not forgetting the great public from whom both the companies and agents derive their business.

"These days of reconstruction are difficult days it is true, but they are full of great possibilities. I need not dwell on the great natural resources of our Province and the strategic position of its commercial capital in which our lives are cast.

"The era of development is upon us. Let us see to it that in our activities as fire insurance agents we play our part like men—true to ourselves, our comrades and the community in which we live.

"Before sitting down I should like to pay my tribute to the careful and painstaking work of our secretary. It is largely through his efforts that the eligible agents in the city, with the exception of one, are members of our Association. Let us all 'play the game' and strive to make our Association so useful to its members that no one eligible for admission will think of trying to plough his lonely furrow in the future."

The following officers were elected for the year: Mr. George L. Schetky, president; Mr. H. B. Leuty, vice-president, and Mr. A. E. Goodman, secretary-treasurer. The executive committee, making a total of nine, including the above, were Messrs. H. B. Holland, A. MacC. Creery, D. W. Reeve, C. A. Macmoran, J. P. Dougherty, and T. Paradis. Mr. R. Bruce Abel was elected auditor for the ensuing year.
