

to be trifled with, and I intend, if there is any doubt of a change in the management, to move to wind it up, rather than trust so large a sum to the feeble hands who now rule the Company.

I remain, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

A. M. CLARK.