable share of the expenses. After some discussion this method was decided upon.

The report of the Committee on the Constitution of the Council recommended that country alliances be formed on the basis of the council and that the executive be instructed to draw up constitutions for such organizations. The report was adopted.

The Committee on Political Action then reported on Dr. Parker's motion recommending that such petitions from the representative organizations of the Dominion be sent into the House of Commons in 1891.

The council meets again in September, 1890.

AN UNMITIGATED LIE.

There Was No Discourtesy to Honest John by his Colleagues.

"You can say," remarked Ald. Dodds to The World yesterday, "that the story by a Reformer you published this morning is an unmitigated lie. In the first place Ald. McMillan was not present when the aldermen drove away from the hall to meet Sir John and take him to the Exhibition Park. In the second place it was by his own special request that Secretary Sanderson sent a carriage down to the Yonge-street wharf to pick him up, and in the third place I would like to know who had the better right to be in the same carriage with the Premier, Ald. McMillan, chairman of the Executive, or myself, as chairman of the Reception Committee? As to uncourteous treatment at the lunch, do you not think it would be stretching our prerogatives as aldermen rather far to assign places for guests, when we were but guests ourselves? You may just say that, far from any disrespect being shown the member from St. James' Ward, every courtesy was extended to him by his brother members of the council, any anything which may have transpired in Exhibition Park cannot be due to the Mayor or any member of the council, but to the poor arrangements of the Exhibition Association."

The World has learned that the story of discourtesy to Ald. McMillan is a ferment of the imagination of some over-zealous friend and has no foundation in fact.

THE SEWAGE PROBLEM.

The Mayne System to be Tested at a Cost of $1000.

There was a "special" meeting of the Board of Works yesterday to discuss the Mayne and Smith rival systems of sewage. There were present Chairman Carlyle, Ald. Bell, Lennox, George Verral, Tait, Fleming, Carlyle (St. And.), McDonald, Small, City Engineer Sproat, Prof. Galbraith, Captain Greville Harston, representing the Mayne system, and W. J. Smith the one of his own invention.

Captain Harston was the first to take the floor. He detailed the system known in England as the "Conder" as follows:

The sewage is not merely deposited in another place to be a nuisance there, nor merely clarified, leaving behind an enormous quantity of sludge, which is as dangerous as the sewage itself and which has still to be disposed of, but, by Mr. Conder's treatment, the sewage is actually purified—the effluent being good portable water with a light, harmless precipitate in it, which, if collected, forms a fine deposit, chiefly consisting of mineral matter, which has no tendency to associate with water, or to form a semi-fluid or sludge. The deposit thus produced is inoffensive, perfectly manageable, and of appreciable value as a mineral manure.

There is no smell whatever below the point at which the system is applied.

The sewage is acted on immediately it reaches the sewers and in the sewers themselves. The result is that the decomposition of the sewage is prevented, the evolution of sewer gases arrested, and all bacterial life and disease germs destroyed in a very few minutes. In all other systems of treating sewage these evils exist until the foul matter reaches the special works erected for the purpose of clarifying only the sewage.

The effluent, being good water and the precipitate in it being harmless in character, it can be permitted to run into any existing lakes, streams or watercourses without the slightest danger of contaminating these water supplies, or of rendering them dangerous for household use, or of destroying the fish that may abound in them.

The system consists of applying a compound solution (consisting chiefly of water and iron salts) to the sewage in its passage through the sewers; no special works are required for purifying the sewage as are required by all other methods. There is no putrescible and bulky sludge to be disposed of. The precipitate is not sludge, it cannot decompose and smell, and when desired it can be dried in the air, without expense or nuisance, to a fine dark powder.

It was stated that the cost of a test would be $1000, and Ald. Carlyle strongly opposed the spending any money on it. He favored a trunk sewer.

Mr. W. J. Smith now took his innings, consuming half-an-hour in evolving it. Substantially it is based on scientific principles, and the explanation was to a great extent technical.

Mr. Levi J. Clarke was the third gentleman to present a sewage scheme. It comprised a trunk sewer from the east to the west with two receiving tanks.

It was decided to expend $1000 on the Mayne scheme and the other two were referred to the City Engineer to report upon.

The chairman requested the City Engineer to report why the pavement on north side of King along the St. James Cathedral frontage had been given without tenders being called for.

Ald. Fleming got a motion through referring the Dundas-street bridge back for further consideration, much to Ald. Bell's disgust, who charged that the mover's sole intention was to burk the scheme.

LAW LECTURERS AND EXAMINERS.

E. D. Armour and A. H. Marsh—R. E. Kingsford and P. H. Drayton.

The benchers of the Law Society yesterday appointed E. D. Armour and A. H. Marsh lecturers and R. E. Kingsford and P. H. Drayton examiners of the Law School. There were about fifteen applications, some of which were from prominent practitioners in different parts of the province as well as Toronto. The salary of the lecturers will be $1500 per year each and that of the examiners $700 each.

Mr. Colin Macdougall, Q.C., of St. Thomas was elected a bencher in place of the late Hon. T. B. Pardee, Q.C.

The benchers yesterday entertained Prof. Astley, the new law lecturer of University College, at luncheon.

The latter claimed that he took a horse on approbation from Grand & Co. last March. Grand & Co. said that they sold the horse to the defendant. The animal died and Thompson refused to pay for it. The jury brought in a verdict of $150 for the plaintiff.

We brought a bottle with us from Quebec but it is nearly gone and we do not want to be without it, as my wife is troubled with a pain in the shoulder and nothing else gives relief. Can you send us some?"

Allan, the alleged embezzler of $1000 from Messrs. H. E. Hamilton & Co., had his case enlarged to Monday. Ellen Rhes, for theft of a coat, was sent to the Mercer for nine months.

No Use for Brown-Sequard's Elixir of Life.

Mr. James Thomson of Logan-avenue, who was afflicted with Dyspepsia and Nervous Debility and whose condition had become so bad, after having been treated for a long time by the best physicians of Glasgow, Scotland, who told him he could not be cured, came to Canada, hoping that a change of climate might, if it did not effect a cure, at least lessen his suffering, but this hope was not realized, and he was advised to try the physicians at 198 King-street west; he took the advice and on Jan. 30, 1888, consulted us. His condition as this time was really deplorable, he was a man without hope, he had tried everything recommended by his acquaintances without receiving any benefit, and had lost confidence in everything and everybody and told the physicians whom he called on here that it was his last experiment and if it failed he would not take any more medicine but would endure his suffering until death relieved him. He was unable to work, the least exertion tiring him completely; his pulse was 110, had no appetite, the thought of food producing nausea and sometimes vomiting; had a nasty hacking cough with a choking sensation in the morning. He had all the symptoms of Advanced Catarrh and Chronic Dyspepsia, with all the distressing and alarming symptoms of Nervous Debility added; and anyone who has ever been affected with any symptoms of the latter, even in a mild form, will have an idea of the terrible condition and suffering of one who is a victim of this awful disease in its worst form.

Mr. Thomon is perfectly well now, says he has no use for Brown-Sequard's Elixir of Life and will be pleased to talk to anyone who may wish to satisfy themselves as to the particulars of this case. He lives in the first house on the west side of Logan-avenue, north of Queen.
