SPIRITUAL DEJECTION.

A SERMON

BY REV. W. T. D. MOSS, B.A. MARSHFIELD, PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

"Why art thou cast down, O my Soul? And why art thou disquieted within me? Hope thou in God, for I shall yet praise Him who is the health of my countenance, and my God." PSALM 42:11.

THIS Psalm presents us with two peculiarities—a striking exhibition of moral weakness and a frank acknowledgment of the same. We find a striking exhibition of moral weakness. A man of strong faith and buoyant spirits falls to the opposite extreme of spiritual dejection. This but serves, however, to enforce the principle that men are liable to fail in those very features of character in which they excel. The same freedom that exalts us to the spiritual has power to degrade us to
