

March
Thirtieth
1920.

Mrs. Hannah LeRoy,
St. Andrews, Que.

Dear Mrs. LeRoy:-

I received some days ago your letter under date of March 15th, enclosing a clipping from one of the Vancouver papers containing the very welcome announcement that Capt. LeRoy's friends in that City are preparing to establish a Scholarship in his memory in the University of British Columbia.

I should have answered your communication sooner, had it not been that we had here already just inaugurated a movement for the establishment of a similar Scholarship in memory of your son at McGill University. I thought you would be interested to know how we are succeeding in this, so that I postponed answering your letter until to-day. You will be pleased to know that we have already collected $3,400. toward this Scholarship, and that we have not as yet received answers from a very large number of persons with whom we have communicated. We shall, without doubt, bring this collection up to $5,000, and we hope to a sum of near $10,000, by the time that our collection is completed.

It is Dr. J. Austen Bancroft, the Dawson Professor of Geology at McGill University, who is actually collecting the money, but he has, of course, the warmest good wishes and support of every one in the University who knew your son and the splendid work which he has done, in the University, in the Geological Survey, and finally at the Front.