THE TIMES-STAR SPORT REVIEW

Newsy Briefs on Current Pastimes of Interest to Fans.

Local boxing fans will be interested to read the following article, which appeared in the Boston Post under Doc Almy's boxing gossip:

"Mooney" in reply to your query about Johnny McIntyre vs. Neider Healey, as neither boy weighed in it was not a championship contest quite irrespective of what the promoter may have advertised it. While the winner is open to make any claim that he cares to do, his claims are not valid and amount to nothing as regards winning the title. The chap having the championship prior to the contest still holds the honor."

It will be recalled that this was the contention of Roy Chalmers, Healey's manager. However, the question the fans will naturally ask is, did Healey and McIntyre have an understanding before they went into the ring? A promoter may arrange for a championship bout and during the excitement of handling the crowd, watching that everything is in order and making other necessary arrangements the fact that the men should weigh in might never enter his mind. McIntyre has had enough ring experience to realize that both he and his opponent should have weighed in. Why did he or his manager not insist on this? According to all boxing rules Doc Almy's decision is the only one that can be given under the circumstances and McIntyre is not the legitimate champion. In the States the Boxing Commissioners see to it that the men weigh in and the promoter has nothing to do with it.

Antics of Yale supporters following their victory over Harvard last Saturday will recall to mind the pranks played in Wolfville by some of the U. N. B. boys when they clinched the championship of the western section of the Intercollegiate League. The U. N. B. boys had some "would be" artists in their midst and as a result their lankiest endeavours appeared on the side of one of the Acadia buildings. The Yale supporters conceived a different idea, which is described in part as follows by Franklin Collier in the Boston Post:—"Yale started this renaissance in sport directly after the game, when hundreds of students stormed around the Harvard goal-posts which have seen Harvard make history for the past fifteen years, and just naturally toppled them over and lodged them away."

"Hereafter the winning team has been allowed the possession of the bell at a trophy, but it is getting so that a football is not enough to show for an athletic victory. The winning team must have a trophy, and the trophy must be a football."

"If Yale was the next time the football team comes to Cambridge the followers of the blue will probably plan to disassemble the locker building and tote that back to New Haven with them just as a slight memento to show that they were masters of the situation. If they win again two years hence Harvard may find it necessary to play future games in neutral territory."

"Yale is one college that doesn't need an endowment. Her followers can easily go out and bring home practically anything a college needs, with the possible exception of professors, and if Harvard doesn't watch out Yale is apt to grab some of hers next time there is an athletic contest."

"The only way we can see for Harvard to get back to its old glory is by swimming team up her to compete and then swipe their medals."

WANT CANADIAN STAR IN MONCTON

Hope to Induce Louis Berlinguette to Manage Team.

Moncton, Nov. 28.—The local hockey enthusiasts are in communication with Louis Berlinguette, the Canadian star. It is hoped that the busy Frenchman may be induced to lead the Moncton professional team as playing manager during the coming season.

Berlinguette is well known in Maritime hockey circles owing to his connection with the old Moncton Victorias. He played right wing with that aggregation when it copied the Maritime title in 1912 and since then has been almost continuously with the Montreals. That he has lost little of his original speed is shown by the fact that when the Canadians wanted score they put Newey Lalonde and Berlinguette on to turn the trick. Until the former left the Canadian metropolis.

It is the same Newey Lalonde that makes Berlinguette's return to the East doubtful. The famous speedster is managing the Saskatoon team at the present time and rumor has it that he is after his old team-mate for the western puck-chasing aggregation.

McINTYRE TO PORTLAND.

"Johnnie" McIntyre, welterweight champion of the Maritime Provinces, left Monday evening for Portland where he will meet Sully Green of Montreal in the headline attraction of a boxing card there Thursday night of this week.

During the last two years the Florida fishing industry has yielded a revenue of $28,000,000.

MANY HORSES OFF TO TIJUANA

Rich Stakes Listed for Winter Racing Attract Eastern Stables.

New York, Nov. 28.—Eastern owners will be liberally represented at the winter meeting of the Tijuana Jockey Club, which will open on Thanksgiving Day, to continue for at least 180 racing days. While there will be racing at New Orleans and Havana from Thanksgiving on, it has not prevented the assembling at Tijuana of more horses than can be found for. And after the fall of the New Orleans campaign there will be another rush of horses and horsemen to the Pacific Coast. Blanc Seing was laid up after his long rest. He is a natural distance runner.

Extremist, distance running champion of American racing through six seasons, is at Tijuana for the Champagne Handicap and the Tijuana Cup, which together will pay some $65,000. Extremist won the three-year-old and upward, with $25,000 in added money.

Extremist is going after the records of Zev and Isinglass, the English money winner. If he gets through the winter safely he will go back to England for next spring's running of the Dixie, a handicap at a mile and three-sixteenths for three-year-olds and upward, with $25,000 in added money.

Horse racing at Tijuana during the winter generally goes to Maryland in fine condition and do not require time for reconditioning. Willie Sharp Kilmer, Extremist's owner, is still hoping that "Old Bones" may stand up long enough to pass the money-winning records of the American champion of this year and of England and set a mark that will endure for many years.

Little Chief, winner this season of revivals of the Brooklyn, Manhattan and Edgemoor Handicaps, is to beat the odds at Tijuana of 15 to 1. Humphries, a sportsman of Denver. Knobble will race at New Orleans through December and January for J. A. Coburn. He will go out for the Cofroth and the

McGraw IS A GOOD PICKER

Beats Pari-Mutuel Machines Five Times Out of Six in Paris.

Paris, Nov. 28.—(Associated Press.)—John J. McGraw, manager and part owner of the New York National League Baseball Club, put somewhat of a crimp in the Pari-Mutuel machines at the Auteuil race track recently. McGraw "beat" the first five races on the program but failed in his sixth attempt to win.

Although his pockets were filled with bills, he did not make what is known in sporting parlance as a "killing" for the winners he picked were short odds and the francs when translated into dollars did not represent any great amount.

"There are too many coppers to these bills," said McGraw. "I always feel as if I were better off by means."

Congratulations to Mr. McGraw were also expressed by Judge Armstrong, Judge Barry, Captain Armstrong, Commissioners Wigmore, Frink and Thornton and W. H. Turner. Mr. McGraw voted his thanks for the kind wishes expressed and for the cup.

ICE RACING SEASON COMING

Reports From New England and Maine Indicate Many Meets.

Boston, Nov. 28.—A busy season looms for the trotters and pacers over the ice this winter. The carnival vogue, popularized by Lake Placid in New York and by several up-country resorts, each vying with the other to become the St. Moritz of New England, has caught on up and down the Penobscot and the Kennebec in Maine, while here in Massachusetts the Merrimack race towns as well as every inland community which boasts an ice-dammed lake, is busy itself for a big two or three-day affair either in January or February, and a winter carnival in New England refuses to carnivalize without its series of harness races over the ice or on well-beaten snowpaths.

Lawrence, Mass., on the Merrimack, is the first of the big Massachusetts mill-towns to announce plans for a big two or three-day affair either in January or February, and a winter carnival in New England refuses to carnivalize without its series of harness races over the ice or on well-beaten snowpaths.

Lowell and Haverhill are also arranging programs for winter frays between the racing cracks, while up in Maine and on the Kennebec another $10,000 event, raced successfully the past two seasons at Gardiner, again will be renewed on Washington's birthday.

Professional racing over the ice starts the middle of December at Deseronto Park, Montreal, after which the clans will move on to Dufferin Park at Toronto for racing during Christmas and New Year weeks, and after the session at Toronto they will leave the province for two weeks at Mt. Clemens in Michigan.

Many a good performer is developed at the Canadian ice meetings, later to star in grand circuit racing. Jimmy McKeen, 201½, and The Ed, 202½, are the best-known graduates.

After the meeting at Mt. Clemens, the majority of the ice candidates will take in the carnival weeks at Lake Placid and Saranac Lake in New York, while Malone, Plattsburgh, Saratoga and other upstate New York tracks later will be flooded for midwinter race programs.
